CHRISTMAS ACTIVITIES IN THE BOROUGH ARE NOTED

While Sunday Schools Rendered Programs More Than 300 Children Were Served With Turkey Dinners by Churchmen and Firemen

Activities in the borough on Christmas Day were mostly confined to various churches and Sunday schools, operations at the big plant of the Pennsylvania Steel Company being almost at a standstill and the postoffice observed holiday hours.

Big factors in the day's observance were the turkey dinners served to more than three hundred poor children, of which the Centenary United Brethren church took care of about 130, while the Baldwin Hose Company had 200 at a turkey banquet which was supervised by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the company.

While the day was yet young the members of the company, using their chemical wagon and span of fire horses, went into the part of town lying east of Swatara street, and gathered in the youngsters by the wagon load, never stopping until the spacious rooms were packed.

SMOKED MEAT WAS STOLEN

Three Foreigners Are Arrested Charged With the Theft

Mike Stefanic, George Vukovic and Stojan Milovic, residents of Fort Custer, Lehigh, were placed under arrest at noon to-day by Constable Gibb and High Constable Bomgardner, charged with the larceny of a quantity of smoked meat from the rear yard of John Susie, 154 Frederick street.

The latter had placed the meat in a small outshouse after it was smoked. Early this morning the meat disappeared and suspicion rested on the inmates of Fort Custer, some of whom had been seen loitering around Susie's home early last evening. The officers recovered some of the meat which had been hidden in a hole in the eider pile and it was recognized by the owner who had placed some private marks on it.

MILITARY MESSAGES

Some That Were Made Famous By Their Pith and Brevity

Of famous military messages there are scores, beginning with the never to be forgotten "Veni, vidi, vici" of Caesar and that equally famous dispatch of Commodus to Pertinax: "We have met the enemy and they are ours," but both were beaten for brevity by General Sir Robert Boyd, who while governor of Gibraltar, being in need of beef for his troops wrote to the agent in England this laconic dispatch: "Browne, beef, Boyd." Browne sent the stores with the reply, "Boyd, beef, Browne."

And this in turn recalls the story of Peter de Droux, the celebrated fighting bishop of Beauvais, who, being taken in arms by Richard Coeur de Lion, was imprisoned and fettered. Pope Celestine III, remonstrated in behalf of the prelate, and in reply the king sent the bishop's helmet and armor to Rome with this neat dispatch taken from Genesis xxxvii, 32: "Know now whether it be thy son's coat or no."

The pope declined further intercession and replied that the coat the king had sent did not belong to a son of the church, but of the camp, and the prisoner, therefore, was at Richard's mercy.—Detroit Free Press.

Every Woman a Nurse

Every woman, or at least almost every woman, has, at one time or another or her life, charge of the personal health of somebody, whether child or invalid in other words, every woman is a nurse. Every day sanitary knowledge or the knowledge of nursing, or, in other words, of how to put the constitution in such a state as that it will have no disease or that it can recover from disease, takes a higher place. It is recognized as the knowledge which every one ought to have—distinct from medical knowledge, which only a profession can have.

If, then, every woman must at some time or other in her life become a nurse—namely, have charge of somebody's health—how immense and how valuable would be the product of her untold experience if every woman would think how to nurse.—Florence Nightingale.

Deserved a Reward

"Daughter, I saw you last night." "Yes, ma." "What induced you to give that young man a kiss?" "Well, he had listened to my singing patiently for an hour."—Kansas City Journal.

WHITMAN HOUNDS SLAYERS OF BUFF

New York's Governor-Elect Is Determined to Bring Murderers to Justice

EAST SIDE CRIME YET UNFATHOMED

But District Attorney Is Certain of Sufficient Evidence to Run Down Perpetrators of Dastardly Deed in Which Poultryman Was Slain

By Associated Press. New York, Dec. 26.—Carl Rettick, the Hoboken bartender, who was employed in the saloon where the police believe the plot to kill Barnett Buff, the wealthy poultry dealer, was planned, and another witness whose name is withheld were to testify to-day at the resumption of the grand jury investigation of the Buff murder.

