NEWS OF STEELTON

FIVE-YEAR-OLD GIRL HAD A VERY NARROW ESCAPE

Fay Longanecker Missed Death on Front Street by a Few Inches Last Evening While Crossing That Thoroughfare to Join Sister

A crowd of people gathered in front of the Palace theatre last evening witnessed a very narrow escape of a child from being run down by an automobile. Fay Longanecker, aged about 9 years, and her small sister, Thelma, aged about 5 years, were among the crowd. An older member of the family directed the elder sister to cross the street to make a slight purchase at a novelty store.

Fay started on her errand and when about halfway across the thoroughfare little Thelma trotted after her, unnoticed by her older sister. Coming up the street was an automobile, which the child did not notice. The driver of the machine, however, pressed on the emergency brakes and soon had the car stopped. The little girl was just missed, her clothes being soiled where the right front tire brushed them.

Pauline Ney, aged about 9 years, had a similar escape Tuesday evening when she was returning from the Steelton school building. As she was in the act of crossing Second street at the intersection of Walnut street she collided with a passing auto, but escaped serious injury by a narrow margin.

NEWLYWEDS ARE SHOWERED

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Herman Remembered by Friends

A kitchen shower was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Harry Herman who were married Thanksgiving Day by a number of friends at their home, 123 Penn street, last evening. Many useful gifts of aluminum, granite and chinaware and cut glass were presented. The guest of honor was the presence of Mrs. Sarah Herman, 83 years, grandmother of Harry Herman.

After spending a social evening refreshments were served to the following persons: Mrs. Sarah Herman, Mrs. M. E. Harlan, Mrs. Fred Downs and son, Richard; Mrs. Charles Kile, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Whitebread, daughter, Ruth, and son, William, Jr.; Miss Maud Shick, Mrs. Frank Meckley, of Steelton; Mrs. C. W. Fisher, Jr., Paul Kline and his mother, Mrs. Kline; Harry Kline, Mrs. Hoover, Charles Hoover, Harrisburg, and Miss Lulu Herman, Highspire.

RENDERED LITERARY PROGRAM

Highspire Patrons Delighted With Progress Shown by Pupils

The Highspire High school rendered the following program at its meeting in the High school room this afternoon: Call to order, president; song, school; reading of minutes, secretary; oration, Paul E. Estenon; piano solo, Sylvia Stigleman; debate, "Is Immigration Detrimental to the United States?" affirmative, May Albert and Russell Ehrhart, and negative, H. A. Durborow and Helen Sides; recitation, Kathryn Wolf; piano solo, Mary Fink; Highspire High school gazette, Frank M. Durborow; critic's remarks, critic; miscellaneous business and adjournment.

THE ALTAR GUILD HELD AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

Membership Committee Reported One Hundred and Eleven Names and Cash Amounting to More Than Thirty-six dollars

Fifty members of the Ladies' Altar Guild of St. James' Catholic church attended the monthly meeting held in the Benton Catholic club hall Wednesday evening. The business session was presided over by Mrs. Charles Buck, president of the association.

The following presented a membership of one hundred and eleven members and $36.35 in cash: Mrs. J. Yeater in the lead, Mrs. Glaser, Mrs. Hanley, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Reagan and Mrs. Ludwig. A feature of the affair was an address by the Rev. James C. Thompson, rector, in which he congratulated the ladies for their enthusiasm and social endeavors. "Holy God" was well sung by the audience with Mrs. D. J. Mannix presiding at the piano. The next meeting of the guild will be held the first Wednesday in January.

BUYS THE DARON PRINTERY

M. J. Horvath, New Owner, Will Consolidate Two Plants

The Daron Printery, 50 North Front street, one of the oldest job printing plants in the borough, has been purchased by M. J. Horvath, proprietor of the Horvath Printery, 159 South Front street, the new owner taking possession to-day. The two plants will be consolidated under one management next week and will be located at 50 North Front street, the latter plant being the more modern.

