SENDING A KITCHEN TO FAIR Model Designed to Illustrate Principles of Culinary Arrangement Will Interest Housewives at Show

Washington, Jan. 19.--A complete kitchen with a real stove, refrigerator, sink, work table and other necessities is being sent by the Department of Agriculture to San Francisco for the fair. This kitchen is not a "model" in the sense that every housewife is to try to make hers as nearly like it as possible, but is rather a composite of many possible model kitchens which is designed to illustrate various essential principles of convenient kitchen arrangement. The American housewife, for whose special benefit the model has been constructed, must judge from it what appliances and improvements in arrangement will best fit her peculiar household needs--and those of her purse.

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous Common Sense Advice by a Distinguished Specialist

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering the proper action of the organs of the stomach, and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary medicines and medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized, and the best thing for this purpose is a teaspoonful of bluerated magnesia, a simple antacid, taken in a little warm water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation from which acidity is developed. Foods which ordinarily cause distress may be eaten with impunity if the meal is followed with a little bluerated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist, and should always be kept handy. LIEUT. GOV. M'CCLAIN'S ADDRESS TO THE SENATE

In assuming the office of Lieutenant Governor, Frank B. McClain made a long address to the Senate. He said that the Legislature should not treat the party platform of 1914 as if it were a series of "New Year resolutions."

Amusing to Hear People Talk

"It is positively amusing to hear some people who ought to know better, but don't, talk of how the State should appropriate millions for this and millions for that, as if the public treasury was an inexhaustible source of money through which gold could be practically obtained. We cannot spend what we do not have, and certainly no increase in appropriations can be made over the appropriations of 1913.

Against Probing Business

"Let us keep out of the investigation business. The appointment of commissions to peer into this and smell into that, who make a junket of their work and then submit a report which nobody reads and presents the state with a bill running high up into the thousands of dollars, is the price of their useless information.

No Need to Intolerant Clamor

"Let us steer clear of 'half baked' theories in legislation, remembering how hard it is to repeal an act of assembly even after its inefficiency has been conclusively demonstrated. As an example let me cite the non-partisan election of judges.

"French Models" Bernard and Zeiler's fine combination of merry makers are coming to the Majestic Friday matinee and night and everything points to one of the most satisfactory burlesques shows this season. Frank Burt, author of this new musical-burlesque, has constructed much that is original, catchy and tuneful, and there are forty people in the cast. The chorus, which is, of course, indispensable in the presentation of burlesque, is composed of a score of youthful misses who can sing and dance as well as appear attractive. The production of this elaborate extravaganza and burlesque requires much in the way of stage setting and costumes, and the management has been careful in supplying this.

At the Orpheum The Courtney Sisters are the easy winners of this week's bill at the Orpheum. At least this was the verdict of yesterday's audiences, who applauded the Orpheum's inaugural bill throughout, but who, when the Courtney Sisters came on with their clever singing and dancing, seemed to call on their reserve amount of applause and sent the girls off with an hurrah finish. The Courtney Sisters received a big reception when they first came before the footlights and after they had sang their entire repertoire, the audience still clamored for more and the girls had to apologize by saying that they had no more. The audiences still applauded, but in vain. So much for the success of the Courtney Sisters on the new vaudeville bill. Flo Irwin, the eminent comedy star, and sister of Flo Irwin, is also making her first vaudeville appearance in Harrisburg this week.

At the Colonial Beautiful poses after master paintings are being presented by Burdella Patterson, as the artistic attraction of the new bill at the Colonial. "Dina" and "Psyche Before Nature's Mirror" are some of the most beautiful but there are a dozen or more and each of them is excellent. Browning and Dean, monarchs of blackface comedy; Lancaster and Small, presenting a rich comedy, "A Stormy Hour"; and Lucille Tilton in splendid impersonations, complete the very clever bill. "The Great Secret," a three-part masterpiece in the way of moving pictures, will likely attract lovers of that type of entertainment. Adv.
