

WHERE GERMANS TRIED IN VAIN TO BREAK ALLIES' LINE

The Germans, according to French official reports, have suffered a severe check in their attempt to break through the Allies' line west of La Bassée and to capture Bethune. Large forces were concentrated between La Bassée and Festubert and advanced five times against the French positions, on one occasion reaching the church in Givenchy. All, however, were repulsed, and the roads around Vermelles, Givenchy and Guinchy were covered with the bodies of dead German soldiers.

Promoters of the fight claim that General Villa has promised protection to Johnson, but at this time no port on the east coast is controlled by Villa and the occupation of Mexico City by Carranza troops would prevent his entering from Central America.

LONDON PAPER SUSTAINS WILSON ON SHIPPING BILL

development of state socialism

London, Feb. 3. 3.37 A. M.—Raids by German submarines on British commerce might make a United States merchant marine valuable to Great Britain as a means of supplying food, in the opinion of the "Daily News," which prints an editorial this morning justifying President Wilson's attitude on the ship purchase bill now before Congress. The paper says this "unprecedented development of state socialism" is the only means whereby the United States can recover its place in the world of shipping. The editorial sets forth that in the present war the submarine has become a serious menace to England's food supply and in any future war will dominate her position unless in the meantime she should discover some effective means of defense.
