WHERE TURKS MET THE BRITISH IN INVASION OF EGYPT

Fighting between the Turks and the British is reported to have occurred to the eastward of El Kantara, in Egypt, presumably with the advance guard of a Turkish army. Fighting in this locality indicates that not only has a Turkish invasion of Egypt begun, but that Turkish forces have penetrated a considerable distance into Egypt. El Kantara is twenty-eight miles south of Port Said and is on the Suez Canal, which, it is assumed, is the immediate objective of the Turkish advance. The territory to the east of El Kantara is the northern part of Sinai Peninsula, which extends to the Turkish frontier. It has been reported on several occasions since the entrance of Turkey into the war that an Ottoman expedition against Egypt would be attempted. British military commentators have asserted that the perils of a trip across the sandy wastes would deter the Turks from actually attempting an invasion of Egypt.

"Trigger Jim," Ted goes back to New York, where he has left a sweetheart, and marries her. Bill McTwick, a reformer, gambler, proves himself Liza's best friend. Gradually the greater love is awakened in her nature and soon wedding bells are heard in the little old town of Amador Junction, where Bill is considered a lucky man. Our regular Friday railroad story will also be shown to-day.—Adv.

At the Victoria To-day
An exceptionally thrilling and strongly dramatic detective story is "A Double Haul," featuring Edwin August and an all-star cast, in four reels, which heads to-day's bill at the Victoria theatre, 223 Market street. The story deals with the underworld and is full of action and breath-taking events throughout the entire film of four parts. To-day's program is supplemented also with three other special features of extraordinary merit. They are "The Lucky Blowout," in two reels, "The Crucifixion of Al Brady," in one part, and the Pathe Daily News showing in motion pictures latest current events from different parts of the world.

"Runaway June," the Victoria's next big serial will begin Monday, February 1. Don't fail to see each installment of this film. It is a wonder.—Adv.

FOUND AFTER 4,000 YEARS

Yale Recovers and Is Deciphering Babylonian Law Code Tablet
New Haven, Conn., Jan. 29.—A Babylonian tablet, believed to have been buried in the earth more than 4,000 years and containing the earliest law code, recently has been unearthed, and is now in possession of Yale University, it became known yesterday. The tablet is heavily encrusted, but part of it has been cleaned and deciphered. The laws are written in the Sumerian language, the language of Southern Babylonia, prior to its conquest by the Semites. Owing to the imperfect knowledge of the language, the work of deciphering is extremely difficult, but the university expects to have complete translations made and published. The laws that have been translated refer to legislation concerning injury to women; the repudiation of children who have been adopted; elopement; the hire of boats and cattle, and provision for the killing of a hired ox by a lion. These laws are believed to have been written about 2,500 B. C.

GIRL WANTS DIVORCE, TOO

Thinks Judge Hands Them Out Like Calling Cards
Detroit, Jan. 29.—Judge Van Zile had just handed out three divorce decrees in rapid-fire fashion, when a slip of a girl elbowed her way among attorneys and clients to the witness stand. "Mr. Judge, I'd like to have one of those, if you please," she said innocently. "I want my marriage annulled. He told me he was single, but I found out too late that he was a married man," continued she with a choke in her throat. Judge Van Zile leaned over his desk and peered at her over his spectacles. "My dear young woman, a divorce can't be had so easily. We don't hand them out here like calling cards, even though it may have looked to you that way. You'll have to get an attorney. Then you come back, and we'll see what we can do for you."

Trieste Has New Governor

Rome, Jan. 29.—Prince Conrad von Hohenlohe-Schillingsfurst, the former military governor of Trieste, who is on a special mission to Rumania, has been replaced by General Konop at Trieste.

Minnesota Court Upholds Discrimination Against Colored Girl

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 29.—In the matter of their treatment in Sunday schools, negroes have no civil rights. This was the ruling of Judge W. S. McClenahan in the district court here, Mary C. Marshall, colored, 16 years old, had brought suit against the officers of a Sunday school at Aitkin, Minn., alleging she had been discriminated against while attending religious services, being forced to sit apart from the white members. "No legislative body," Judge McClenahan said, "ever specifically included churches or religious societies in the so-called civil rights act. For courts to undertake to dictate how they shall conduct their affairs would meet with just resentment and would be of doubtful legality on constitutional grounds."

