"Hobo—A professional tramp; one who spends his life travelling from place to place, esp. by stealing rides on trains, and begging for a living."—Webster's Dictionary. "Jeff" Davis, president of the International Itinerant Workers' Union, Hoboes of America, and known as the king of his clan, says the lexicographer is dead wrong. "I will not rest." he says, "until the dictionaries are changed and the libel on a worthy class of men is removed." Davis, born in Cheimati twenty-nine years ago, is the man who seeks to establish in New York a Hotel de Gluk to afford shelter and a base of operations to the honest bomeless men now in the metropolis. He pleads for his system that it gives the man out of work a chance to eat and keep himself warm without resort to bread lines, and that it averts his being classified as a vagrant and treated as such. "The hobo, as our organization understands him," he said, "does not believe that society owes him a living, but he does believe that society owes him a chance to care for himself," and his face lighted up humorously as he added.—"Why, the word 'hobo' means 'good man.' Consult your Latin lexicon. Homo means man and bonous means good. That's the ancestry of the word. A hobo is a good man. He will not steal and he will not beg except to ward off starvation. Sometimes he is forced by circumstances into bread lines and soup kitchens. He never resorts to them from choice. He believes in God, in country and in his coun-ry's flag. His is the rule of reason, not the rule of treason.
