MINIATURE GEYSER CAUSED BY GREAT WATER PRESSURE

When Laborer's Pick Hit Corporation Joint on Water Main This Morning the Liquid Was Forced to a Great Height—Street Cars Drenched

Residents of North Front street witnessed a miniature geyser this morning shortly after 7 o'clock when, through a break in the water main on this street, a stream of water was propelled into the air, higher than the tree tops, and continued spouting until the pressure on this section of the street was turned off.

According to a statement made by O. P. Baskins, superintendent of the borough water department, the break was caused by several laborers employed by the Harrisburg Gas Company. These men were engaged digging up the street at the place where the break occurred for the purpose of laying a service main to the gas main in the street. To reach the gas main the men were compelled to dig past the water main. When the latter was reached a blow of a pick broke off a corporation joint on the water main and the fun started.

The laborer scrambled out the pit and scurried for a dry place. The water pressure was so great that the wooden blocks began to heave to such a height that a west bound car, which came along a few minutes after the break, was unable to pass that point and had to go to Harrisburg on the eastbound track. Several eastbound cars were well drenched by the time they got past the seething water, but fortunately none of the passengers were deluged. The break was repaired by 9.30 this morning and the pressure was again turned on.

DEDICATION OF HYGIENIC SCHOOL BUILDING FRIDAY

Prof. L. E. McGinnes Presided—Addresses Were Made by W. F. Darby, Prof. R. M. McNeal, Dr. D. B. Traver and Prof. C. F. Howard

The exercises incident to the opening and dedication of the new Hygienic school building were held yesterday afternoon in that building and were presided over by Prof. L. E. McGinnes, superintendent of the borough schools.

W. F. Darby, president of the School Board, was introduced and delivered an instructive address to the parents and pupils present. Mr. Darby showed that he could lay aside his law books long enough to gather something instructive and entertaining in the way of information and statistics as regards the amount of money spent by many institutions on the education of colored people. He pointed out that the main object of education is to make good citizens.

Prof. R. M. McNeal, who was superintendent of schools of Dauphin county before Steelton was made an independent district, made the principal address of the afternoon. He told of the benefit of education in lifting mankind from the primitive type of being up to his present state. He said that the natural resources of the earth were just as great when man was created as they are now, but it required the application of brains to develop them. He said that education is a greater necessity now than it has ever been; that education of the present generation should be better than that of the past, for each generation starts with the accumulated knowledge of the past as a heritage. The only way the present generation can pay its debt is by providing that the following generation shall receive better facilities. No investment, said he, not even investing in stocks and bonds, pays as good returns as investing in education.

M. R. Alleman, representing Washington Camp No. 102, P. O. S. of A., in place of Frank B. Wickersham, as announced on the program, presented the school with a handsome large U. S. flag, to be used on the outside of the building, and a number of small U. S. flags, one of each to be used in each room of the building.

Mr. Alleman's address follows: "Mr. President, Superintendent, Board of Directors, Principal and Fellow Citizens: I have the pleasure in behalf of Washington Camp No. 102, P. O. S. of A., of Steelton, of presenting to the Hygienic school the symbol of the nation, 'Old Glory.' It has long floated over a peaceful nation, and may it continue so to do in the future. And whenever our flag is seen may it ever stir our hearts to greater patriotism."

This large flag is to be placed on the outside of the building, where all may see it. One of the small State flags, which are the first that have ever been presented to the Steelton public schools; together with one of these small American flags, are to be placed in each room of this new building. It is the wish of this order that the pupils of this school and of every school in the borough be taught to love and honor the flag of our nation."

Mr. McGinnes accepted the flags on behalf of the schools.

Dr. D. B. Traver, one of the members of the School Board that accepted the site for the original building, was present and was called upon to speak. The doctor finally consented and made an excellent, pithy speech, contrasting conditions of school life now with what they were when he was a boy in York county.

The school rooms and halls were decorated elaborately with bunting, flags and potted plants. The walls contained many beautiful pictures and much handiwork of the children of the respective rooms.

The afternoon program closed with an address by Prof. C. F. Howard, voicing the appreciation of the people of the sub-district to every one who had a hand in providing the building.

Miss Auro C. Ines, a teacher in the present building, gave an interesting history of the old Hygienic building, which has been replaced by the present handsome structure.

