"I gave a package of Grape-Nuts to a neighbor whose 3-year-old child was a weazened little thing, ill half the time. The little tot ate the Grape-Nuts and tream greedily and the mother continued the good work, and it was not long before a truly wonderful change manifested itself in the child's face and body. The results were remarkable, even for Grape-Nuts.

"Both husband and I use Grape-Nuts every day and keep strong and well and have three of the finest, healthiest boys you can find in a day's march."

Many mothers instead of destroying the children's stomachs with candy and cake give the youngsters a handful of Grape-Nuts when they are begging for something in the way of sweets. The result is soon shown in greatly increased health, strength and mental activity. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

CREAT SUNDAY CROWDS AT MECHANICSBURG MEETINGS

Evangelist Miller Holds "Family Night," Talked on the Liquor Question Yesterday Afternoon and Delivered Sermon on "Hell"

Mechanicsburg, Jan. 25.—Saturday evening was "Family Night" at the tabernacle. The central section of seats was reserved for families sitting together. The "booster chorus" again occupied the platform, and the first half hour was devoted to songs by them. Following this, the opening prayer was made by the Rev. A. P. Stover, of Carlisle. Mr. Miller them asked the families of various numbers of children to rise. The largest number of children was ix, four families, the Merediths, the Snellbakers, the Melanes and the Handshews, each having that number of children present. Mr. Miller announced that all of the Meredith children have been converted since the tabernacle meetings started. To mobile Show

Mr. Miller preached on "Home." He said that the occupation of homemaker is the most honorable occupation in the wide world, and told the mothers who talk of not having time to raise three children to "think of Susanna Wesley, who raised nineteen and they were all good ones." He commented on the said fact that "the very worst company some boys of the town are in is when they walk down street with their own fathers." He urged parents to remember that children will reproduce their vireas, as well as their virtues. "If you half is and emphasized the fact that it is everlasting. fathers." He urged parents to remember that children will reproduce their vices, as well as their virtues. "If you think it's smart to rail at Jesus Christ, and sneer at your wife's religion, you can expect your boy to be a sceptic. The way to stop having infidels, law-breakers, thugs, is to quit raising them.' The father who evades the game law, and dodges the tax collector, is training up his boy to believe that all the law he is to obey is what he can't evade, and need not be surprised if his boy some day occupies a criminal's cell. The mother who tells a pleasant lie to her caller in the presence of her innocent little daughter, needs not be surprised if that daughter, a few years later, tells her she was spending the evening with a girl friend when in fact she was at a public dance hall with a disreputable young man. and sneer at your wife's religion, you when in fact she was at a public dance hall with a disreputable young man. The greatest need to-day is for more Christianity, more old-fashioned religion, in the home. Only seven per cent. of the Christian homes of America have the family altar. women, and in this town, too, who know all about bridge whist, and don't know beans about the Bible. There are fathers and mothers at society functions, at clubs, not knowing where their children are. Many so-called homes are just places to sleep. You may live in a palatial residence, but if you must lie down on your luxurious bed to night and listen to the tottering footsteps of a drunken son, or the giddy laugh of a daughter who has lost the brightest jewel of her womanhood, that's not a home—that's hell.'
