GERMAN SHIP USING HAYTIAN PORT AS NAVAL BASE

THE GERMAN CRUISER KARLSRUHE

The secret of the supply station of the elusive German cruiser Karlsruhe has at last been solved, as, according to despatches received from Port au Prince, she has been using Mole Saint Nicolas as a naval base. Officials of the Haytian government, of course, deny the report, but, according to reliable information, the German cruiser has been receiving coal and other supplies at Mole Saint Nicolas from steamships plying between that port and New York and New Orleans, calling for such provisions when necessary. The latest despatches state that the Karlsruhe was last seen headed toward Mole Saint Nicolas, presumably to obtain further supplies.

WANT SAFE MINE PILLARS

Commission Would Maintain Them Twelve Feet Thick
Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 9.—At a meeting of the State Mine Cave-in Commission here yesterday a recommendation was made that a vein eight feet thick should have a pillar, 12 feet thick for the protection of the public, thereby protecting the surface, the caving in of which has become a serious matter all through the anthracite coal region. Charles Euzian, chief of the United Mine Rescue Bureau at Washington, D. C., attended the session, as did also President W. J. Richards, of the Reading Coal & Iron Company. The Commission recommended the publication of its annual report in pamphlet form.

AFTER MYTHICAL $10,000,000

Baker Heirs in Mercer County Start New Fight for Estate
Sharon, Pa., Jan. 9.—Another fight is to be made in the courts by the Baker Heirs' Association, which has branches in Pennsylvania and the West, for a supposed estate valued at $10,000,000 in Philadelphia. Attorneys have been retained by the heirs who reside in Sharon, Wheatland, Grove City and other Mercer county towns to look out for their interests. The estate had its origin with Colonel Jacob Baker, who served in the Continental army. At the end of the war Baker was paid several thousand dollars in scrip, which he invested in land, at that time on the outskirts of Philadelphia. Colonel Baker was a bachelor and lived with his sister, Betty, who finally, against his wishes, married Joseph Schoenfeldt. Colonel Baker disinherited her, but died intestate.

HARRISBURG'S POPULAR DEPARTMENT STORE

Every Day in the Week--
Every Week in the Year

NOT a great many years ago, men who were styled "leading merchants," found themselves, twice a year for a period of two months or longer, in a business lull, usually following the holiday and spring seasons. 'Twas then they would settle down quietly, and allow the world to go by and folks would come and go, but rarely did they carry with them the merchandise desired, for always, nothing but "left overs" were there for selection.

In the Modern Store

Every day in the week, and every week in the year, finds something new, something interesting, to make a daily visit worth while. New merchandise is arriving constantly and especially at this season, are many economies for thrifty shoppers.

Attention is now diverted to the White Sale with its vast stocks of white muslinwear, white waists, embroidered flouncings, new white fabrics for spring, supplemented by price offerings, due mostly to the over-supply of raw cotton.

And we're ever trying to reach a higher standard of service, so essential in the selling and delivery of merchandise, as well as in the accommodation and comfort of patrons.

The Star-Independent Calendar for 1915 is another of the handsome series, featuring important local views, issued by this paper for many years. It is 11x14 inches in size and shows a picture, extraordinary for clearness and detail, of the "Old Capitol," built 1818 and destroyed by fire in 1897. It is in fine half-tone effect and will be appreciated for its historic value as well as for its beauty.

means that a new member has joined the charmed circle, supposedly the sole and exclusive property of the three newspapermen and the librettist mentioned above. Margaret Mayo is also the author of "Baby Mine," "Twin Beds" is now in the sixth month of its hilarious run at the Fulton Theatre, New York. The demand from "the road" to see "Twin Beds" is so insistent that Selwyn and company have been forced to recognize it and to this end are sending a company to the Majestic this afternoon and evening to present the laughing festival of the year.

