Five Above Is the Minimum Temperature Predicted for Harrisburg This Evening

VERY COLD IN NEW ENGLAND

Thirty-two Below Is Recorded in Northfield, Vermont—Low Temperatures Prevail Everywhere East of the Rockies

The entire country east of the Rocky mountains is in the grip of a cold wave. It carried the temperature here to six degrees above zero this morning, two degrees above the record temperature for the month.

The weather will moderate somewhat to-morrow and higher temperatures are expected. Its effect will be to thicken the ice on the streams hereabouts and make skating the best in several years.

According to the Washington office of the Weather Bureau, thirty-two degrees below zero was the temperature at Northfield, Vt., to-day, while Albany, N. Y., reported 16 degrees below zero.

The extremely cold weather extended southward as far as the Florida peninsula and below zero temperatures were recorded in New England, interior of New York, West Virginia, Michigan, Illinois, northern Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota.

Lower temperatures were promised for to-night in the South Atlantic States, but in the region of the Great Lakes, New York, New England and the lower Ohio valley it will grow somewhat warmer.

Generally fair weather was predicted for to-night and Sunday everywhere east of the Mississippi river, except that snow flurries are expected in the upper lake region.

CURBING SEDITION AMONG FILIPINOS

Continued From First Page. time ago. Ricarte, it is stated, advised that the anti-American attempt be made on Christmas Eve when the American officers would be expected to celebrate the holiday.

Other Minor Risings Reports from the provinces tell of minor risings and occasional violence but details from these sections are lacking. The situation to-day, from all appearances, and according to official statements is well under control of the military authorities.

Governor General Francis Burton Harrison happened to be away on an official visit and Winford T. Denison, Secretary of the Interior, is in charge of affairs, pending Mr. Harrison's return.

The Foreign Chamber of Commerce, supported by the Filipino, has issued a public protest against the Legislature's adoption of amendments to the International Revenue law imposing additional taxes. The measure was introduced on the eve of the Christmas recess and was passed without discussion and also, it is stated, without giving the merchants an opportunity to express their opinions regarding it.

Representations from the Chamber of Commerce, regarding the new law, it is announced, are to go to-day to Secretary of War Garrison asking him to secure President Wilson's intervention in the matter.

GEORGE WARDEN DROPS DEAD

Inmate of Almshouse Dies After Eating Hearty Dinner George Warden, 73 years old, an inmate of the county almshouse, dropped dead yesterday afternoon after eating a hearty Christmas dinner.

Warden had secured a leave of absence so as to be able to visit some of his relatives in Harrisburg. He was just about to leave the grounds when he was stricken. Before a physician could arrive Warden died, heart trouble being the cause of his death.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Charles Thomas, this city, and Mrs. E. J. O'Donnell, Carlisle, and one son, E. Edward Warden, this city. The funeral will be held from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thomas, 350 Harris street, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in East Harrisburg cemetery.

SNATCHED FROM DEATH'S JAWS Would Scheme Work Here If Coroner Eckinger Were to Adopt It? Chicago, Dec. 26.—More than twenty men have been saved from suicide by Coroner Peter M. Hoffman's plan of placing on Coroner's juries only those who are in need, it was learned to-day from a report on the scheme since it was put into effect, September 1. In three months 7,320 men who were out of employment sat on juries and collected $7,320 in fees. The line of applicants at the Coroner's office some days contained 300 persons.

The distress relieved is not alone financial," commented the report made by the public safety commissioner. "More than twenty men who were discouraged, desperate and admitted they were on the verge of suicide before they sat on a jury, were saved by the plan. The sight of remains of those who had killed themselves and the grief of relatives at the inquests banished from the minds of these down-hearted souls all thoughts of self-destruction. The object lesson and the financial assistance, small though it was, gave them new hope."

NOBODY HINDERS WHEN CHILDREN CARRY OFF TOYS

Continued From First Page. original supply of the candy was exhausted, he waited until after 12. Then he approached one of the distributors of the candy and inquired in a firm voice: "When is dinner going to be served?" He was informed that the hosts had made no provisions to serve dinner, for they had distributed all the meals they had on Thursday among poor families of the city.

There was a great deal of attention. Many of the children had never before seen an open fireplace in operation, and they surrounded it with expressions of curiosity and delight on their faces. Suddenly a small boy, anxious to see something perish in the flames, seized a match from the hand of a little girl beside him and flung it into the fire. The girl uttered no protest and was too brave to cry in the presence of so many witnesses. Plunging her hand into her coat pocket, she shortly afterward started toward the fireplace, satisfied with her orange and candy in place of the lost glove.

One Boy Not Satisfied Even on top of the free candy, oranges and toys and the general good time, one little fellow was not satisfied. He had established himself in the grill room shortly after 9 o'clock, and he watched the proceedings intently. MANY VIEW DECORATIONS

Howard H. Holstein Has Handsome Christmas Display in His Home—Open to Public The entire front room at the home of Howard H. Holstein, 1333 Green street, is devoted to the beauties of Christmas, the walls and ceiling being covered with spruce and a large platform takes up one end of the room.

