SPORTSMEN HOLD MEETING

At the conference of the Pennsylvania sportsmen last night, at which were present representatives of the Wild Life League, State Sportsmen's Association and the United Sportsmen, a legislative program was agreed upon which includes immediate appropriation of the resident hunters' license fund for the purpose for which it was established; seasons for small game to open uniformly on November 1, and close November 30; deer season from November 26 and close December 10; bear season from November 1 to December 10, with reductions on all bag limits except the daily limit on grouse and woodcock; prevention of trapping of bear; forbidding sale of squirrels and rabbits killed within the State; increase of State game protectors to 50; new bounty law to prevent frauds and to do away with necessity for paying fees for affidavits; law permitting game commission to establish propagating centers on leased land; extension of the act of 1913 to permit residents of counties to establish by petition closed territory on game birds for a period of years; all fines and forfeitures for violations of game laws to go to game protection and game propagation; two year close season on Hungarian quail and Mongolian pheasants and making raccoon season one month later than at present. HOW TO START A CANCER

Some Very Common Practices It Would Be Well to Avoid

An English scientist, interested in the attempts to conquer cancer, suggests the following methods by which a cancer may be produced: "It is not easy to produce a cancer artificially; nevertheless, if you try enough you will succeed sometimes. Encourage your patients to smoke clay pipes with the varnished ends broken off or to retain sharp edged stumps of teeth in their jaws, and you may fairly expect now and then to witness the de novo production of cancer. The same end may be attained with yet more certainty should you have it in your power to select cases for the experiment in which there already exists some local evidence of chronic irritation. For instance, you may tell a patient who has a little wart or an irritable crack in his lip that he may go on smoking and amuse himself by picking off the crust whenever he has a little spare time and come to you again in six months. This is a very certain method. In another instance you may assure a man with a little pimple near the angle of the eye that it is of no consequence, not worth an operation, and I advise him to apply cold cream. In a year or two's time he will probably be able to show you a very interesting example of rodent ulcer (a form of so-called skin cancer). It is obvious that the Englishman who suggests these methods does not offer them in the hope that they will be followed, but quite the contrary. He might have added that, although "it is not easy to produce cancer artificially," it is still less easy to cure it, artificially or otherwise. Indeed, the fight against cancer has been one of the least successful in the whole category of medical battles. It is also one of the oldest.—Los Angeles Times.

CANVASS OF CITY PLANNED TO GET WAR RELIEF FUNDS

More Than a Thousand Citizens Will Solicit Contributions From House to House, Beginning Work Next Monday

For the purpose of raising sufficient funds to assure the continuance of the double-working charity effected by the Home and War Relief Committee, more than a thousand generous-spirited business men and women of the city will begin a house-to-house canvass of the city next Monday. To accomplish this result the city has been divided into seven zones, by the Ways and Means committee, in charge of the canvass. In charge of each zone will be what is known as a "Neighborhood Executive Committee," which in turn will sub-divide the work into "Neighboring committees," which will make the canvass. Seven districts have been apportioned as follows:

Neighborhood Executive Committees Downtown District—Chestnut street to southern city limits, from the river to the Pennsylvania railroad above Paxton street and below Paxton street from the river to Nineteenth street—M. H. Taylor, C. M. Kaltwasser and George C. Young.

Commercial District—Railroad to river, Chestnut to Walnut—William Jennings, J. W. Bowman and David Kaufman.

Central District, Western Division—Walnut to Rely, Fourth and Sixth streets to river—A. D. Bacon, Robert W. Hoy and W. H. Musser.

Central District, Eastern Division—Walnut to Rely, Fourth and Sixth streets to Cameron street—E. Moelein, Frank C. Sites and W. E. Orth.

Uptown District, Western Division—River to Third, Rely to city limits—Paul Johnston, Horace Whitman, J. P. McCullough and B. F. Blough.

Uptown District, Eastern Division—Third street eastward to city limits, Rely street northward to city limits—R. A. Enders, B. F. Umberger and Charles W. Burnett.

Hill District—Covering entire Hill east of Cameron street—A. K. Thomas, George A. Shreiner and W. G. Rauch.

In charge of this work on headquarters is the Ways and Means committee, composed of W. M. Donaldson, chairman; Spencer C. Gilbert, the Right Rev. M. M. Hassett, A. C. Stamm and Benjamin Strouse.

The solicitors will have subscription cards, to which contributors may pledge stated amounts each week or month, or get a receipt for a cash contribution. No amount is too small.

All money contributed works a twofold charity; it is spent in part with merchants in this city for supplies for the making up of materials by local workers. The remainder is used entirely to pay the needy women of the city for their efforts in transforming the materials into warm garments for the war sufferers. It is a double-charity work, the greater portion of which effects a relief of the conditions of the people in want at home.

BUILDER OF TABERNACLE HITS THE SAWDUST TRAIL

Contractor Baum Among the Thirty-Six Who Responded to the Call of Evangelist Miller at Mechanicsburg Last Night

Mechanicsburg, Jan. 21.—Last evening there were reservations in the tabernacle for three visiting bodies, the business girls of the town, the Men's Bible class of the Church of God, and a delegation from Eberly's Mills. The girls of the shirt factory presented Evangelist Miller and his party with a vase of carnations.

