NEWS OF STEELTON

STEELTON EXPECTS GOOD SLICE OF RAILROAD WORK

Increased Business in Local Steel Mills Looked for as Result of Higher Freight Rates—No Out in Wages Is Contemplated

A more optimistic feeling prevails in the borough with the advent of Christmas, for it is intimated that shortly after the holidays business in the steel industry here will begin making a steady improvement.

Although the local officials say there are but few orders booked for near future delivery, a representative of the executive department of the local steel plant stated this morning that the rate increase given to the eastern railroads will undoubtedly stimulate the trade through the placing of orders for much railroad material, and that the local company will, undoubtedly, come in for a large share of the business, but that bids on this new business will not likely be asked for until later in the winter months.

The statement made yesterday by Judge Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, that his company will make no general reduction of wages at present, but that there may be some readjustment on a lower basis in the amounts paid for skilled labor or piece work, has no bearing on the wage situation at the Steelton plant. So far as is known at the local offices there is no change contemplated at this time in the wage scale paid here.

The company has no foreign orders. The rail mill is expected to resume operations January 1 on domestic orders.

Harry, however, shows her an account of what happened at the wedding where the lion tamer, true to his promise to Owen, let the lions escape, endangering the guests. according to a report made to Postmaster Sites.

While the principal business to-day was the laying in of supplies for Christmas dinner there were hundreds of shoppers on the streets. The Yuletide spirit was everywhere. It seemed that no matter how full of bundles the arms of shoppers were there was still room for a bit of holly or other green. In the outskirts wagons thronged carrying tree for home decorations. Boys at the market houses to-day reaped a harvest delivering trees.

Celebration in the Churches
Plans for the celebration in churches have all been made and final rehearsals are now scheduled for most entertainments. The eyes of the city are centered on the municipal celebration which promises to eclipse the one of last year. Professors Deevee and Rose, in charge of the music, held an encouraging rehearsal last evening.

Charity organizations are busier this year than ever before in preparing for the needs of the poor of the city. The increased demand on the charities of the city prevents the giving of the high grade of foodstuffs but substantial gifts will be given to all worthy families through the organization of the Associated Charities as a clearing house. The names of more than 300 deserving families have been turned over to persons who will supply their wants over Christmas.

Salvation Army Bus
The Salvation Army, 522 Race street, will distribute at 10 o'clock, Christmas morning, sixty baskets of foodstuffs. Each basket will contain a roast of beef, a can of corn, a can of tomatoes, potatoes, bread, coffee, sugar, can of milk, celery, oranges. Other baskets will be distributed by the American Rescue Workers, whose headquarters is in the Verbeke street market hall. This organization is not connected with the Salvation Army.

The intimate home scenes will begin to-morrow when the tissue paper wrappers with Christmas stickers will take the place of prosaic manila paper and twine and by to-morrow evening the distribution will start. Red Cross Christmas seals make admirable stickers for fastening Christmas bundles and hundreds are being used for this purpose.

Two Days of It At Almshouse
Through plans perfected by Mrs. A. Carson Stamm, a two-day program has been arranged for the entertainment of the indigent inmates of the Dauphin county almshouse. C. Floyd Hopkins, manager of the Orpheum, will send a dozen or more actors and actresses, who this week are playing in the city to the home-to-morrow afternoon, at which time a vaudeville performance will be given. On Christmas Day formal exercises and a turkey dinner will be given.

Two well-trimmed Christmas trees have been set up and the home has been otherwise decorated. The trees were donated by the Holmes Seed Company. Russ Brothers will give twelve gallons of ice cream, which will be served to the inmates at the Christmas dinner. The inmates all will get Christmas presents, including cakes and candy, and the men will get a supply of tobacco.

Postoffice Christmas Hours
On Christmas the main postoffice and Hill and Maclay stations will be closed from 10 a. m. to 12 p. m. All carriers will make their 7.15 a. m. delivery and collection, the 5.40, 7.30 and 10.20 p. m. collections.

a radius of fifty miles of the city are co-operating, too, by winding up what will probably be the most successful suburban crusade in the history of the fight against tuberculosis.

