To Test Federal Act in Lebanon

Lebanon, Dec. 15.—By the first time in the history of the Lebanon county courts, recourse will be had at the January term of common pleas court to the Federal statutes under the act of Congress defining the liability of common carriers to their employees when the $25,000 damage suit instituted by George M. Sherk, of Palmyra, against the P. and R. Railroad Company, will be attended. A phase of the employers' liability act will be promulgated in the trial. In this case the train which struck and crippled Sherk was engaged in the interstate carrying business, having on board its cars a consignment of coal for Boundbrook, N. Y.

To Have Smooth, White, Soft Skin All Winter

Does your skin chap or roughen easily in this weather, or become unduly red or blotchy? Let me tell you a quick, easy way to overcome the trouble and keep your complexion beautifully white, smooth and soft the winter long. Just get an ounce of ordinary mercurized wax at the nearest drug store and use a little before retiring, as you would cold cream. Upon arising, remove the coating with sudsy water. The wax, through some peculiar attribute, flecks off the rough, discolored or blemished skin. The worn-out cuticle comes off just like dandruff on a diseased scalp, only in almost invisible particles. Mercurized wax simply hastens Nature's work. Used as required, it keeps the face constantly free from devitalized scarf skin and only the healthy, young-looking skin is in evidence. It's the best treatment known for weather-beaten, aged, muddy, frocked, pimpled and all unbecoming complexions. Some skins wrinkle easily in winter. There's an excellent remedy in a harmless wash lotion made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered asphaltum in 1/2 pint witch hazel. This will quickly eradicate every line.—The Woman Beautiful. adv.

11,434 HORSES SHIPPED VIA PITTSBURGH FOR WAR

Pittsburgh, Dec. 15.—Since the belligerent nations of Europe began buying war horses in this country, 11,434 horses have passed through Pittsburgh on their way to Atlantic coast ports. They occupied 519 cars and traveled on fast freight schedules. That the agents were not in a hurry, however, was proved by the fact that, while the law provided a rest of five hours in Pittsburgh, horses were often kept here several days.
On such waits the animals were branded with the mark of the country to which they were consigned. The first consignments were received here October 14, and there are at present in the stock yards several hundred horses, which will be sent east this week. The horses are the finest that the French and English agents were able to buy. Apparently there was no effort at concealment concerning their destination, as they were in some instances consigned to men with military titles.

250,000 RECEIVE CHARITY

One Out of Every Ten Persons in Chicago Are Aided.
Chicago, Dec. 15.—One out of every ten persons in Chicago received aid from public charity, according to reports to-day of the retiring president of the Board of County Commissioners. The report states that during the current year partial or complete support was given at public expense to 250,000 residents of Cook county. The total population of the county is approximately 2,500,000. Of the 250,000 public charges, about 50,000 were cared for in public institutions. Food, clothing and fuel were given to 200,000 more.
These figures, it was pointed out, exclude the number of persons who applied for aid from private charitable organizations.

AN OPTICAL ENIGMA

Why Is It the Human Eye Sees Things Right Side Up?
Just why we are able to see things right side up is a mystery which science has not yet been able to explain.
We know that the human eye involves the same optical principles as a camera. Owing to the fact that light always travels in a straight line and never in a curve, the rays which emanate from any object within our range of vision have to descend and ascend in order to travel into the narrow opening in the eye which corresponds to the camera's lens.
These rays finally reach a point where they intersect. Continuing on in straight lines, the relative position becomes just the reverse of what they were when they left the object seen.
Thus the image register on the retina of your eye is topsy turvy, just as it is on the photographic plate in a camera. If you are looking at a house, for instance the image your eye gets will show the chimneys down below, the foundation walls up above, and so on.
But the impression your brain gets reveals the house right side up unless you happen to be afflicted with a rare disorder, which results in everything always appearing topsy turvy.
During the infinitesimally short period required to flash the image seen from the eye's retina to the brain all the light rays which created the image are reassembled and put back in their proper places, so that the brain sees the object as it really is and not in the topsy turvy form it was registered on the retina. Just how this miracle is performed is what science would like to find out.—New York American.

Taken at Her Word

A Bloomfield woman looked across her lawn to where passersby were breaking off the blossoming twigs of her favorite quince tree.
"We might as well cut the tree down as let it stand for people to destroy," said she.
Half an hour later the tree lay on the ground behind a little hatchet, while around behind the house the small boy of the family was getting a swishing with one of the branches.
This teaches us that we should be sure of our audience before we employ hyperbole in our speech.—Newark news.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Orpheum
Pretty Bessie Wynn, with her winning ways and winning self, came to the Orpheum yesterday and simply took the house by storm. Everybody seemed so glad to see this charming girl here again and after she sang all her songs and then tried out a brand new one, she told the audience, in song, how much she appreciated their applause. Miss Wynn's songs as of yore are original and particularly adapted to the charming little lady's particular talents. Also she is exhibiting a wardrobe that causes ripples of comment among the ladies. Miss Wynn seems to improve each time she comes back to Harrisburg, and, accordingly, pleases more each visit she makes. And then speaking of favorites of this bill, one can't speak of Joe Jackson lightly.
Yesterday afternoon and last night Joe's togs got mixed up with his bicycle to the uproarious laughter of all. Theatregoers who like to laugh must see Joe Jackson for he seems funnier than ever. Also the Farber Girls are offering a new act and they scored a solid hit of this bill, too. In fact the Orpheum's bill is one of the best, if not the very best, ever seen at the Locust street playhouse. Adv.

At the Colonial

Six Singing Bees, the tiniest and cutest little "honey bees" anybody could wish to see, are offering the bright, particular attraction of a fine bill at the Bay Corner. This is a juvenile production comprising a trio of little boys and a trio of little girls and they offer a singing act that is alone worth the time and price. The Melody Trio, three young men in harmony, both vocal and instrumental, are pleasing immensely on this same bill. A breezy song and patter trio and a pleasing musical novelty round out the roster. "St. Elmo," a six reel moving picture, based on the famous novel by that name, is said to be the finest "movie" yet seen at the Colonial. It will remain there during the first half of the week. AT THE VICTORIA TO-DAY
Full of adventurous episodes, piling one breath-retarding incident upon another, and so sincerely acted that its events seem real in "The Mystery of the Poison Pool," in five reels, which leads to-day's bill at the Victoria theatre, 223 Market street. Few motion picture productions have been as superbly handled as this powerfully dramatic photoplay of the wilds of Africa. It is full of realism which adds to the effectiveness of its portrayal. Among the scenes which have made lasting impressions on audiences which have seen the play is that of the poisoned pool, at the brink of which dead animals and bones are seen. Here two men perched with thirst await to the water's edge and are about to drink when they realize their danger and one saves his partner after a terrific fight. Another dramatic scene of unusual power is when a large snake is seen crawling down a rope, on which a fugitive from cannibals is making his escape.
Another thriller at the Victoria to-day is the special Keystone Comedy featuring Charlie Chaplin and Keystone (Mabel). It is a scream in two reels and well up to the standard of recent Keystone features shown at the Victoria. Adv.
