MARRIED THIS MORNING IN CAPITOL BUILDING

Miss Ethel Eberlin, of Wilmot, becomes the bride of Howard Saker, of Dushore, while hundreds of inauspicious visitors look on.

An unusual wedding ceremony took place this morning when Miss Ethel Eberlin, of Wilmot, Pa., and Howard Saker, of Dushore, Pa., accompanied by the Rev. W. H. Fehr, of Dushore, went to the Capitol where the ceremony was performed in the ladies' reception room, the Rev. Mr. Fehr officiating.

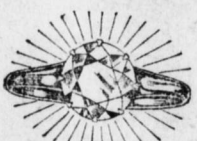

The bride party came to this city yesterday and plans were made for the wedding which took place at 10.30 o'clock this morning. The bride wore a gown of white satin, with trimmings of lace and pearls, and a veil caught up the valley lilies and carried a shower of valley lilies and bride roses.

There were no attendants but several hundred persons of the great crowd thronging the Capitol, witnessed the ceremony and congratulated the bride and bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Saker will pass several days in Harrisburg after which they will return to Dushore where they will reside.

Here's the Way You Can Grow A Diamond

You would like to have a Diamond worth $100 or more, but you feel you are not able right now to invest that amount. You can save up to buy the large stone and while you are saving have the pleasure of wearing a Diamond that is your own, fully paid for. For as little as $10.00 you can buy at Diener's a fine quality, perfectly cut Diamond. When you are ready to secure a larger stone, we will allow you the full amount paid for the smaller jewel. In a surprisingly short time you will be the owner of the size Diamond you desire, without having taxed your pocketbook in the least.

Now is a most advantageous time to invest in Diamonds as the war has stopped production and values are sure to increase for many years after peace is declared.

A GREAT MUSICIAN'S HAIR SECRET

It was a man musician to whom we were talking, but every woman will realize the value of his answer to our question, "What makes your hair so abundant and so lustrous?" "Just simple care, madam. I am as good as it is I am to my hands." It was just his way of saying, "I keep my hair clean. Since then we have found that regular care and perfect cleanliness means hair health and beauty. It is not advisable when shampooing to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of carbox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Adv.

To Keep Skin Healthy, Youthful, Wrinkleless

Now that the social season is here, be especially careful to keep your skin in fine condition. You know how conspicuous complexion defects appear under the bright light of the drawing or ball room. Also how very evident are some makeup when similarly illuminated. I have myself discarded cosmetics entirely, using a process which gives far better results, and which leaves no trace on the skin. At night I smear on a thin coat of ordinary mercurized wax, washing it off next morning. This gradually absorbs the devitalized particles of surface skin; just as gradually the more youthful skin beneath comes forth, providing a complexion as clear, smooth and delicately tinted as a young girl's. Get an ounce of mercurized wax at your druggist's and try this remarkable treatment. Remember, too, that wrinkles, even the finer ones, are not easily concealed in a brilliantly lighted room. You can quickly obliterate these hateful marks by bathing your face in a solution of powdered squalite, 1 oz. dissolved in witch hazel, 1/2 pt. and your face won't look stickily as after using pastes.—Aunt Sally in Women's Realm.—Adv.

CLAIMS REWARD FOR HOHL

Sister-in-Law of Sisin Bandit Says She Gave Arrest Tip

Altoona, Pa., Jan. 19.—Mrs. Laura Coffee, of Salem, Ohio, sister-in-law of Frank G. Hohl, the bank bandit killed in a pistol duel in Cincinnati recently, yesterday claimed the reward of $500 offered by the county for the arrest of Hohl after the Union bank was held up here. She says that had she not given the police a tip Hohl would never have been captured.

Chief of Police Cook and Policeman Frank Babel, of Salem, have also claimed the reward, but Mrs. Coffee says the Ohio law prohibits them from accepting it. The court has ordered the reward to be held six months.

SAYS THE PEOPLE ARE 'OVER-LAWED'

velopment," he said, "has now the sacred opportunity of giving the State a great moral uplift."

The new Executive made a plea for good roads. He said it was a mistake for the State to have taken over the 9,000 miles of highway after the defeat of the fifty million dollar bond issue four years ago as the current revenue will not properly care for them. Revenue must be found, he added, for the construction of a few great centers of population. He made a number of suggestions for bettering the roads and said that roads should cost less than in the past. He urged the abolition of toll roads.

Mr. Brumbaugh declared he would approve a "sane and practical" State civil service law.

Enlarged School Fund Needed

With regard to education, Governor Brumbaugh said that more attention must be given to vocational education; agriculture should receive more consideration in the schools; facilities for training teachers should be improved; better supervision provided and higher education encouraged. A greatly enlarged permanent school fund is needed, he said.

