Troops of General Carranza Retake the City They Evacuated a Month Ago

VILLA-ZAPATA FORCES BEATEN

Fall of Puebla Came After Six Hours of Most Furious Bombardment to Which Any Mexican Force Has Yet Been Subjected

By Associated Press.
Vera Cruz, Jan. 6.—Puebla, capital of the State of Puebla, which was evacuated a month ago by the troops of General Venustiano Carranza, was retaken yesterday after a campaign which began with the capture of Tepeaca, a short distance to the southeast of Puebla, six days ago.

The fall of Puebla came after six hours of what is described as having been the most furious bombardment to which any Mexican force has yet been subjected.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Black smallops has broken out in Vera Cruz and the tropical town is in the throes of an epidemic, American Consul Canada today reported to the State Department.

Carloads of dead and wounded from the battle of Puebla were being brought in today. The only information from Carranza sources was that the Villa-Zapata troops had been defeated heavily.

Rear Admiral Howard, commanding the American squadron on the west coast of Mexico, today reported conditions favorable at San Blas, where he had been instructed to protect a German colony at the request of a German embassy there. Details of the battle of Puebla supplementing the news dispatches of last night from Vera Cruz, were given today in dispatches dated January 5 to the Carranza agency here.

"General Obregon is in complete control of the city and its environs," said the dispatches. "Dead and wounded lie in the streets when the loyalists entered the city and the number of dead and wounded was great. The Villa-Zapata troops were fighting, the fighters in many instances coming to bayonet points. It is believed the rebels lost several thousand killed and wounded. Five thousand or more were taken prisoners, with all munitions, arms and provisions. It is believed Mexico City is the next objective."

Laredo, Texas, Jan. 6.—General Carranza, at Vera Cruz, in a telegram to relatives here last night, said his troops killed two brothers of General Santibanez, whom they were pursuing in an effort to recapture General Jesus Carranza, brother to the first chief, who, it is said, had been threatened with death by Santibanez. The pursuit is through the mountains of Guerrero State.

LATE WAR NEWS SUMMARY

force which made the effort, it is said at Petrograd that not one man regained the fortress, every member of the party being killed, wounded or captured.

Against two of the three nations she is fighting, Russia apparently has scored heavily. To the victory over the Austrians last week is added, according to the claims of Petrograd, the rout of two of the three Turkish columns which invaded Russian Caucasus. Latest reports from the Russian military authorities are that the defeat of the Turks was complete and that one Turkish army corps was annihilated. The campaign against the Germans, however, has led to no definite results. The Germans are handicapped by bad weather in their advance towards Warsaw, but Berlin asserts that slow progress is still being made.

In the Austrian province of Bukovina the Russians, according to Petrograd dispatches are meeting with little resistance. Friendly relations have been established between the Russian soldiers and the frontier guards of Rumania, which adjoins Bukovina and it is believed in Petrograd that Rumania is likely to enter the war.

In the west the deadlock continues. France apparently is making progress in the invasion of Alsace, but elsewhere there is little activity except for sporadic encounters between comparatively small numbers of men.

ALLIED FORCES ADVANCE AT FOUR POINTS IN FRANCE

Paris, Jan. 6, 2:40 P. M.—French forces yesterday advanced at four distinct points along the battle front extending from the North Sea to Alsace and gave ground in one instance, according to the official announcement issued this afternoon by the French War Department.

The gains claimed by the French were in the region to the northwest of Rheims, in the forest of La Grurie, near the ravine of Courte Gaussee and in the forest of Le Petre. In the Alsace the Germans regained one of their old trenches in the vicinity of Steinbach. The official statement also identifies the second Garibaldi reported killed in action on the French battlefield as Chief Adjutant Constantine Garibaldi, a brother of Lieutenant Colonel Peppino Garibaldi. Another brother, Lieutenant Bruno Garibaldi, was killed December 29 while leading a charge of Italian volunteers against the Germans in the forest of Argonne.

