45 TRAIL HITTERS HEED CALL OF THE EVANGELIST

Attendance at Mechanicsburg Tabernacle Affected by Weather, but Largest Number of Converts at Any One Meeting Was Result

Mechanicsburg, Feb. 3.—After the Monday rest, the services of the union evangelistic campaign began again yesterday with the neighborhood prayer meetings in the morning, the business men's meeting at 12:45, Mrs. Bowman's Bible study at 2:30, personal workers' meeting at 6:45, and the preaching service at 7:15.

The special visitors last evening were the pupils of the grammar school and the sixth grade, who came in a body, accompanied by their principal and teachers. They sang two songs, "Hail and Crown Him King" and "Lift Up the Banner," with Miss Bessie Bear as their leader. The opening prayer was offered by R. C. Weber, secretary of the Carlisle Y. M. C. A., and the Scripture lesson was read by the Rev. C. F. Raach.

Just before the sermon, Miss Cree sang "I Wonder." When Mr. Miller rose to preach, he asked all who want to go to heaven to raise their hands, then all who are ready to go. Again he asked for brief requests for prayer for unsaved friends, and many were made. After a brief prayer for the unsaved ones, the evangelist preached on "Heaven." He gave as his reasons for believing in heaven, the universal God-implanted yearning for heaven, the fact that no one has ever seen heaven, and the fact that God says there is a heaven. He showed that heaven is a real place, a place of magnificent size and of wondrous beauty, that heaven is a city of gates, that its gates are at the end of the straight and narrow way, and that the gates have been opened only through the death of Jesus Christ. "The pearls of the kingdom of heaven were formed from the shedding of the life blood of Jesus Christ; there was no gate until that blood was shed, and the gate will never be opened for you but through your acceptance of the sacrifice of that blood. The beauty of heaven is not in the walls of Jasper and the gates of pearl, but in the presence of Jesus. Are you ready to meet Him there?"

Although, owing to the inclement weather, the attendance was smaller than it has been on any previous evening but one, the number of penitents was larger than on any previous evening. Forty-five persons came forward to confess their sins and pledge themselves to Christ.

To-night Mr. Miller will preach on "Excuses Answered." Friday will be "Merchants' Day."

BAND WILL CELEBRATE

Perseverance Was With 93d Regiment in Civil War

Lebanon, Feb. 3.—The members of the Perseverance band, prof. J. H. Leslie, leader, is arranging to fittingly celebrate its fifty-eighth anniversary in the Academy of Music, Tuesday evening, March 2. A fine program is being arranged.

The band during the Civil war was known as the crack musical organization which saw service with the famous Ninety-third Regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers.

Two of the original members of the war band are still living here. They are Joseph A. Bowman and former Mayor C. S. Gerhart, the latter the father-in-law of George Kochenauer, cigar dealer, of Harrisburg.

BLAME DFOR HIGH LIVING COST

Diaphanous and Immodest Dresses Arouse Mrs. C. F. Wood

Washington, Feb. 3.—Gowns for high school girls constitute the chief indictment against the high cost of living in many Washington families, according to Mrs. Court F. Wood, of the District Federation of Women's Clubs. "High school girls in Washington," said Mrs. Wood, "wear dresses more fashionable and expensive than are ordinarily worn at fashionable colleges, and the girls whose parents can least afford it are the ones who wear the most expensive finery."

WILL MAKE STEADY HUSBAND

Young Farmer Worked Seven Months at $40 Per and Saved $280

Grass Valley, Cal., Feb. 3.—William Welch, an employee of the Loma Rica ranch, near here, whose exploit of saving $280 out of seven months wages at $40 a month was printed in many of the newspapers of the country, has received many offers of marriage from young women looking for steady husbands. Welch saved sufficient capital out of his wages in less than one year to install himself on a forty-acre tract on his own account. He has built a small house, which he at present occupies alone.

FIRST REPORT ON INFANT MORTALITY IN U. S. ISSUED

Johnstown, Pa., First City to Be Studied
Federal Department of Labor, Reveals Appalling Death Rate in Certain Sections

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—The Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor issues to-day the first report in its study of infant mortality in the United States. The report emphasizes the fact that this is only the first item in a proposed extended inquiry. While it carefully avoids conclusions, certain conditions are pointed out as coincident with a high infant death rate in the one city under consideration. It finds that the infant death rate varied in different parts of the same city. In the poorest section, where sanitary conditions were at their worst, the rate was 271 per thousand babies, or more than five times that of the choice residential section of the city.

The deaths of the babies investigated were in inverse proportion to the earnings of their fathers. Babies whose fathers earned less than ten dollars a week died at the rate of 256 per thousand. Those whose fathers earned twenty-five or more dollars a week died at the rate of 84 per thousand.

Breast-Fed Babies Live Longest
The report shows that artificially-fed babies died at a much more rapid rate than breast-fed babies. In the earliest months of the baby's life exclusive breast-feeding appears to be the only safe method. Only 46.6 babies per thousand died under one year of age when breast fed for at least three months, as against 165.8 per thousand who died when fed exclusively on artificial food up to the age of three months.