The resolution proposing a constitutional amendment providing for women's suffrage should be passed by the Legislature, the Governor said, so as to allow the voters to determine whether women should vote.

There is neither sense nor justice in unstudied appropriations to our many charitable institutions and agencies," said the Governor. He advocated more careful consideration of this subject and added that the bounty of the State, "It should not again occur that the obligation of lessening this bounty should be placed upon the executive," the Governor added.

Workmen's Compensation Law
The Governor favored a "fair and certain" workmen's compensation law and also urged that the present liability law be amended to accord with a workmen's compensation law.

The child labor laws of the State, Dr. Brumbaugh said, are inadequate and unsatisfactory. No child under 16 should be allowed to work, he said, and continuation schools should be maintained in industrial centers.

The Governor urged better housing conditions, and on the question of farming said that the State should produce more than it consumes. He suggested a reorganization of the State's departments and bureaus which have to do with matters pertaining to agriculture so as to separate the teaching from the administrative functions.

Municipal Regulation

On municipal regulation the Governor favored legislation which will give large cities more freedom of opportunity to develop. State laws should not hinder, but help the cities.

He advocated conservation of the natural resources of the State and in this connection said that the people ought to share in the marketing of the State's natural assets and that "a reasonable tax upon our great natural resources as they flow to our markets both fair and wise."

The full text of Governor Brumbaugh's address is printed on the second page of this issue of the Star-Independent.

FISHES WITH ITS WINGS.

The Cassowary Has a Way of Its Own For Capturing Its Prey.

Habits of the cassowary and of our native fish hawk are generally known. Their methods of taking fish are very much like those of birds of prey. But the cassowary fishes according to a method of its own. A well known naturalist witnessed its operations on a river in the island of New Britain.

He saw a cassowary come down to the water's edge and stand for some minutes apparently watching the water carefully. It then stepped into the river where it was about three feet deep and, partially squatting down, spread its wings out, submerging them, the feathers being spread and ruffled.

The bird remained motionless and kept its eyes closed as if in sleep. It remained in this position for a quarter of an hour, when, suddenly closing its wings and straightening its feathers, it stepped out on the bank. Here it shook itself several times, whereupon a quantity of small fishes fell out of its wings and from amid its feathers. These the bird immediately picked up and swallowed.

The fishes had evidently mistaken the feathers for a kind of weed that grows in the water along the banks of the river in this island and which much resemble the feathers of the cassowary. The smaller fishes hide in these weeds to avoid the larger ones that prey on them.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Why the Earth Cannot Explode

The theory is frequently advanced that plants and even suns sometimes explode and that the earth may some day blow up like a bombshell. No celestial body the size of the earth could possibly explode. If the entire molten interior of our globe could be replaced with nitroglycerin and detonated the explosion would not lift the earth's crust. In other words, if we assume that the crust of the earth is from fifty to a hundred miles in thickness it would require something much more powerful than even nitroglycerin to burst the shell. It is necessary only to do a little figuring to see that the pressure of the earth's crust at a depth of from fifty to a hundred miles far exceeds the pressure exerted by the most powerful high explosive.—Hudson Maxim.

Isn't a Loaf Always Bread?

"How is Robert getting on at college?" he asked the minister, who was being entertained at dinner. "Splendidly," said the proud father, who then went on to tell of his son's various social, athletic and scholastic successes, and the minister said it was a fine thing to be college bred.

That evening little James, who had been an interested listener, said, "Papa, what did Mr. Brown mean by 'college bred'?" "Oh, that," said papa, who had been looking over his son's bills, "is a four years' loaf."—Ladies' Home Journal.

HOW FRENCH LADIES REMOVE SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

An international authority whose advice on health and beauty is frequently printed in the leading publications of nearly every country says that while the majority of French ladies are subject to superfluous hair, their affliction is rarely evident because just as soon as the objectionable growth appears they destroy it at once by applying a simple paste made by mixing a few drops of water with a little sulfate depilatory. Apply with a knife blade. Leave it on for about two minutes then remove the paste with the back of the knife when you will find the hair has entirely disappeared. If your depilatory hasn't suitable depilatory, which is essentially a French product, it can be quickly prepared for you by mixing 2 1/2 drops sulfate depilatory with 2 1/2 drops water and 1 drop of perfume. The almost total absence of superfluous hair from the faces throughout France, England, Italy and Germany is attributed to the occasional use of this inexpensive and harmless sulfate depilatory as prepared from the above formula.

Owing to the numerous requests to stock this formula arrangements have been made with G. A. George to keep in stock a liberal supply of Sulfate Depilatory prepared according to the original French formula, put up complete and ready for use.—Adv.