AMERICAN CAPTAIN PILOTS HIS VESSEL THROUGH MINE STREWN WATERS AT BREMEN

New York, Jan. 29.—Captain Edward T. Pinchin, who piloted the American steamer Elmonte through mine strewn waters safely into the harbor of Bremen on New Year's Day, brought his ship back to this port to-day. Although Captain Pinchin's feat was regarded with amazement at Bremen, he was arrested before his ship could discharge its cargo of 8,000 bales of cotton, questioned at length and finally taken before a German admiral who cross-examined him and released him. Because of the double distinction of guiding his ship through the mine fields and of bringing the American flag into Bremen harbor for the first time in 44 years aboard a merchant vessel, Captain Pinchin was royally entertained, he said, during his stay in Bremen.

RUSSIANS TAKE OFFENSIVE IN EAST PRUSSIA, DRIVING GERMANS BACK, IS REPORT

Petrograd, Jan. 29.—The general staff of the Russian army to-day issued a report on the progress of the fighting, as follows: "In the country to the north of Tilsit, East Prussia, Russian detachments January 25 took the offensive and drove back the Germans, destroying the railroad station at Pogegen, a few miles north of Tilsit. "The fighting in the forested country to the north of Pilkalen and Gumbinnen continues and in certain places are making progress. Along the rest of the front in East Prussia January 27 passed quietly, except in the country to the northeast of Darkheim. Here the Germans attacked our positions, but they were driven back to their trenches. "Fighting along the Vistula. "On the right bank of the lower Vistula encounters continue between our advance guards and those of the enemy. On the left bank of the Vistula, in the vicinity of Borlinow, Russian troops, aided by sappers, delivered an attack the night of January 27 on the trenches of the enemy, after having the afternoon of that date successfully countermined these trenches. In this same locality the Germans assumed offensive operations, but without success. "The artillery duel along the left bank of the Vistula continued January 27. Our efficient shell fire against the position of the enemy silenced several of his batteries and inflicted heavy losses on the Germans in their trenches. This was particularly the case near the village of Jidomitz, where we saw German soldiers carrying numbers of dead and wounded from their trenches. "Russian Successes in Galicia. "Semites.—Along the Carpathian front the Dukla pass to the railroad running between Stry and Moshkatch we were engaged January 26 and January 27 with successful results. Our success to the southwest of Dukla pass was particularly important. Here our troops, advancing with energy, compelled the enemy, January 26, to retreat in great haste, leaving behind them ammunition and other war material. In the vicinity of Tsekhanie and Dolkhiny we captured on January 27 an earth work of the enemy and we surrounded a second position close to this first one. During these operations we took a number of prisoners, officers and men. The exact numbers have not yet been determined. "At certain points along this front the enemy has made particular efforts to assume the offensive, but everywhere their endeavors have resulted in failure. "There has been no change in the situation in Bukowina. Artillery duels and outpost skirmishes continue. "Half Million in Gun Cotton. "Warren, Pa., Jan. 29.—As a result of receiving the largest order in its history, the plant of the Warren Chemical Products Company, started operations to its full capacity yesterday morning. The plant has received a $500,000 order for gun cotton for use of one of the warring European Powers and will operate day and night. "Swiss Near Petroleum Famine. "Berne, Jan. 29.—A scarcity of petroleum is being experienced in Switzerland, owing to suspension of importations from Russia and Rumania. Supplies have run so low that the government has been forced to arrange importations from America. It has just purchased a large amount of petroleum at New Orleans. "Auto's Life Nine Days. "Detroit, Jan. 29.—The reason warring nations of Europe need so many thousands of motor trucks is because the average life of a truck in army use is eight or nine days, according to a British army officer, who came direct from the trenches in France to Detroit, placed an order for solid tires for the British army to be shipped at the rate of $10,000 worth per week and returned to his command.

REPORTED ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF KING OF GREECE DENIED

London, Jan. 29.—The Greek Minister here declines the Constantinian report of an attempt to assassinate King Constantine of Greece, is absolutely untrue. This report is conveyed to Copenhagen in a dispatch which says that the statements of travelers arriving at Constantinople. The attempt on the life of the King, according to the rumors, was made at Patras, Greece.

Says Spies Pose as Nurses

London, Jan. 29.—The "Nursing Mirror," one of the newspaper organs of the trained nurses in England, points out the danger of spies masquerading as nurses, and says that Lord Kitchener caused an investigation to be made at a Southampton hospital, where four women, indiscreet in army matters, were discharged. At another hospital two nurses were recently found to be out and out spies, the "Mirror" says. Both were Americans with German sympathies and were "effectually dealt with," although it is not stated what disposition was made of them.