The opening prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Huggins, of Eberly's Mills. By request the choir sang "Hail Immanuel," and just before the sermon, with the tabernacle in darkness, except for a spotlight thrown upon the open Bible upon the pulpit, the choir sang softly, "Lead Kindly Light."

Mr. Miller preached on Revelation, 3:20: "Behold, I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear my voice, he will come into him, and will stay with him, and he with me." He said in part: "This text, the words of Jesus, indicates that there was a lack in the church then. There is the same lack in the church now. The church does not lack numbers, or money, or social standing, but is filled with selfishness, with Christ outside instead of inside. Jesus wants to have a place, the chief place, in your heart. You may say, 'I have never heard Him knocking at my heart; but there are many evidences of His knocking. One is that you are here to-night. You long for Him; you cannot be happy without Him; only heaven can satisfy you. It is the easiest thing in all the world to be a Christian. Just step to the door, and say, 'Come in, and He'll come in and you'll be a Christian. It would not be courteous to just call 'door' to the friend who knocks at the door of your name. It is not courteous just to call to Him, 'come in' and make no move. Go and open the door that's when you surrender your will."

"He knocks at your heart in the institutions of Christianity, in the power of the word of God. Every time you hear the church bell ring, every time you see you are here to-night, every sermon you hear sung, every knock at the door of your heart. The sight of this tabernacle springing up was Jesus knocking at your hearts. What more could God do to break the heart of the world and bring them back, than give His Son? Yet men have been walking over the cross for 2,000 years. You're doing a worse thing than piercing His heart with a spear when you don't open your heart. The act of the soldier dying on the battlefield, who rushed himself to shoot dead the enemy who had just given him a drink of water from his own canteen, was an act of nobility compared with you, barring your heart against Jesus Christ, who has made you what you are. This will be the last call for some one to-night. If you refuse now to exercise the privilege of opening the door, your cry through all eternity will be 'O, if I only had!' He won't break into your heart. If I knocked at your door over and over again, and you would not open, I would at last turn my back and go, and that's what He will do some day. But to-night He is still knocking. Won't you let Him in?"

During the singing of "There's a Stranger at the Door" and other invitation hymns thirty-six persons came forward. Among the number were two elderly men, a number of younger men and women and some children. One of the men was H. A. Baum, the contractor, who superintended the building of the tabernacle. His Christian wife, a member of the choir, came down and joined him.

This afternoon was "Mothers' Day" at the tabernacle. This evening the G. A. R., the Woman's Relief Corps and delegations from New Kingsport, Shiremanstown and West Fairview will attend. Interesting and instructive Bible readings are conducted by Mrs. Bowman each afternoon in the tabernacle.

NOBEL PEACE PRIZE MONEY WILL RETURN TO ROOSEVELT

Washington, Jan. 21.—The Nobel Peace Prize of $40,000, awarded to President Roosevelt in 1906 for his services in bringing about peace between Russia and Japan and which he turned over to a board of trustees, the accrued income from the original fund and such additions as might be made to be applied in the promotion of industrial peace, is to be returned to Mr. Roosevelt.

Senator Lodge has the draft of a bill framed by A. L. Thurman, solicitor of the Department of Commerce, providing for the dissolution of the "Foundation for the Promotion of Industrial Peace and Other Purposes," which he will introduce immediately. There have been no additions to the fund and Mr. Roosevelt agrees that inasmuch as "the talent has been hidden in a napkin for eight years" the suggestion to dissolve the foundation is entirely proper. Mr. Roosevelt accepts the proposal that he administer the fund himself.

In 1906 Congress authorized the creation of a board of trustees, now composed of Chief Justice White, Seth Low, John Mitchell, Secretary Houston and Marvin Hughitt, to administer the fund and such additions as might be made to it. No additions to the original fund have come to the foundation and accrued income from the original fund has been found wholly insufficient to enable the Peace Committee to carry out the purposes of the foundation. For this reason the trustees declare that it was best to have the foundation dissolved and the money returned to Mr. Roosevelt or disposed of with his approval.

DROVE CAR IN FIRING ZONE TAXI RIDDLED WITH BULLETS

Paris, Jan. 21.—Among the taxicabs stationed on the boulevards is one whose coach work is riddled with bullet holes, which the driver, Jules Germain, carefully refrains from patching. He shows an extract from an official journal, dated in September, where he is mentioned in dispatches for an act of unusual courage.

When General Manoury determined to summon reserves for the desperate effort which finally broke Von Kluk's army at the battle on the Ourcq he requisitioned 1,500 Paris taxicabs, where-in were transported all available reserves from Versailles to the firing line. Although German was not in war service, owing to recent illness, his taxi was among the number called, and he conveyed as many as 11 soldiers on a single trip to points menaced.

After his last journey, on September 11, Germain was ordered to take to a hospital wounded French soldiers lying in an exposed position between French and German batteries. Amid a storm of shell, fire and mitrailleuse bullets he drove his machine to the point indicated, and assisted the wounded to enter. Returning by a different route, he received the fire of French riflemen without injury to himself or his passengers.
