SOME UNUSUAL NUMBERS MAKE UP ORPHEUM BILL

Una Clayton in "Milk" Enforces a Sociological Lesson Yet Holds General Interest—The Bilfords Graceful Though a Bit Too Venturesome

The Orpheum this week presents a clean, varied and exceptionally bright bill. There is some really good singing and some numbers that are rather unusual. The Bilfords presented their daring bicycle act, and the audience, remembering the tragedy that was so nearly enacted when the trio appeared a few weeks ago at the Orpheum, showed plainly that it preferred the graceful, skillful riding features to the venture some climbing of stairs by the cyclist, when he not only endangered his own life repeatedly, but also the lives of several others. Alfred Bilford got a generous amount of applause, but every one drew a breath of relief when the number ended. The Bilfords are clever enough to produce an act that can hold an audience without jeopardizing life. It is not easy to produce a skit that enforces some sociological lesson and yet holds general interest. Una Clayton, in "Milk," succeeds in doing both. It is clever and possesses enough genuine comedy to sugar-coat the moral les-

The CONTINENT SPANNED

SAN FRANCISCO — DENVER — OMAHA — CHICAGO — PITTSBURGH — PHILADELPHIA — NEW YORK

NEW YORK to San Francisco in a fifteenth of a second! A few hours since, the voice of man, for the first time in history, leaped in a single bound from the Atlantic to the Pacific! Thus have the dreams of the early telephone pioneers come true!

What a short time it seems since Alexander Graham Bell heard the voice of his assistant, Watson, come feebly over two miles of wire from Cambridge to Boston. Within the week, Dr. Bell's voice has answered that same Watson's voice over 3,400 miles of line from one coast to the other.

Down swept that voice over the copper wires from New York through the outskirts of Philadelphia, up and down over the Alleghenies into Pittsburgh and on past the windy city of Chicago, across the plains through Omaha and up over the snow-capped peaks to Denver. Then on, swifter than light to Salt Lake City and out across the foothills of the Rockies to the Golden Gate City of the Pacific!

That voice of forty years ago was anxious and hesitant. This time it had in it the ring of triumph. For a triumph it is, a triumph of science; none greater has the past generation witnessed.

Within a short time, when the final tests and adjustments have been made, the gateways of this mighty wire span will be thrown open to the public. This achievement has involved the work of a corps of 550 engineers and scientists; improvements, great and small in every piece of telephone plant and apparatus; a vast expenditure of money; all contributing to convey the tiny voice impulses one seventh of the distance 'round the globe.

But it is a triumph in a greater sense. Back of and beneath it all is the spirit of SERVICE, the observance of public need and the untiring, unswerving energy which has its focus on the achievement of the required end despite all seeming impossibilities.

That's the spirit of the Bell System organization, which justifies the generous measure of confidence and reliance that has been placed upon it by the American people.

RUSSIAN CAVALRY ROUT AUSTRIANS ACROSS UZSOK PASS

In this picture, F. Matania, special artist for this newspaper, the New York Herald and the London Sphere, illustrates the victorious advance of the Russians in Hungary and the precipitate retreat of the Austrians which was mentioned in an official Russian message, which stated that in the Uzsok Pass the Austrians in retreat were attacked by Russian cavalry, who fell upon their flank and rear, making their way by mountain paths in snow while a violent snowstorm was raging. In this attack the Russians took prisoners some ten officers, including the commander of the Austrian detachment, and more than 450 men.

Amphibious Forces The use of naval forces on land is, of course, by no means novel, but not every one knows that it is a direct reversal of the policy adopted in the early days of the navy. Under Cromwell's rule army officers were placed in command of war vessels, and the great Admiral Blake was a colonel in the new model army before he went to sea. Another notable soldier to be placed in command at sea was General Monk, first Duke of Albemarle, who justified the transference by winning two great sea fights against the Dutch.—Dundee Advertiser. Her Advantage "If you keep on, Willie, you'll soon know as much as your teacher," said the minister patronizingly. "Huh!" exclaimed Willie. "I'd know as much now as she does if I looked at the book all the time like she does."—Chicago News.