On this platform is every conceivable electric device. There are the big tunnel and train with strong headlight. There are airships, merry-go-rounds, fountain, saw mill and many other electrical amusements.

A mountain scene makes the background; on the crest of the mountain can be seen a company of soldiers camping, a miniature torrent gushes down the mountain side and flows into a little brook where gold fish and ducks are swimming; on the mountain side near the torrent cattle and sheep are grazing. On the other side of the mountain top is a large country home surrounded by a forest.

In the valley at the foot of the mountain is amusement park in which is a regular bowling alley, shooting gallery, air ships, merry-go-round and many other devices to amuse the little pleasure-seekers that can be seen wandering through the park. About a mile from the park is a farm with real crops growing on it. Everything about the farm is so lifelike that you can almost hear the cows mooing and the roosters crowing.

On another part of the platform are the toilers; some are operating lathes, others kneading dough and others working in the saw mills. There are hundreds of other objects of interest in this little universe that are too numerous to mention. The whole scene is illuminated by several hundred little electric globes, twined among the spruce on the walls and ceiling.

Mr. Holstein said this morning that the more people that come to see the display the better pleased he will be, as he arranged it for the entertainment of the general public.

M'AFEE'S WORK INCREASES

Report of the Secretary of the Commonwealth Shows His Department Is More Than Self-Sustaining The biennial report of Robert M. Afee, Secretary of the Commonwealth, just submitted to the Governor, shows a remarkable increase of the volume of work in his department. It is a report made up mainly of departmental statistics, and makes no recommendations for legislation. It covers the two years ended November 30, 1914.

Taking the four years of Secretary M'Affee's commission under Governor Tener it is found that he has collected $472,191.96, an increase of $50,000 over the preceding four years and just $273,000 more than from 1890 to 1894. In the previous years the fees were all given to the Secretary, but in the last two administrations they have gone into the State Treasury and the salary has been increased. The collection of these fees has made the work of the department almost double what it was when Secretary M'Affee first took office, and shows the department to be more than self-sustaining. The fees and bonuses collected during the last two years amount in all to $1,204,110.57.

The fees on corporation work for 1914 amounted to $123,869.90, and in 1913, $101,586.35, making a total of $225,456.25. In 1913 the bonuses paid in on capital stock and increases by the corporations amounted to $245,863.52, and in 1914, $432,799.71, making a total of $1,078,263.23.

DEATH HALTS FESTIVITIES

Sudden Demise of Mrs. Elizabeth Daniels Clouds Many Homes (Special to the Star-Independent.) Berrysburg, Pa., Dec. 26.—The unexpected death of Mrs. Elizabeth Daniels, 78 years old, following an operation which at the time was not thought serious, brought to a sudden termination the Christmas festivities in the homes of her 12 children living here, her former home, and in Philadelphia.

Plans had been made by her daughter, Mrs. William Taylor, 2425 Thompson street, Philadelphia, for a visit from her mother over the holidays, when Mrs. Daniels was suddenly stricken and an immediate operation made necessary. Following her death late Thursday night telegrams called her five sons from Berrysburg to Philadelphia yesterday morning, while her seven daughters, who live in the latter city, halted their Christmas celebration and met in the home of Mrs. Taylor. The Rev. J. W. Slack, pastor of Bethel United Evangelical church, will conduct the funeral services to-morrow evening.

Editor Back From Honeymoon

Dean M. Hoffman, managing editor of the "Patriot," and his bride, who was Miss Ethel W. New York, Dec. 26.—The statement of the actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week shows that they hold $117,121,200 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is a decrease of $8,176,780 from last week.

CAPITOL HILL FEWER LAWYERS MAKE FEWER LAWS, IT IS SAID

Disciples of Blackstone Will Not Be as Numerous in Coming Session of Legislature as They Have Been in Past Years It has been figured out that fewer experienced lawmakers will sit in the next House of Representatives than at any session in the last quarter of a century. An analysis, worked out by personal correspondence, brings this out in detail. The date made public shows that only 78 out of the 207 members of the House served in previous sessions, and that only 66 out of these served in the session of 1913.

There will be 129 members without previous legislative experience, and there will be 141 members, or 70 per cent. of the whole, who were not members of the session two years ago. Representative George W. Allen, of Allegheny, who worked out the data by personal correspondence with every member-elect, is the lawyer who filed the nomination papers for the Personal Liberty party last September.

Sale of Properties

The largest sale of properties yet held on the ground to be taken for Capitol Park Extension will be offered for sale by the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings on the morning of Saturday, January 9. There are some forty in number and comprise buildings on State, North, Cowden, South, Fourth, Short, Tanners, Filbert, Cranberry, Walnut and Fifth streets and Miss Washington's stables, etc., formerly by the property of the Paxton Flour and Feed Company along the Pennsylvania railroad. The Capitol Park Extension Commission has been very active in the past two months accumulating properties on the ground to be taken for park purposes, and in a short time will be negotiating for the larger properties in order to secure them, if possible, without going into court for viewers.