The following persons, according to her report, have at different times served as teachers in the old building: Miss Mary Alleman, M. Schad, Mr. Eschenour, C. F. Reehling, Miss Lucy Gause, John A. Sprengle, George Duerr, Miss Annie Kerr, Mr. Harris, Eli

"I want to ask the business men here present if this is not the first January in their recollection that did not bring a money stringency for the time being. I have asked bankers if that happened this year, and they say, 'No, it did not happen; it could not happen under the Federal reserve act.' We have emancipated the credits of this country."

LATE WAR NEWS SUMMARY

the Vistula, to the west of the Polish capital, heavy fighting has been resumed, and at the same time a new attack has been launched from the north. The Petrograd war office describes the fighting as "more and more desperate" and plans are under way in the advances at many points, but states that they were subsequently driven back again.

Coincident with the Russian sweep through the Austrian province of Bukovina, plans are under way in the adjacent country of Rumania for mobilization of the army. Unofficially it is stated that the entrance of Rumania into the war is expected.

A Geneva report says that an Austrian army has been trapped in Galicia by the Russians, who by an unexpected movement caught the Austrians at a disadvantage on difficult ground and placed them in a precarious position. There was no confirmation, however, of this report.

In contrast with the heavy fighting in the east the armies in the west, so far as was revealed, remained comparatively inactive.

KINGS ARE NOT TO REWARD U. S. RED CROSS AGENTS

Major Davis of American Body Asks Foreign Sovereigns Not to Give Presents or Decorations to Individuals in the Service.

General recognition of the fact that American contributions come from the whole people and not because of any one individual or class of officials is shown in the letter sent by Major General George W. Davis, U. S. A., retired, chairman of the central committee of the American Red Cross, to the American ambassadors to Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia and Austria-Hungary, and to the American minister at Bucharest, Roumania. The letter discourages the bestowing of valuable presents or decorations upon individuals representing the American Red Cross by foreign sovereigns or officials of foreign Red Cross Societies.

"Our organization is an impersonal one," the major writes, "and our efforts are always prompted by motives of sympathy for all who suffer, irrespective of nationality or creed. The individuals composing the organization and its officers are simply the agents of the National Society into which their personality is merged. Such assistance as may be rendered is accomplished by means of the contributions of the American people."

The Red Cross division of the Home and War Relief committee, which represents the citizens of this district, sent a box of Red Cross supplies and clothing to the Serbian Red Cross last night. There were bandages of all descriptions, mufflers, women's and children's garments and articles for all classes of sufferers in the stricken district.

Contributions of money and materials are desired by not only the Red Cross, but all the other divisions of the relief committee. They may be sent to headquarters, 7 South Front street, to either the general committee or any of the four sub-divisions.

GERMANS START ON NEW ATTEMPT TO ADVANCE ON WARSAW FROM THE NORTH

Petrograd via London, Jan. 8, 4.21 A. M.—Taking advantage of the increasing cold weather, which has frozen the marshy land adjacent to the numerous rivers of North Poland, the Germans are now initiating another attempt on Warsaw from the north, having contented themselves with fortifying and taking the defensive west of Warsaw along the banks of the Bzura, and southward between Skierniewice and Grodzisk, and further southward along the left bank of the Vistula, the Germans are now reported making in the north preparatory to an advance.

This assault is considered a sequel of the German demonstration of four weeks ago when, advancing from Mlawka, they were repulsed by Russian troops across the border. The previous advance obviously was made with the aim of acquainting themselves with the nature of the ground and the disposition of the Russian forces, as well as assisting General Mackensen's attack west of Warsaw by attracting Russian troops to the northward.

This time the German offensive is said to be en masse, including the army corps recently brought over from Belgium. It is reported here that on the Russian Christmas day heavy fighting occurred between Mlawka and Przasnysz.

The German intention seems to be to try and force a route through Przasnysz and Serock, thus making a considerably wider movement and swinging further to the eastward than in their previous attempt. In taking this direction it would be necessary for the Germans to cross the rivers Narew and Bug, the latter of which is not sufficiently frozen to provide safe transport for the heavy artillery.

The success of this invasion is here deemed impossible since the heavy Russian fortress of Nowo Georjewsk and several minor ones would obstruct the German advance if it succeeded in reaching so far.
