MOTHERS GREET EACH OTHER AS THEY CROWD TABERNACLE

Occasion Planned for Yesterday Afternoon Most Successfully Carried Out—Sixteen Women Over 80 Years Old Were Among Audience

Mechanicsburg, Jan. 22.—Yesterday afternoon was Mothers' Day at the tabernacle and much prominence was given the occasion. The committee of the day, with the Rev. George Fulton, chairman, had planned extensively and successfully for the occasion. There were very many and very handsome potted plants and many carnations used in decorating the tabernacle. Easy chairs were provided for the aged and infirm and they were brought from and returned to their homes in automobiles.

The service of the afternoon was informal. Mr. Miller announced that, contrary to the usual custom, the babies would not be taken to the nursery, but mothers should keep their babies with them during this service.

The service opened with a song service by the congregation, conducted by Prof. Hohgatt. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Fulton. This was followed by a short talk by Mr. Miller, when he said he wanted the mothers to get acquainted with each other and they should all talk to those near them and, if any had their knitting with them, they would knit. After a short time spent socially, Mr. Miller said he wished to ask some questions. First was the native State of the mothers present. In response it was learned that the large majority were Pennsylvanians. The following States were represented: Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Delaware, New York, Missouri, West Virginia and Indiana. With the announcement of the last named applause that nearly shook the tabernacle came from the evangelistic party and was taken up by the congregation. There was one representative from Denmark and two from England.

The next question from Mr. Miller was the ages of some of the mothers present. He said he would ask only the ones who were nearest the front, as he feared the younger ones further back would not want to tell. Of the mothers who were asked and told their ages, there were sixteen over 80, three 86, one 88 and one 91. The two oldest were given seats of honor on the platform, escorted by the ushers and pastors, and were presented with clusters of carnations. A solo was sung by Miss Cree and a duet by Miss Cree and Prof. Hohgatt.

Mr. Miller then gave a short talk on "Christianity in the Home." He emphasized the necessity of the mother's Christian nurture and training of her children. Following Mr. Miller's address he requested the old mothers to suggest some of the old old hymns they sang when they were young. Among the hymns sung were "Oh, When Shall I See Jesus?" "When I Can Read My Bible Clear," "The Old Time Religion," "A Charge to Keep I Have," "Good News Gone to Canaan." The pastors led this singing. Decision cards were distributed to the congregation and several requests for prayer were received. The services closed with prayer and benediction by the Rev. Mr. Reih.

When the evening service began the building was filled, a large number of persons standing. An expected delegation from Harrisburg failed to arrive, but the members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. of Mechanicsburg were present. A crowd from New Kingstown was in attendance, as well as a large party from Shiremanstown.

As usual, the choir sang a number of selections. In response to the query what hymn they preferred, Shiremanstown asked for "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and New Kingstown for "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The choir sang these hymns. Then, while Prof. Hohgatt used a small United States flag as a baton and three large flags floated at the rear of the choir, all in the house rose and sang in honor of the veterans "The Red, White and Blue." For a while the electric lights were out, but the music continued. Prof. Hohgatt played a trombone solo. The Rev. C. F. Bausch offered an earnest prayer. Prof. Hohgatt sang "The Great Judgment Morning."

Mr. Miller's text is found in the 27th verse of the 9th chapter of Hebrews: "It is appointed unto men once to die, but after that the judgment." Mr. Miller said that, if part of the text is true, all is true. If any of the Bible is a lie, all is a lie, and if part is true, all is true. No one can deny that it is appointed unto men to die and it must then be admitted that the judgment will follow. It is not death that men fear, it is the judgment which follows. Skeptics, unitarians, universalists, infidels, no matter what they say when in health, when they come down to death realize that a judgment awaits them. Even the devil believes in hell and judgment. Everything written in the book which will be read at the judgment will be a true record of our deeds; we will remember them. When men write biographies of men they usually forget to mention the bad, but enumerate all the good. God writes it all.

"Some one has remarked that some of the men in the Bible were pretty bad, that Noah got drunk. They were like men nowadays, they sinned, and God did not do like human biographers, omit the bad, God wrote it down. Noah got drunk, and God wrote it down. Achan stole some gold, and God wrote it down." The speaker here enumerated several more instances. "Our evil deeds are recorded in the judgment book. No one knows how soon he will be called into judgment. We can offer no excuse that is valid in the sight of God, for not seeing salvation. Some people say their business occupies their time and they have no time to become Christians. That is not true, we must place God first. It is right to attend to one's business. It is no crime to be rich. Abraham was rich. But he did not neglect salvation nor the service of God."

The speaker was heard with close attention, as he described with feeling death scenes, where the person about to die was not ready for the judgment day. Mr. Miller asked whether infidelity or skepticism has ever made any one a better man. He asked men who have been saved, by religion, from an evil life, to rise. After they had been seated, he asked all to rise who have been saved from an evil life by skepticism or infidelity. None rose. The sermon was replete with proofs of a coming judgment, for which all unsaved were urged to prepare. Mr. Miller cited towns against which judgment had been proscribed, and to which judgment came. The sermon was powerful and the spirit of God was present. At the conclusion of the sermon, nineteen accepted Christ. The service this evening will begin at 7.15, instead of 7.30. It will be High school night. To-morrow evening will be family night, when the middle block will be reserved for families. Each family shall set together.