An Extended Holiday

There was little work done on Capitol Hill to-day the Christmas holiday having been extended until Monday, and very few attaches and clerks were present. Some few heads of departments were present, but little business was done.

DULLNESS ON FINAL DAY OF WEEK IN STOCK MARKET

Attendance of Brokers on Exchange Light and Outside Interest Apparently Lacking—Low Marks for U. S. Steel and Southern Pacific

By Associated Press. New York, Dec. 26.—(Wall Street)—Record-breaking dullness attended the post holiday resumption of the stock market dealings to-day. Attendance of brokers on the Exchange was light and outside interest appeared to be entirely lacking. The total overturn of the first half hour was less than 4,000 shares. U. S. Steel and Southern Pacific on 100 share offerings, again touched the low marks under which trading is not permitted, and St. Paul declined to its low price, with weakness in Amalgamated and Western Maryland. Such unimportant shares as Beet Sugar and Rock Island rose slight fractions.

Pronounced improvement was shown in the final hour, when a moderate demand for some of the leaders resulted in gains of one to two points, with the leaders in the lead. The closing was firm.

Opening with the lightest trading and lower prices, to-day's brief session soon recovered to a level well above Thursday's closing. Inquiry from the short interest was the most potent factor in bringing about a readjustment of values. Reading, Lehigh Valley, Union Pacific, New York Central and Baltimore and Ohio were features of the recovery. Bonds were steady.

Review of the Week

New York, Dec. 26.—The second week of renewed trading in stocks was marked by further steady declines throughout the list, many shares selling under the closing range of July 30 last, when the Exchange found it necessary to suspend operations because of the war, in the course of this week's dealings, which frequently denoted foreign and domestic liquidation, a number of issues of speculative and investment importance descended to the low or minimum quotations established by the authorities. These included U. S. Steel, Canadian Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio, while others of equal or greater value hovered about their minimum prices.

It was regarded as especially significant that declines were effected on very light offerings, steel being almost the only stock to come out in large amounts. Despite the safeguards against short selling, the short interest was active and contributed in large measure towards the shrinkage of values.

Among the unfavorable factors was the reduction of the Pennsylvania Company's dividend, which directly affects the earnings of the Pennsylvania railroad and gives rise to conjecture regarding the stability of its own dividend policy. This was seen not only in the heaviness of Pennsylvania shares, but in the abrupt decline of other securities of the same class.

The decision of the U. S. Steel Corporation to maintain the existing wage scale for a time at least, because of the better outlook and easier money tendencies, including reduced discounts, failed to exercise much influence on the constructive side.

Italy's occupation of the Albania port of Avlona was believed to open up possibilities of complications which might make it difficult for the Rome government to maintain its neutrality. The attitude of Rumania, also, was more than ever a matter of doubt, on account of reports from Paris that the only obstacle which prevented her from joining with the triple entente had been removed. Bulgaria was represented as having given assurances that she would remain neutral, relieving Rumania from the fear of an attack from that quarter should she enter the war.

Dispatches from Chilo stated that the last of what was once Germany's Pacific squadron was fighting to escape the fate which overtook her four companion cruisers when they met the British. REFLECTIONS OF THE WAR SEEN IN CLOTHES

Braiding and Buttons on Frocks of Khaki-Colored Cloth a New Note in Smart Fashions—Toggles and Sailors of 1830

New York, Dec. 26. With the fear of a siege fading farther and farther into the background, Paris, with a characteristic rebound, has turned from the contemplation of business inactivity and darkened streets to the theatre, the cafe and renewed commerce.

The large dressmaking establishments which are run by women have not closed. They have been kept open in the face of the hard times. When there were no gowns to make, the employees were set to work upon the making of bandages and hospital garments, knitting mufflers and socks for the soldier.

Most of the suits are trimmed with fur, perhaps just a band around the neck and sleeves; possibly narrow bands of it are used around the bottoms of tunics, collars and sashes. One stunning frock had the lower skirt section of a fawn colored broadcloth dress of beaver fur. Another suit had a waist coat of Persian lamb and Russian kolinsky was used for trimming bands.

Net and satin are combined in many charming evening frocks, and one developed in this way I have used for an illustration. Cream-colored net is used for the bodice and the pointed train. The girdle which goes up in a point in diers. In fact, the knitting of something has become such a fad that fashionable women everywhere are knitting. But as the Germans were driven back from Paris the call for gowns from the outside world leaked through and the designers began to fulfill the demand.

Quite military are some of these new frocks. One frock seen recently was made of a new fabric on the broadcloth order, with the same high sheen, but a twilled weave in khaki color. The waist was made very simply, and with body and sleeves in one and full length, fitting very closely below