Howe's Travel Festival

All the world loves a bluejacket, but comparatively few Americans are acquainted with him. Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Josephus Daniels, has long been anxious to have the American public know him better for what he does. He decided that the most effective way to form this acquaintance is through the medium of moving pictures. He recognized, at the same time, that Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival is the one attraction before the public exceptionally well qualified to introduce our "New Navy" to the public because this entertainment commands the patronage of the most cultured, discriminating and thoughtful audiences throughout the nation. For this reason he extended exceptional facilities and privileges to Howe's staff photographers during the two years they were engaged in filming every phase of naval life which will be reproduced at the Majestic to-day and to-morrow, with daily matinees. Theatrical Bargain

All commercial lines have their bargain days and so Manager Hopkins, of the Majestic, has arranged to give his patrons a bargain week, commencing next Monday. This bargain will be made attractive by the appearance of Arthur Chatterton, an actor of the younger school, of rare ability and devoted personal magnetism. The company is far above the average, the productions are perfect, while the accessories that go to make Broadway successes so delightful are also provided. Not alone will there be a bargain in the company and stage settings, but more so in the plays which are of a rarely attractive kind. "Kindling" opens the engagement Monday afternoon. "A Grain of Dust," made famous by James K. Hackett, is the offering for Monday night. On Tuesday night "The Girl in the Taxi" will be given, in which Arthur Chatterton and Adelyn Bushnell give an exhibition of

At the Orpheum

A rattling duo of song and comedy entertainers is Mack and Orth, who, with their hodge podge of nonsense and mirth are proving one of the big hits on the popular array of Keith hits at the Orpheum this week. Their sketch is a comedy vehicle, not entirely different from the one in which they appeared here in several years ago, although it is considerably brightened by the addition of new song hits. However, in the case of Mack and Orth, it doesn't seem to be their material. For the boys are so decidedly clever and pleasing that no matter what they do, say or sing, always seems to please. Since this celebrated duo of song writers last appeared at the Orpheum they added some new and tuneful songs to their long list of publications and this week they are singing some of their latest as well as some of the old favorites. Mack and Orth offer one of the fine Keith hits that are supporting Una Clayton and company in their excellent comedy drama, entitled "Milk." Also on the same bill Boganghi's "Midget Rider" is scoring the comedy hit of the season, while music lovers are fairly reveling in the act offered by the Transatlantic trio of banjoists and vocalists. The Orpheum's current bill is varied, well balanced and clever throughout. Adv.

At the Colonial

Distinctly oriental is the term that must be applied to Sumika and the dance attraction that a number of daily misses from the Far East are presenting at the Colonial for the rest half of the week. Elaborate stage settings and costumes make the act a beautiful spectacle. Next in line in importance is a duo of popular comedians known as Craig and Williams; while clever attractions also are the comedy sketch presented by Gertrude Arden and company, and the song and dance novelty offered by the Howell Sisters. New and interesting attractions in the way of moving pictures also came to the Busy Corner yesterday to remain for the rest of the week. Adv.

Regent Theatre

Another successful two-day presentation of exclusive film plays has terminated and the management of the Regent theatre is more than ever convinced that film play admirers of this city are thoroughly in harmony with the efforts of this theatre to exhibit films of highest grade only. The high character of the preceding exhibitions is further emphasized in the presentation to-day of a recent released World Film feature, "As Ye Sow," with Alice Brady in the title role, giving as it does, full sway to the dramatic qualifications of this well known and justly esteemed actress.—Adv.

Broadway-Star Feature at Photoplay To-day

Title, "Sage Brush Gal." Liza Filkins, the popular proprietress of the coffee house, falls in love with Ted, a young Easterner, who gets in with bad company in the mining town and gambles. "Trigger Jim," a bad and dangerous man, induces Ted to give him the combination of his uncle's safe, which he robs. Liza, however, proves her daring and resourcefulness by locating the money and recovering it, although she barely escapes a terrific landslide and explosion which kills

ASKS U. S. ENVOY TO ACT FOR AUSTRIAN PRISONERS

Berlin, via London, Jan. 29.—Word was received here yesterday from Vienna that the Austrian Foreign Minister, Baron Stephan Burian, had cabled Secretary Bryan, at Washington, expressing regret that the American diplomatic representative in Russia, into whose care Austrian interests in that country were committed at the outbreak of the war, had not been able to afford better protection to Austrian and German prisoners of war. Baron Burian suggests that the American Ambassador at Petrograd make new representations to the Russian government in behalf of the prisoners. The condition of the prisoners, Baron Burian says, has not been improved, either in France or Russia, since Secretary Bryan took action in their behalf some time ago. Baron Burian requests a telegraphic reply from Mr. Bryan.