Just 62,000 of the Red Cross seals have been distributed in at least a dozen towns for sale and according to reports received by Dr. Galen Hain, the chairman, the Yuletide stickers are being disposed of with remarkable rapidity.

Dr. Hain, who has handled this work for the last four years, said to-day that sub-committees in every town are co-operating splendidly.

"For four years now we have handled this campaign in the town round about here," said Dr. Hain, "and while it still requires a lot of careful work and study the early efforts at organization are bearing fruit in the shape of good sales. We have gone much further than usual this year. The work is much more extensive. Too much credit cannot be given the chairmen of the various small town committees. It is due to their efforts that the sales are progressing so well."

The 62,000 seals have been distributed in nearby towns as follows:

Steelton, 30,000, Mrs. L. E. Johnson, chairman of general committee; Hershey, 7,000, Miss Alice M. Elder; Middletown, 3,000, Dr. Collin S. Few; Hummelstown, 5,000, Homer L. Strickler; Millersburg, 5,000, C. W. Rubendall; Mechanicsburg, 5,000, Miss Mary Clark; Williamstown, 2,000, J. R. Hancock and Patrick Meehan; Camp Hill, 2,000, Mrs. Edward Pardo; Lykens, 3,000, John H. Eby; West Fairview, 1,500, Mrs. A. Hoover; Duncannon, 500, Miss Irene Kent.

The other towns which took 1,000 allotments and the chairmen in charge of the committees, follow:

Halifax, C. W. Heiler; Highspire, W. L. Kaufman; New Cumberland, Mrs. George H. Rifer; Langestown, Postmaster John S. Shauer; Penbrook, Robert Hoover; Dauphin, Miss Ella McNeely, and Rockville, Miss Celia Hoffman.

Miss Celia Hoffman disposed of the thousand through the small pupils of the Rockville primary grade and the number established a new record for seal sales there.

TECH AND CENTRAL STUDENTS ENTERTAIN THE CHILDREN

The public schools to-day closed for the Christmas vacation and will not reopen until Monday, January 4. Incidental to the closing of the schools, entertainments were held by most of them.

The students of both Technical and Central High schools held novel charitable entertainments.

When Tech's entertainments started there were 77 fidgety, expectant open air kids in the front seats, starting with open-eyed joy at the beautifully decorated stage, with its open fire place and two Christmas trees loaded with 77 well-filled stockings and large piles of gifts. However, the children were somewhat disappointed, for they had been promised that the real Santa was to be on the job to distribute the stockings and presents, and he was nowhere to be seen. Suddenly there were whispers of "There he is," "Oh, I see him" and "I told you so" from all over the room as Santa stepped from the chimney, which the Tech boys had provided for him. After giving a short talk, Santa had each of these 77 children from the open air schools of Harrisburg come up on the stage and get their presents.

The children, however, had their part of the program to fill. They did this by giving recitations and singing their school songs, the music being furnished by the Technical orchestra.

After the Central High students had all taken their seats in the chapel this morning and their 65 little guests were arranged in the front seats, all of the lights were extinguished with the exception of those on the Christmas tree, which was on the stage, and the footlights. This gave the platform a most beautiful effect. In the midst of the entertainment Santa Claus stepped out on the stage. His appearance, of course, put a stop to the rest of the entertainment and from that time on he had the stage. After joking with the children for a while, just long enough to get his breath back from his hurried trip from Tech, he started right in to business, which was of great interest to the anxious children. Every child received several gifts, mostly useful things, such as clothing, although there was plenty of candy, pop corn and fruit to leave them "enjoy" a good Christmas stomachache.

The Senior Girls' Glee Club also took part in the affair and the orchestra gave several selections for their little guests. When the children left the building they could be seen peeping into the different packages with happy, satisfied eyes.