The new owner is a Croatian by birth but a naturalized resident of the United States. He learned the art of printing under the late Elsworth M. Daron, whom he now succeeds, working six years for the latter. After leaving the employment of Daron, he worked at his trade in the East End Printery, Pittsburgh, for the Maple Press Company, York; George F. Lashley, printer for the Philadelphia and Reading railway, Philadelphia, and the State Printery and the Harrisburg Telegraph printing plant, Harrisburg.

STEELTON NOTES

Owing to the bazar to be held this evening in the Market house by the Reformed Sunday school, the choir of that church will not hold its rehearsal this evening.

Miss Fannie Eggleston, of the Stough party, addressed the children of the Highspire schools in the Highspire United Brethren church yesterday afternoon at the close of the school session.

The Mechanics' and Helpers' Relief Association announces a dividend of $5.50 to each member, which will be paid after the annual meeting to be held December 9.

The president of St. John's Lutheran C. E. Society announces an important meeting to be held in that church this evening. New officers will be elected and other business will be transacted.

The town property and finance committees of council met with Robert Hoy, a representative of the Harris-

FLOWERS FOR A THOUSAND HOMES

The hundred of women worked at the tabernacle the greater part of the morning preparing for the flower distribution.

Campaign Only Now Beginning

Before beginning his sermon at the tabernacle last night, Dr. Stough made the statement that he believes the work of the campaign has just begun. He told how he has means of knowing the trend of affairs through the members of the party, with whom he holds a daily conference, through the executive committee and through the ministers, and that indications are that the campaign is only now beginning to have its full effect.

"I believe we ought to start the six weeks of this campaign," he said, "a week from next Sunday night. The work hasn't begun to be moved yet. I want to say that I haven't run out of sermons yet. Understand, I am not anxious to stay here a day beyond the six weeks, for I am anxious to get to my home for the Christmas season. I feel though as if I were willing, if the spirit of God moved me, to give up the Christmas recess, yes even the Altoona campaign which follows, if I could only move this old city."

Scene at Calvary Presented

The great effort of the evangelist's sermon was an attempt to have his audience visualize the crucifixion of Jesus Christ.

In his impersonation of Jesus, Dr. Stough staggered across the platform with the weight of an imaginary cross bending his shoulders, then he gasped, tottered, fell to his knees and finally with a loud groan lay full length "on the stones of the streets. He raised himself partially, only to sink back again with a cry, under the heavy cross beam supposed to be pinning him down.

"My God," cried the evangelist, "will people ever realize what Thou didst suffer on Calvary?"

He followed that scene immediately with a representation of the nailing of the hands and feet of Jesus to the instrument of torture, pretending to wield a heavy hammer.

In closing, he impersonated Barabas, "the guilty man who had been freed that an innocent man might be condemned," coming to Calvary and cringing before the cross gazing at the crucified Christ and crying out, "My God, He's hanging on my cross."

Brewery Employe Hits Trail

"Thy name is Barabas, sinner," said the evangelist, in making his appeal for trail hitters.

Eighty persons accepted the invitation, among whom were nine married couples, and a large number of small boys. One man said that he was the driver of a brewery wagon, and would give up his business whereupon Professor Spooner started the chorus singing "The Brewer's Big Horses."

Dr. Stough will preach to-morrow afternoon to women only on "The Story of Life," and in the evening he will give his lecture on amusements, said by his associate, Dr. Cartwright to be one of his strongest talks, presenting the matter of amusement-seeking in a new manner, and being rich in argument.

Money Coming in Slowly

The $19,000 budget is not being wiped out quite as rapidly as anticipated. The total amount on hand is $15,203.92, including yesterday's collections of $11.35 in the afternoon and $195.45 in the evening.

RESTORES WOMAN TO LIFE

Surgeon Manipulates Patient's Heart Until the Lungs Resume Their Work

Los Angeles, Dec. 4.—A modern wonder of medical science was consummated yesterday afternoon at the Good Samaritan Hospital, according to the statements of three physicians who say that Mrs. Walter W. Akers, of 1022 Gramercy place, wife of the California manager of the International Fruit Products Company, was restored to life after having been dead for ten minutes.