CIVIC CLUB FIGHTS FOR $30,000 GIFT

and the Civic Club, in support of its contention that the mansion is its property, this afternoon decided to have the courts determine who is the rightful owner. The club, accordingly, brought suit against Mr. Payne for the amount of the December, 1914, and January, 1915, rentals. The real issue hangs on the question of property title, which must be decided in determining who shall receive the rent.

John Fox Weiss, formerly District Attorney of Dauphin county, began the suit as the club's counsel. The Civic Club since October, last, has been a chartered corporation, but the date of incorporation is four months after the will became operative. The trust company's contention is said to be that the club when not chartered was not legally an association and therefore the bequest of the $30,000 Fleming property to the club became null and void.

It is contended by local attorneys that this rule cannot be applied under the Pennsylvania laws. The fact that the Civic Club of Harrisburg is practically the same today, now that it is a chartered corporation, as it was at the time Mrs. Fleming drew her will, the Civic Club contends, is sufficient ground to substantiate its claim of title to the beautiful home. The evident intent of the will, it is held, must also be taken into consideration.

Mr. Payne, against whom the Civic Club brought suit for the rent money, has occupied the Fleming mansion for a number of years and immediately prior to the death of Mrs. Fleming renewed his lease of the property for another year, the lease dating from August 1, 1914, to August 1, 1915. The lease provides that the rent shall be paid in advance. Mr. Payne refused to pay the rent until the Civic Club make payment only after both the Civic Club and the trust company, as executor of the Fleming estate, made demand for the money.

Gift as Memorial to Husband
Mrs. Fleming inherited the property through the will of her husband, the late William Reynolds Fleming, and she agreed to the home to the Civic Club as a memorial to her husband.

The Fleming mansion is valued conservatively at $30,000. The suit brought today against Mr. Payne will take the same course of procedure as do all other civil suits and while there is the possibility of the trial by jury being eliminated through the parties agreeing upon the facts and presenting the matter to the court in arguments, it is not likely that a decision can be had for at least a year.

Mr. Payne will continue his residence in the home and make no rent payments unless the court appoints a trustee to receive the money.

Philadelphia Official Claims That the Measure Fixing His Salary Is Not Constitutional

Argument on the constitutionality of the act of 1913 regulating the fees of the Register of Wills in cities of the first class was today presented to the Dauphin county court, in a suit brought against the Auditor General by James B. Sheehan, Register of Wills of Philadelphia county.

Sheehan claims his expenses incident to the collection of the collateral inheritance tax should come from the Auditor General and not out of his office commissions. He was represented by Joseph Gilliland and Samuel M. Clement, Jr., of Philadelphia.

officials, whose names are unknown to the county officials, City Detective Doach, who, with Captain Thompson arrested Mercer and LeBrun, went to Jacksonville this morning to seek out the men who can shed some light on the $1,000 checks which were deposited in Harrisburg banks and later proved to be worthless. The checks were drawn on a Jacksonville bank.

After the checks were deposited Mercer and LeBrun made purchases with checks drawn on the local banks, in which the worthless checks had been deposited, it is charged. Their first transaction and their arrest occurred on Saturday, November 11. Subsequently they were held for court under $5,000 bail, which they were unable to secure.

The men came here, according to the police, accompanied by Mrs. LeBrun, a maid and a chauffeur. The chauffeur left the city and the maid had to be sent back to New York on a charity ticket. Mercer, the police say, is wanted in New York on a charge of grand larceny.

COUNTY BALANCE IS $160,326

All Save One-half of One Percent of the Collectible Taxes Are in Reports compiled today by the Treasurer, Commissioner and Controller of Dauphin county, besides showing the cash balance in the treasury at the end of 1914 to be $160,326.91, something like $18,000 more than was available at the close of 1913, indicate that less than one-half of one percent of the county taxes levied for 1914 remain uncollected.

The outstanding 1914 taxes amount to $23,297.44 but from that must be subtracted the amount of the exonerations which will be sought by nineteen of the county collectors. Few of the city collectors have yet presented their requests for exonerations so that the bulk of the money now is in.