Governor-elect Charles S. Whitman, who relinquishes his office of District Attorney next week, hopes to have the case ready for presentation to the jury on Monday next, when several indictments are expected to be returned. Inspector Faurot and several detectives who have been working on the case continued the search to-day for evidence that would throw more light upon the murder by two gunmen of Barnett in the West Washington market November 24. Word was expected to-day from Buffalo, where two detectives are reported to have gone last night, that an important arrest in connection with the Buff case has been made.

Now that the Buff case is almost cleared up, in the opinion of the District Attorney, it is known that within twenty-four hours after the murder was committed the police were practically certain of the motive for the murder and the men who had the motive, and yet were unable to take positive action.

In West Washington market a reign of terror existed, and it was almost impossible to convince poultrymen, who were needed as witnesses, of the final authority of the police.

Photoplay To-day "The Lure O' the Windigo," a most vivid story eloquently told in pictures, is one of those sad, yet inevitable tragedies where brain and muscle tip the scales of justice and where inherent manhood demands the penalty of treason against innocence and the betrayal of a too fond love.

Among the Cree and Algonquin Indians there is a superstition that when the wind sighs and moans among the tall pine trees that the "spirit of the wind" is sending a message to the wayfarer or wanderer which will lure him either to harm or safety as the conscience of the person who hears the voice shall believe. For this reason the Indians listen for "the voice of the Windigo" and perform certain ceremonies which they consider suitable for the occasion whenever the "voices" are heard.

The diseased and infirm are not drafted for war. The infirm and the diseased are "invalided" home. The eugenic outlook in Europe is about as bad as it could be.

VICTORIA WAR FEATURE

One of the most wonderful motion picture films ever shown in this country is "The War of the World," a special feature in multiple parts, which heads to-day's bill at the Victoria theatre, 223 Market street. The pictures were taken at the battle front in Europe and comprise actual action scenes and bursting shot and shell. They are immensely interesting and thrilling throughout the entire program. These are the pictures that were scheduled to appear at the Victoria on Wednesday but were postponed until to-day because one of the reels was damaged in a New York theatre, where it was being shown.

Extremes

Cham, the French caricaturist, was talking one day with a Gasson, who bragged that his fathers ancient baronial dining hall was the wonder of the world. It was so high you could hardly see the roof.

"My father had a dining room," said Cham, "which was just as remarkable the other way. It served so low that the only fish we could serve at table was flounder!"

ORPHEUM'S NEW BILL WILL BE HEADED BY KITTY GORDON

Light Opera Star Will Be at Orpheum Next Week

Kitty Gordon, beautiful Kitty Gordon, whose face is her fortune, and whose back is the talk of the feminine world—the star of light opera and the new headliner of vaudeville—will be at the Orpheum Theatre next week in her sketch, with songs, "Alma's Return."

It needs no press agenting story of stolen diamonds or royal ancestry to acquaint the public with just who Kitty Gordon is, for she is well known to showing folks from one ocean to the other. In her various light opera roles Miss Gordon attracted large audiences everywhere, and won much applause.

Harrisburg well remembers the night that the Majestic Theatre was packed to the roof to see Kitty Gordon, and then Kitty Gordon didn't appear, her role being filled by an understudy while Kitty herself followed the doctor's advice and remained off the stage.

But Kitty has no need of a doctor now, she is well and happy and sends greetings that contain the compliments of the season. Miss Gordon will appear herself at thirteen performances in the Orpheum next week—the regular week matinee and evening shows that belong to an Orpheum week, and also the mid-night carnival on Thursday evening when the New Year will be welcomed at the Orpheum as usual.

If you happen to meet Miss Gordon after she gets to town, don't say anything about the 13th show, because actresses are very superstitious, and she might want to do a morning show on Saturday just to make it 14.—Adv.