Where mothers were employed a large part of the time in heavy work babies died at a much more rapid rate. In one group of 19 mothers whose babies all died, 15 had been keeping lodgers, an arduous occupation among the foreign women, where the wife without extra charge often washes and irons for the lodgers and buys and prepares their food.

The city bears its share of responsibility for infant deaths. A high rate of infant deaths was found in coincidences with neglected streets and unsanitary housing. The report shows for 135 miles of streets and alleys, only 41 miles of sewers and 36 outlets, only 64 per cent. of the streets paved, and but 11 per cent. of the alleys. In houses where water had to be carried in from outdoors, the infant death rate was 198 per thousand, as against 118 per thousand where water was piped into the house.

These findings are based on a report as to infant mortality conditions in Johnstown, Pa. Other cities now being studied are Manchester, N. H., Brockton, Mass. and Saginaw, Mich.

Why Johnstown Was Selected
The city of Johnstown was chosen as the first town to be studied because of its interest as a type of town in which there are no large industries employing women, and because its size and its good birth registration permitted a study with the limited staff which the bureau could at first assign to the work. In her letter submitting the Johnstown report to the Secretary of Labor, Miss Julia C. Lathrop, chief of the Children's Bureau, states that the subject of infant mortality was chosen for the first field inquiry because of its profound importance in our national life. According to an estimate of the U. S. Census Bureau, at least 300,000 babies die annually in this country, which means approximately one baby out of every eight under one year of age. Leading sanitarians say that if proper measures of hygiene and sanitation were observed this number could be indefinitely reduced. The Children's Bureau is trying to learn the conditions of life most favorable for American babies.

Obtaining the Information

Every mother of a Johnstown baby born in 1911 was visited by women agents of the Children's Bureau and information obtained about the family surroundings of the baby, how his father earns the money necessary for his care, and how much he earns, whether his mother works outside the home and how heavy her work is within the home, whether the city streets are safe, the water pure, the milk clean. The subjects considered in this first report; city and street environment, housing, nationality, mother's age, literacy and married history, the feeding of the baby, the occupations of the mothers, the family earnings, etc., show some of the lines along which the Children's Bureau expects to find information leading to a reduction of the high rates of infant mortality in the United States.

The report of infant mortality conditions in Johnstown was written by Miss Emma Duke, one of the women investigators of the bureau. This report, like the other publications of the bureau, may be obtained free of charge upon application to the Children's Bureau, Department of Labor, Washington, D. C.

RECIPE TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

By a Specialist

A very satisfactory preparation which darkens gray hair and acts as a corrective agent for dandruff and other diseases of the scalp can be made at small expense and in your own home by dissolving a small box of Barbo Compound in 7 ounces of water and then adding an ounce of bay rum and a quarter ounce of glycerine. Any drug store can furnish these ingredients. This is to be applied once a week until the hair is sufficiently darkened, then every two weeks to keep the hair soft and glossy and the scalp in a healthy condition. It may be used with equal success in darkening the beard. This is a preparation that gives splendid results, both as a hair darkener and a remedy for all scalp disorders, and is well worthy of a trial. You will find it far superior to the ordinary store preparations and much less expensive.—Adv.

Chatterton Stock Company

Arthur Chatterton and his company drew two large audiences to the Majestic yesterday, and pleased immensely with "The Girl From Nowhere" at the matinee, and "The Girl in the Taxi" at the evening. This afternoon "The Grain of Dust," a "Kindling," written for and starred by Margaret Livingston, will be presented. This virile play of tenement life in New York depicts a startling story, interesting and intense from beginning to end.

Mr. Chatterton in the role of Heinie Schultz finds himself cast in one of the most characteristic roles he has ever been called upon to portray, and that his work is appreciated is easily evinced by the excellent press comment he has received. Miss Bushnell as Maggie Schultz is also well cast, and the support, including Rogers Barker, Lawrence Brooke and Antoinette Rothe, is ample.

Thursday matinee, "The Girl in the Taxi," is underlined; Thursday evening the sensational melodrama, "Tess of the Storm Country," with a complete scenic and electrical embellishment.—Adv.

European War Pictures

Moving pictures of the European war, many of them taken under actual fire by a corps of daring photographers, are to be shown at the Majestic on Monday afternoon and evening. The pictures are authentic and are among the best the public of Harrisburg will have the opportunity of viewing. The pictures are the product of the War Film Company, which has eighteen photographers with the various armies. Four of these photographers are directly responsible to the German government. They take pictures of the maneuvers of the German army, and these are later to be shown to students in the German military academies. From scenes showing the excitement in various countries when the war broke out, the mobilizing of armies and the departure of regiments to the front in the first days of the great event, the spectator is brought down to recent fighting in the trenches. All are vivid, interesting and realistic scenes that give a glimpse of war as it really is.—Adv.