The county receipts from all sources during 1914, but from that must be subtracted the amount of the exonerations which will be sought by nineteen of the county collectors. Few of the city collectors have yet presented their requests for exonerations so that the bulk of the money now is in.

County officials, however, estimated to $631,298.24, and the expenditures $470,946.03. The county tax duplicates amounted to $301,240.22; new charges levied after the lists had been prepared amounted to $1,926.75; the cash received from taxes was $257,134.56; abatements, $12,737.70; returns, $8,132; exonerations, thus far, $323.95; commissions, $10,575.20; total credits, $280,869.33; balance outstanding, $22,297.44.

COUNTY TAX RATE WILL REMAIN AT FOUR MILLS

a mill less than for several preceding years.

The Prison Inspectors' request for $26,000, a decrease of $1,000 over that of 1914, was allowed by the Commissioners. The Directors of the Poor asked for $58,000, just $2,000 less than was appropriated for 1914, and that, too, was granted. These departments both have surpluses in their treasuries and these amounts will be re-appropriated back to the county's general fund.

The requests of the prison board are covered in two general items, one of $11,070, for salaries of the prison employees, and the other, $14,930, for food, supplies and improvements.

The Directors of the Poor, despite the fact that they have cut down the amount of their annual requisition, are making provision for payment for a stone crusher and the construction of sewers at the almshouse and also for carrying out the "pauperism prevention" plan. Miss Rachel Staples is in charge of this work and will receive an annual salary of $900. The estimated cost of furnishing tobacco and matches to the male inmates of the almshouse has been fixed at $500.

The Poor Board's requests include the following items: Salaries of almshouse employees, $6,952; provisions, $4,450; supplies, $475; heat and light, $2,815; clothing and shoes, $1,900; furnishings and bedding, $200; hospital supplies, $1,160; repairs to building, $1,570; janitor expenses, $3,220; incidentals, $695; improvements, $2,495; outdoor relief, $15,688; social improvement, $9,850; workhouse, $1,810; directors' and officers' salaries, $4,820.

The county's annual budget, the law provides, must be prepared before February 1 of each year and it is the opinion of county officials that it will be ready by that time. The tax rate cannot be fixed before the budget is adopted.

RAIN WILL WEAKEN ICE

Only Local Movements Are Likely to Occur, However

Rain indicated for the Susquehanna valley for the next thirty-six hours, according to officials of the local office of the Weather Bureau, will cause a general melting of the ice in the stream and its tributaries, with local movements of ice probable. It will not be long, however, but it may render it unsafe for skating.

Unusually good ice for skating has been afforded on the river at this point for two weeks. A rise in temperature with a minimum of 40 degrees to-night will help with the destruction of the ice. The rain results from a depression central today in the Mississippi valley and will likely continue into to-morrow.

CAN'T PREVENT EXTRA AUDIT

County Commissioners Powerless to Interfere With Duplication of Work

Fred W. Huston, minority member of the Board of County Auditors, this afternoon formally notified the County Commissioners that the audit board will be ready to begin the examination of the 1914 records of County Treasurer A. H. Bailey. The commissioners took no action on the notice.

The commissioners are convinced, they said today, that they cannot prevent the auditors from going to work and checking the records despite the fact that County Controller Henry W. Gough already has done the work. County officials say the auditors can complete their work within two weeks but that there is no legal way to compel them to have a report ready in that time.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Chairman Burnett, of the House Immigration Committee, a White House caller today, predicted that if President Wilson vetoed the immigration bill the House would repeat it with seven or eight votes to spare.

Mr. Burnett had been informed there would be little trouble in repealing the bill over the President's veto in the Senate.

scheme at the meeting today although he asked his colleagues to support him in his plan to reappoint all present county employees.

Walters sought to have the appointments made by one sweeping resolution and offered that type of measure. It was decided to elect the members of the almshouse attaches by that method and to pass upon the Board's officers separately.

Thomas Manning, the Republican minority member, voted with his Democratic colleagues on all ballots and made each election unanimous. Mr. Manning did, however, raise the question of legality and necessity when the president called for nominations for "Agent to the Board," saying he thought the president of the Board should sign the relief order vouchers and supervise the granting of immediate and temporary relief.

