

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color, Thickness and Luster—Everybody Is Using It Again

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten this through soft brush with its drawing, so that a time, by morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.—Adv.

Kant's Poverty

Barring the ten years spent as tutor in private families, Kant passed the whole of his long life in Koenigsberg, where he was born in 1724. During his early tenure of the chair of philosophy his sole emolument consisted of twenty pounds a year, a sack of wheat every month and sufficient firewood to warm his house in cold weather.

On becoming rector of the university only another twenty pounds was added to his yearly stipend, so the greatest of all German philosophers was not much better off than the pastor of Goldsmith's "Deserted Village." However, in his latter years Kant's scanty means were supplemented by an annual allowance of twenty-six pounds from the grivv purse of Frederick the Great.

COBB WAS TAKEN PRISONER

But Correspondent Escaped Dangers and Now Tells of Them

Fresh from the scenes of the war, where he was interviewed, investigated and dodged arrest with reckless abandon, comes Irvin S. Cobb, the humorist, philosopher and short story writer, to give an illustrated talk on some recent experiences in the war zone at the Chestnut Street Auditorium, on Thursday evening.

Perhaps there is no man in America who knows more about what is going on in Europe than Cobb, who knocked around Belgium in the wakes of both armies. Although he was under arrest several times he escaped with a whole hide and his illuminative articles have gained wide attention. Readers of the "Saturday Evening Post" know him best as the author of "The Escape of Mr. Trimm," "Back Home" and "Europe Revisited." The moving pictures of authentic war scenes secured by Mr. Cobb are said to be the nearest to real war views that had ever been produced.

BADGES OF BRAVERY

Rewards of Some European States for Valor in Battle

All the great powers of Europe have some reward for conspicuous valor and bravery on the field of battle, and although the plain bronze Victoria cross is the youngest of such decorations, dating back only to the Crimean war in 1856, it is the most valued possession in many a home in England to-day. The Austrian cross, on the other hand, is the oldest.

A similar reward in Germany is the iron cross, instituted by King Frederick William III, of Prussia in the year 1813.

Russia gives as a decoration to its heroic soldiers the cross of St. George, which was founded by the famous Empress Catherine II, in the year 1769, and while the Victoria cross is of bronze and the iron cross, as its name implies, of iron (which is edged with silver), the Russian order is of gold with a beautiful medallion of St. George killing the dragon.

In Austria the cross is of gold and was instituted in the year 1757 by the Empress Maria Theresa soon after her accession to the throne. It bears the same inscription as the British Victoria cross, the British having in English "For Valour" and the Austrian in Latin the word "Partitidine."

The Order of the Legion of Honor, which is the reward in France, was instituted by the great Napoleon, and he decreed that every soldier who was decorated with that honor should have the additional distinction of being entitled to receive a military salute from officers, non-commissioned officers and private soldiers.—London Tit-Bits.

Penalties of Fashions

Men of fashion must have felt exquisitely uncomfortable in the days of beaver hats weighing ten times as much as the heaviest hats of to-day.

Sir Algernon West remembers wearing about 1850 "a pair of dove-colored trousers with two fluted stripes down the sides and buttoned under the foot with broad strips of the same material, Wellington boots, which were sine qua non with a man of fashion in those days, and a coat so high in the collar that the back of the hat rested on it.

Indeed, every hat had a crescent of cloth on the back of the brim to prevent the rubbing of the beaver or imitation beaver of which the hat was made for silk hats were not then invented.—London Spectator.

DON'T WASH YOUR HAIR WITH SOAP

When you wash your hair, don't use soap. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is just plain mulberry cocoanut oil for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

LARGE CROWDS HEAR JOHN M'CORMACK IN EVERY CITY

Singer Who Comes Here Next Week Is Said to Make English Beautiful Because He Comes From Ireland—Large Demand for Seats

The great popularity of John McCormack as a singer has been shown where ever he has appeared the present season, and even the largest theatres and auditoriums have been taxed to the utmost to hold the people who flock to see and hear him. His reception in Harrisburg will be a repetition of that accorded him elsewhere as the demand for seats already assures a crowded house here. The San Francisco "Chronicle" of January 13 thus speaks of his fifth and final concert there:

"We shall have no more of John McCormack for two years. The pity of it! But the memory of him will abide with us. He sang for us yesterday afternoon with all his heart, and the Cort Theatre with its seating capacity of 1,800 people, accommodated 2,200 listeners. The people crowded onto the stage. They stood up in rows at the back of the house, and their enthusiasm was in direct ratio with their numbers. The encores of a McCormack Concert are usually its most important part anyhow. But yesterday people clamored so insistently that it struck me as being just a little bit greedy. Yet a pretty Rosalind would say: 'Can one have too much of a good thing?' Do you know why he can sing Schubert's 'Ave Maria' better than the leading singers? For the reason that took him to old St. Mary's yesterday morning. Can you tell me why he makes our English speech beautiful? Because they speak better English in some parts of Ireland than they speak it in proud England or arrogant New York."

Over Night Goes Chest Colds and Sore Throat

Just Rub Begy's Mustard. Better Than All the Pills, Powders, Syrups on Earth and Quicker. It Will Not Blister.

Get a big 25-cent box of BEGY'S YELLOW MUSTARD in the yellow box and get rid of colds, coughs, sore throat, pleurisy, bronchitis and tonsillitis in a few hours.

Keep it on hand at all times, for with it you can end the misery of toothache, headache, earache, backache and neuralgia in just a few minutes when nothing else seems to do any good.

BEGY'S MUSTARD is better than any liniment, plaster, poultice, hot water bottle or substitute. It promptly reduces the swelling and draws out agony from rheumatic joints and muscles. It relieves neuritis and in cases of sprains, strains, bruises, soreness, lameness, stiff neck and joints, change in leg and pain anywhere, its action is little less than magical.

Get a box at any druggist's to-day—use it to draw the agony from sore, painful feet, crows, bunions, callouses, chilblains and frosted feet. Its greatest household remedy in America to-day. But get the original BEGY'S MUSTARD in the yellow box.—Adv.

Buried in His Wedding Clothes

Airville, Jan. 26.—The funeral of John Paley, 78, held yesterday, was one of the largest in years in this section. Mr. Paley died from the infirmities of age. He resided in the same house the past forty-five years since he was married, and the suit of clothes which was his wedding attire he was buried in at his request. The cloth was in the best of condition. His widow and two children survive.

Hunters Attacked by Wild Cat

Marietta, Jan. 26.—While r'rhup Wright, of Bear Valley, and Horace J. CENSORSHIP CRITIC GETS WARNING FROM THE CENSORS

Paris, Jan. 26, 4:55 A. M.—Ernest Judet, the editor of the "Eclair" and one of the most persistent critics of the application of the censorship, states today that the censors have informed him that henceforth they would refuse to read the proofs of his newspaper in view of the terms used by him in an article on the censorship, and that if he publishes news contrary to the law he will have to bear all the consequences. M. Judet announces that he will take all precautions against this latter eventuality, even to suppressing the usual commentary on the official communications.
