

SKIN GOT DRY PIMPLES BROKE OUT

Could Not Sleep. Red and Itched. Eyebrows Fell Out. Used Cuticura. In One Month Skin Clear. Smooth Like Velvet. Eyebrows Grow.

333 Poplar St., Philadelphia, Pa.—My husband's skin got dry and pimples broke out. At night he could not sleep; it would burn awfully. The pimples were red and they itched. His skin began to peel off his face. It made all his eyebrows fall out.

"He got some soap and ointment but they did not help him. I got the Cuticura Soap and Ointment for him and he put them on. He would first wash his face with water as hot as he could stand for about fifteen minutes with a soft sponge and Cuticura Soap, then he put the Ointment on his face and left it on all night. In the morning he would wash it off with the Soap and then put the Ointment on again. He would do that four or five times a day. In one month his skin was clear and now it is smooth like velvet and his eyebrows have come in nicely." (Signed) Mrs. Robert Pabro, June 12, 1914.

Sample Each Free by Mail With 32-p. Skin Book on request. Address post-card to "Cuticura," Dept. T. Boston.

POINCARRE, UNDETERRED BY DANGER FROM GERMAN SHELLS, VISITS AT FRONT. Paris, Jan. 12, 11.55 P. M.—President Poincarre, on his latest trip to the front, from which he returned to-day, in addition to presenting the keys to the blue jackets there and visiting Hazebruek went to the British headquarters where he had a long conversation with Field Marshal Sir John French and the Prince of Wales and invested the British generals, Sir Douglas Haig and Smith Barrien, with the insignia of Grand Officers of the Legion of Honor. These were conferred at the special request of General Joffre, the French commander-in-chief. From British headquarters President Poincarre, undeterred by the serious risks from German shells, drove in an automobile to Arras. Accompanied by the prefect of Arras, the mayor and the bishop, President Poincarre visited every part of the ruined city, whose aspect of utter desolation deeply moved him. The President gazed for a long time at the chaos which everywhere met his eye. All about him were nothing but shapeless masses of stone and walls through which great holes had been torn by shells. In the midst of the ruins a small railroad has been built to take away the fallen blocks of stone from the streets. President Poincarre inquired if the inhabitants remaining in the city were getting sufficient food and before leaving spoke a few words of encouragement to a number of the citizens, mostly elderly people, who crept out of their cellars on hearing the President was there.
