THE SCHOOL IN ENGLISH IS PROGRESSING FINELY

One Hundred and Sixty Foreign-speaking Residents Are Now Enrolled, Fifteen of Whom Are Women

The unprecedented enrollment of foreign-speaking residents of the borough, now numbering 160, in the school established by the Rev. J. H. Royer, pastor of the First M. E. church, to teach these people the English language was announced this morning by the founder to be very pleasing to him and to have exceeded his most sanguine expectations.

Of the total number enrolled, fifteen, or nearly one-tenth, are females. The work is progressing satisfactorily and the Rev. Mr. Royer is now assisted in his labors by six or seven of the local High school seniors and a number of members of the Epworth League of his church.

As soon as the pupils are advanced sufficiently to spell words they are given a first reader especially prepared for such work, which is divided into three parts. The first part is a simple review of American history, the second part is devoted to geography and the third part consists of civics.

Most of the male students are employed at the local plant of the Pennsylvania Steel Company, some working in the daytime, others at night. The largest attendance at school on any one night so far has been 89. Grammar and sentence construction are the gist of the work up to the present time. William L. Bennett, superintendent of anthracite missions, located at Pottsville, attended the session of the local school Monday evening and delivered an interesting address on "Character Building." A review of the work done by the scholars since the school commenced was held Wednesday evening and showed great advance by all who have been attending sessions regularly.

JACOB KNOEDERER INJURED

He Was Knocked Over by a Bobsled on Mohn Street Hill While Walking to Borough

Jacob Knoderer, a carpenter, residing on South Front street, was seriously injured last evening shortly after 5 o'clock when he was run down by a bobsled containing four or five young residents of Mohn street, who were coasting down the steep part of the Mohn street hill.

The injured man was employed on a carpenter job at Oberlin, by Contractor H. C. Wright. About 5 o'clock last evening, he started to walk to his home in the borough, going by way of Mohn street. When about halfway down that hill, a bobsled left the top of the steep incline and with increasing velocity dashed toward the pedestrian. As he is almost deaf, the shouts of warning of the occupants of the sled were unnoticed by Knoderer who continued in its path and was run down, while the occupants were spilled in all directions. He was knocked unconscious and remained in a comatose condition nearly all night. No bones were broken but the physician who was called found the man suffering severely with shock and the victim is now confined to his bed.

In short, This Store--with its teeming merchandise--its helpful, friendly service -- its moderateness of prices and bigness of values--is fairly humming with the gift-giving spirit that has permeated to every home in the community.

HAD EYE FOR TRADE

New York Boy Sold $500 in Jewelry for $1.25

New York, Dec. 18.—"Every day for a month I have been missing jewelry," Max Dolberg, a jeweler of 11 West One Hundredth street, said when he rushed into the West One Hundredth street police station last night. "Sometimes it is a watch, sometimes it is rings. But every day they are gone."

"To-day my wife, Rosie, is in the store and our 6-year-old son, Louis, is sitting on a stool near the door. My wife she goes to the rear room and when she comes back Louis is handing a gold watch to a man and the man is giving him a nickel. He is just getting a nickel for that watch, which is worth $30, if it is worth a cent."

"The man runs, but not before my wife sees him. Then she examines Louis' bank and finds $1.25 in it. That's all that man gave Louis for $500 worth of jewelry."

The police promised to arrest the man if they could find him.

SHE HAD TO FEED FURNACE

Woman's Love Grows Cold as She Shovels 14 Tons of Coal

New York, Dec. 18.—Because she was forced to shovel fourteen tons of coal into the furnace in the course of one winter, Mrs. Adelaide F. Pond, a musician, is suing Charles W. Pond for separation. At the time of the alleged coal-heating the couple lived at Little Falls, N. Y.

All my husband would do was to feed the chickens," Mrs. Pond told Supreme Court Justice Erlanger. "Once when we had guests and I failed to place a bottle of beer beside my plate he threw a bottle at me."

The plaintiff would not repeat orally the names she alleged her husband called her, but wrote them on a slip of paper and handed them up to the Justice.

Dissimilarity

"Marriage is a lottery," said the ready-made philosopher. "I shouldn't say that," commented Miss Cayenne. "In a lottery it's a comparatively easy matter to tear up a losing ticket and take another chance." —Louisville Courier-Journal.