Armgard Karl Graves
Armgard Karl Graves, author of "Secrets of the German War Office," and for twelve years a confidential agent for Emperor William, is making a lecture tour of some of the principal cities of the United States, and will appear at the Majestic Tuesday evening, at which time an opportunity will be afforded to hear at first hand some of the side facts relating to the great European struggle. Dr. Graves, during his long association with the German Secret Service, possessed himself with a fund of information, which makes the nucleus for one of the most gripping and interesting narratives which American have ever been afforded an opportunity to hear. In New York City, Dr. Graves' talks were always received with the greatest interest and his sensational remarks concerning the inner workings of military Europe have been inspiring and instructive.

There is absolutely nothing in Dr. Graves' lecture at which friends or subjects of any of the warring nations could take the slightest offense. His remarks are absolutely fair and impartial; they are based solely upon undisputable facts. Adv.

Ethel Barrymore

In the course of the theatrical season no announcement emanating from managerial headquarters is more welcome than that of the coming of Miss Ethel Barrymore. This most popular of American actresses is to be seen here in her new play, "The Shadow," by Dario Nicodemini and Michael Morton at the Majestic Theatre, for one performance, on Friday evening, her local engagement being one of a few preliminary to her New York mid-winter season at the Empire Theatre. "The Shadow," under its original French title of "L'Ombre," was written for Madame Rejane for production in Paris, but was obtained by Charles Frohman and receives its first performance in this country owing to the war conditions now prevailing in France. Dario Nicodemini is the author of several of Madame Rejane's earlier successes and Mr. Morton is most aptly recalled as the author of "The Yellow Ticket." Charles Frohman has surrounded Miss Barrymore with a distinguished company. Bruce McRae, recalled for his association with Miss Barrymore in many of her earlier successes, portrays the leading male role, and other characters are in the hands of Fraze Elliston, Ernest Lawford, Edward Fielding, Amy Veness and Vera Pole.

Chinese athletes; with Harry Fern and company in an excellent comedy called "Veterans," and a number of fine Keith acts sandwiched in between, will all leave that playhouse after to-day's performances. Chief of the attractions that are booked for the Orpheum next week is a delightful scenic and vocal and novelty known as Bert Lamont and his Cowboy Minstrels. This production brings with it a breath of Western atmosphere, employing a delightful stage setting representing the rugged West and the artists of the piece are at home in the regulation cowboy togs. Mr. Lamont possesses a tenor voice of remarkable sweetness and range and it is heard to advantage in some excellent quartet numbers. Seven artists comprise the company and they inject much comedy with their tuneful singing. The scenic equipment is pretentious. Another act of merit will be that of the Moneta Five, a quintet of musical and vocal artists, three women and two men. Originality is the keynote of their act, for it is widely different from any musical act of its kind. It is staged and costumed along modern lines and the personalities of the players are very pleasing indeed. Some other names of next week's bill will include Smith, Cook and Branden; The Gaudschmidts; "A Breath of Virginia;" Gillette and Monroe and one or two others. Adv.

AIRMAN LED RAID ON ZEPPELINS; HE IS ON WAR MISSION IN AMERICA

THE NEW SOPWITH BIPLANE AT BROOKLANDS

Herewith is shown Squadron Commander Spenser Grey, daring British airman, who is in America on a war mission. It was Commander Grey who commanded the little British squadron of three naval aeroplanes which on September 22 made a successful attack on the German airship sheds at Dusseldorf, destroying a Zeppelin. On October 8 Commander Grey flew 100 miles from Antwerp into the enemy's country at Cologne, where he dropped bombs on the railway station, which was damaged. Commander Grey, when seen in New York city, was unwilling to discuss his reported mission to this country, which is said to be the purchase of aeroplanes, although he displayed great interest in American devices. Commander Grey lies what is believed to be the fastest aeroplane in the British navy service, it is the racing Sopwith biplane, designed for the 1914 race for the Coupe internationale d'Aviation. This contest was abandoned owing to the war.