Manning's anxiety about taking a possible illegal step were dispelled, however, by Solicitor Nead, who advised the directors to follow the precedent established many years ago by their predecessors. The board now and for many years has been working under the act of 1896 and hope was expressed among the members that the plan to have new laws governing its work passed by the Legislature will be carried out.

AT 97 HE WRITES TO TENER

West Chester Man Adds to His Collection of Governors' Autographs

Jesse C. Green, a respected citizen of West Chester, is 97 years old and still vigorous. Recently he sent the following letter to Governor Tener in his own handwriting, clear and legible:

"Esteemed Friend: It would give me great pleasure to receive an autograph letter from thee—all in thy own handwriting—to place in my collection of auto. letters of the Governors of Pennsylvania. This request comes from one who has passed his 97th birthday and very anxious to hear from thee. Trusting thee will pardon this intrusion, I am,

"Thine very truly, Jesse C. Green."

Governor Tener at once complied with the venerable gentleman's request, and sent him a congratulatory letter, and to-day in reply received the following:

"Dear Friend: I am very glad to have thy good letter, and it will give me great pleasure to see thee here at West Chester in the near future."

"With best wishes, sincerely thine, Jesse C. Green."

TENER WITHOUT A SECRETARY

Had Trouble Getting His Communications to House as Result

The Executive Department of the State was put to straits yesterday to communicate with the Legislature. It is customary for the Governor to send by his private secretary to the Senate and House, sundry communications at the opening session, but Private Secretary Gaither having resigned and being no longer in office, the duty of delivering the communications devolved on James C. Deininger, executive secretary, but Mr. Deininger, on his way to the capital yesterday morning, slipped on the ice and wrenched his ankle so badly that he could not walk, and was laid up at his home.

Upon the shoulders of the assistant executive clerk, Cassius A. Dunn, fell the responsibility of seeing that the executive communications were delivered to Senate and House, and Mr. Dunn ably performed the task. Mr. Deininger is reported to be somewhat better today, but he cannot walk.

SAY CHARGES ARE WITHDRAWN

Friends of Richwine and Shearer Assent the Men Are Vindicated

It was asserted here today that the warrants, charging conspiracy to defraud, recently served on A. Grant Richwine, president of the United Water & Guarantee Company, and W. Dale Shearer, both of this city, have been withdrawn. The charges grew out of a transaction in connection with the Reynoldsville Water Company which, it is held, was not understood by the trustee for the stockholders who brought the charge in Punxsutawney.

Mr. Shearer said this afternoon that he had every reason to believe that unofficial advices from Punxsutawney were correct as he did not believe there had been any ground for a suit. Friends here regard the turn affairs have taken as a vindication of the Harrisburg men.

Attorney General Pays Tribute to Dauphin County's Jurists As He Prepares to Retire

Evidently Attorney General John Bell does not contemplate remaining in Harrisburg in an official capacity, as was evidenced by his farewells to the court yesterday afternoon on the close of the argument in the coal tax cases. Addressing the court, Attorney General Bell said:

"As this is probably the last time that I shall appear officially before your Honors, I beg to take this opportunity to express to you my sense of genuine appreciation and grateful obligation for the uniform courtesy I have received from this Honorable Court. Some relations in life have this beauty, that after the happiness of having experienced them, the happiness of remembering them ever remains."

Want a Rate Increase

A number of traffic officers of railroads in Pennsylvania appeared before the Public Service Commission today, urging a favorable consideration of the petitions previously presented for authority to establish upon ten days' notice to the Commission of an increase of 5 per cent. in rates for the intrastate transportation of freight, upon which traffic permission to advance the rates in interstate traffic had been granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission upon ten days' notice to that commission.

A large number of tariffs will be required to provide for the rates in question, and the companies desire that the rates upon interstate and intrastate traffic be published in the same tariff and that the charges become effective on interstate and intrastate traffic simultaneously to avoid confusion between