"The raising" was not from a theoretical death, or state of coma, as it is ordinarily understood," said Dr. P. M. Williams, who, with Dr. C. S. Hutchinson, were the attending surgeons.

Mrs. Akers was actually dead. Her heart had stopped its functioning; there was no pulse; the ages were fixed in the glare which spells for every medical man the eternal sleep; there was no response to the usual tests. The patient was dead.

"The end came during the progress of a major operation for laparotomy. The operation was progressing in due course when our attention was directed by Dr. W. S. Holman, who was administering the anaesthetic, to the woman's complete collapse—to her death in fact."

Mr. Akers, who was awaiting the result of the operation in the adjoining room was summoned. The doctors went to work. Nurses began the administration of oxygen. Dr. Williams vigorously applied himself to producing artificial respiration.

Dr. Hutchinson then inserted his hand through the incision made in the abdominal wall until the diaphragm was reached. One finger grasped the top of the heart; his thumb was at the bottom. A slight compression, another and another followed, until the physician's hand was contracting and dilating the organ in simulation of the heart throbs. The lungs reluctantly again took up their burden.

After that the patient rallied with a marvellous rapidity, it is said, and in a few minutes was so far recovered that it was necessary to administer new anaesthetic in order that the original operation might be concluded. The operation lasted more than two hours.

Dr. Hutchinson said last evening that the patient was in normal and satisfactory condition, with every chance in her favor for a complete recovery.

A complete report of the case is to be made to medical authorities.

At the Photoplay

Another famous Broadway-star Vitagraph production will be shown at the photoplay to-day, "Uncle Bill," in which Miss Anita Stewart and her most capable Broadway-star cast appear. This three-act comedy is not the old-time scream, but a continuous hearty laugh from start to finish. Produced with only the Vitagraph's best actors and actresses, it is a real treat to see.

This picture had been booked for our theatre a few weeks ago, but through express delay was not shown until late in the evening, but the fortunate patrons who did see it will be pleased to hear of its return. Saturday Miss Alice Joyce appears in "The Theft of the Crown Jewels," wearing a $3,000 gown and $1,000,000 in real jewels. Adv.***

SQUARE OF THE CIRCLE

For All Ordinary Mechanical Work the Formula 3.1416 Is Used

The ratio of the length of the circumference of a circle to its diameter, sought during many thousands of years, has never been discovered. It has been known for decades of centuries, away back to the Aryans and to the Egyptian pyramid of Sphibis builders—that the circumference of a circle is three and a fraction times longer than its diameter.

This fraction has been sought by computers in every great nation from prehistoric times. Within modern times it has been computed with accuracy and by enormous labor in Germany out to 635 decimal places with no end—there is always a remainder to be reckoned.

But all of this work was useless, because high mathematics has shown that the string of figures will never come to an end in any finite number of figures. And as these men cannot think of infinity they made the symbol of infinity and stopped wasting time many years ago.

The circumference of a circle is 3.14159265 plus longer than its diameter. But in all ordinary mechanics, as in factories, machine shops and the like, the number 3.1416 is used. Thus the difference between lengths of circumferences of locomotive drivewheels or any other made by using one or the other of these values could not be detected mechanically without micrometric measurement.—New York "American."

Change of Doctors

"Oh, yes," she remarked in reply to her incredulous friend's question. "I changed doctors quite a long time ago, before last Christmas, in fact."

"But I thought you had such confidence in Dr. Healem?"

"Oh, so I did. But he's getting so frightfully old-fashioned, you know, doesn't move with the times and that sort of thing at all. Perhaps you remember me telling you how terribly I felt the cold last winter?"

"Yes."

"Well, I went to Dr. Healem about it and he told me to wear flannel. 'Flannel, if you please!'"

"So I went to Dr. Nicely. He suggested sealskin!"—Tacoma Tribune.
