THE SONGS OF OTHER DAYS

Selected By J. HOWARD WERT

No. 320. "A Pretty Girl" From the Opera "Wang," by J. Cheever Goodwin. A pretty girl, a Summer's night, A moon serenely mellow, And fond caress, a loving vow, A kiss, and all is well, oh; Again the girl—another night Same moon—so far all's well, oh! But if we took—another look— We'd see another fellow.

"Bill's in Trouble" I've got a letter, parson, from my son way out West, An' my ol' heart is heavy as an anvil in my breast, To think the boy whose futur' I had once so proudly planned Should wander from the path o' right an' come to such an end! I told him when he left us only three short years ago He'd find himself a-plowin' in a mighty crooked row— He'd miss his father's counsel, an' his mother's prayers, too, But he said the farm was hateful, an' he guess'd he'd have to go.

Origin of the Periwig The periwig, which played so important a part in the toilet of a man of fashion during part of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, owed its origin to Louis XIV. of France. When a little boy (he succeeded to the throne at five years of age) he possessed a profusion of remarkably beautiful waving hair which fell in clustering curls over his shoulders. The courtiers imitated the boy king by having heads of false hair to imitate his natural locks, and when Louis grew up he adopted the periwig himself. During the reign of William and Mary periwigs were worn in exaggerated dimensions, and the beaux used to comb their wigs in public with special combs of ivory and tortoise shell, which became at last quite indispensable to these fine gentlemen.

Do You Wear One? One thing you can wear year in and year out, that never grows monotonous, that never is unbecoming, that people are always glad to see, that never has to be made over or trimmed or sent to the cleaner's, is a smile.—Florida Times-Union. IT PAYS TO USE STAR-INDEPENDENT WANT ADS.

VICTORIA "WHEN LONDON SLEEPS" Special To-day "RESTITUTION," IN TWO REELS

JOBS FOR THE JOBLESS (The following is a letter written to and published in the New York "World.") I note in to-day's "World" that there are 200,000 persons out of work here in New York. Some of these must be unmarried, in sound health and of good moral character, and I have excellent jobs for as many of these as will apply. I offer a life job, with a pension if disabled in my service, with the added privilege of retiring on pay after thirty years' service. Every man who works for me is supplied free with three new suits of clothes, three hats, an overcoat and a slicker, two pairs of shoes, plenty of new underclothes and socks, a fur coat and cap if I have to put him to work in a cold climate; two flannel shirts, toilet articles, blankets and towels. He gets from me three square meals every day in the year and a good bed at night. I provide him with the services of a physician and dentist without charge, and I have an up-to-date hospital in case he is ill enough to need it. In case he wishes to improve his education, I will put him at school where he can go as high as his abilities warrant or his ambition dictates. If he wants to learn a trade, I will turn him into a first-class machinist or an electrician or any of a dozen other callings, paying him while he learns. There are no rainy days in my business; pay goes on all the time, and my men are not docked when they are sick. On the other hand, I give them a regular vacation, also with pay. In the summer I send them on camping trips, and if the neighborhood where they are working is a game country any one of my men can get my permission to go off on a hunting trip with his chums. There are also branches of my service where the men get a chance to travel and see the world. In addition to all these privileges, I start my men with $13.20 a month, practically every penny of which is saved by those who wish to. There is ample opportunity for anybody to earn extra pay, but with industry and ability a man may work himself up into jobs which pay all the way from $50 to $100 a month, with everything free as above. For those who would like to enter my employ on the above terms I have offices at Nos. 25 Third avenue and 749 Sixth avenue, Manhattan, and 363 Fulton street, Brooklyn, for those who like to stay on shore; and at Nos. 153 West Twenty-third street, 117 East Twenty-fourth street and 24 East Twenty-third street, Manhattan, and the Navy Yard, Brooklyn, for men who want work on shipboard. I need a lot of men in my army and navy and would be glad to hear from the jobless men who really want to work. UNCLE SAM. Harrisburg, Jan. 13.
