ARRESTED HERE FOR MURDER OF WOMAN

Postoffice began, because the police believed that he would turn up at the general delivery window sooner or later for an answer to his letter. In the meantime County Detective Tepel and other policemen went to various boarding houses in the city but failed in that way to find the pair.

tered and asked for a letter. He was arrested without trouble and gave the desired information, almost immediately, about the whereabouts of his wife. Detective Joseph Ibach, while visit-ernoon at 4 o'clock, came across some articles of jewelry which have since been identified as having been worn by the aged woman who was murdered. with a big diamond, a watch and a ring. The detective made a drawing of the pin and left the pin at the pawa shop. Later the design was recognized by a Williamsport detective and the jewelry was recovered. It is said that the person who pawned the jewelry

The police say that Van Horn, in speaking of the crime, said he had some words with his mother-in-law and with Anna, his wife, and the thought of the robbery then came into his mind, He did not tell his wife where he got the money, he said, but she consented to leave Williamsport with him. They came to Harrisburg by way of Shamokin, he said.

For one charged with so grave an offense Van Horn seemed but little colunteered some information, all in au even tone of voice and without a tremor. He is of slight build, with a rather large head and big, staring eyes. He still is wearing clothing he was al-One Gasoline Engine and Chopper complete, only leged to have worn when he left Wil-His departure from that city was so sudden that he took no exra clothing with him.