"The Mikado"

One of the old time favorites is the "Three Little Maids from School" from the ever popular Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado." It will be rendered on February 13 and 12 in the Majestic theatre by Ada Heinsley as Yum Yum, with a clear soprano of the widest range; Ruth Hoover as Pitti-Sing, with a remarkably sweet alto voice, and Helen Keister as Peep-Bo. Their interpretation of the three, unsophisticated giggling girls, fresh from a girl's seminary, is highly entertaining, and the quaint little Japanese silk kimonos, hair dress and tiny shoes all add to the most pleasing spectacle. Rendered beneath a canopy of numberless vari-colored Japanese lanterns and assisted by a well-trained and well-balanced chorus of sixty-five voices, this one number will be received with the heartiest appreciation by the friends of the three little maids and the large audience which such talent ought to insure.—Adv.

At the Orpheum

One of the most successful bits of Ziegfeld's Follies was a comedy sketch called "The Telephone Tangle," that is being so successfully presented by Dorothy Regal and company as the leading attraction of the fine bill of Keith hits at the Orpheum this week. Joseph Hart, who is the original producer of the act, launched it into the vaudeville field after its success in the "Follies." Here it is as successful as ever, more so if that is possible, and Orpheum audiences are just laughing themselves tired at the rich comedy lines and situations that abound throughout. "The

EX-SLAVE DIES AT 67

MENDEL'S LAW

Shown in the Crossing of Pure Yellow and Pure Green Peas

The following beautifully clear summary of the principles of mendelism is due to the Rev. W. Wilks, the famous horticulturist, who developed the Shirley poppy.

If you cross pure yellow or pure green peas either way—it matters not which is seed bearer and which pollen bearer—you will get all yellow seeds. If you sow these hybrid seeds each will, if it germinates, produce a plant which will bear, say, forty seeds, thirty of which will on the average be yellow and ten green. The green, if sown and sown for countless generations, will always bear green seeds true to the original parents (barring the always possible intervention of insects).

Not so the thirty yellow. These when sown will on the average produce ten plants bearing all pure yellow seeds, which will be constant and true to the original yellow parent for countless generations. The remaining twenty plants will be impure yellow, each plant producing, on the average, one-quarter of its seeds pure yellow, one-quarter pure green and one-half impure yellow, which last will repeat the process and proportion practically forever.

This is the law of inheritance which is the basis of all the studies of the eugenicists and, in fact, of all breeders of animals and plants.—New York World.

Cause of One War

William the Conqueror lost his life in France through his horse treading on a red-hot cinder while he was superintending the burning of Mantes, but few people know the fact which gave rise to the campaign that cost William his life. During the latter part of his reign he became abnormally stout and consequently the laughingstock of not only his subjects, but his neighbors across the water. One day his contemporary, Philip of France, compared him to a fillet of veal on casters and suggested that he should be exhibited at a prize monarch show. This so enraged William that he straightaway made war upon his ridiculer, and the loss of thousands of lives was the result.—London Tit-Bits.

VOLUNTEERS AS INTERPRETER

Woman Suing for Divorce Translates Testimony for the Court

The fact that Mrs. Verona Pustai has command of five different languages and could interpret between the Court and witnesses, yesterday prevented the temporary postponement of the hearing in her divorce suit against her husband, Joseph Pustai, which was conducted by Judge McCarrell. Abram Baker, the official court interpreter, was busy in Judge Kunkel's court when the Pustai case was called and Judge McCarrell permitted the woman to interpret in her own case.

Her father and mother, neither of whom can speak or understand the English language, were the principal witnesses. She alleged cruel treatment as the basis of her suit and among other things said her husband loafed at home and compelled her to support him and the family by her work in a factory. He would not assist in preparing the meals, she said, but he made it a point to rouse her from her slumbers in the morning and see that she would not be late for work, by kicking her out of bed.

She submitted to his cruel treatment and worked in the factory, she said, until she became ill and was in danger of losing her eyesight.

HARDWARE STRIKE STILL ON

Repeated Efforts to Settle Difficulty At Reading Have Failed

By Associated Press.

Reading, Feb. 3.—Notwithstanding repeated efforts it is announced that all attempts to settle the strike at the Reading hardware works, so far have failed. Over 140 molders have been on strike for four months because of the introduction of mechanical molding machines. Partial resumption was effected yesterday with the introduction of outsiders.

William Blackman, commissioner of conciliation, United States Department of Labor, and J. A. Steese, acting mediator for the State of Pennsylvania, who attempted to mediate the differences have issued a statement in which the company officials were charged with misconstruing an agreement made with them as a settlement of the difficulties. The conciliators say they have given up the situation here and have left Reading.

The alleged agreement was a promise from the company to give the old men positions and as soon as they proved capable to operate the molding machines to discharge the new men and retain them at work. Since then, according to the mediators, the company has changed its mind, and has decided to retain the new men.
