M'CORMACK'S IRISH SONGS ENCHANT BIG AUDIENCE

Ill-Timed Laughter by a Few in the Hall Causes Great Tenor to Stop in Midst of a Number and Provides the Only Jarring Note

From a banshee's croon to the love song of the swain, from the wail of a keener to the lyric of a coleen; from a modern ballad to grand opera—John McCormack, the famous Irish tenor, ran the gamut last night in concert at the Chestnut street hall, and delighted what was probably the largest audience that ever assembled at a concert in Harrisburg.

It is putting it rather mildly to say "delighted," for Mr. McCormack simply charmed the great assemblage with his voice. It was a voice such as is seldom heard in concert or opera in this city, and the audience who listened to him had but one comparison to make—the McCormack voice was a reincarnation of that of the famous John L. Carneross, the silver-voiced tenor who years ago sang himself into the hearts of the lovers of vocal music in this country.

It was in giving an encore that an unpleasant incident occurred that was promptly frowned upon by the majority of the audience. The singer had rendered the ballad, "I Hear You Calling Me," in his inimitable style, and on taking the stage in response to an encore started the beautiful Nevin song, "My Rosary."

The audience, to show its disapproval of the interruption, applauded so heartily that Mr. McCormack returned and sang that exquisite Tom Moore ballad, "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," so sweetly that the audience was literally enchanted.

The program all through served to bring out the beauty of the McCormack voice and its wonderful training, but best of all did the audience like his Irish ballads.

AMERICAN SCHEDULE OUT AROUND THE TRI-STATE

But Four Conflicts With National League and They Are In Chicago on Sundays

Chicago, Feb. 4.—The American League will open its 1915 campaign on Wednesday, April 14, with Chicago at St. Louis, Cleveland at Detroit, New York at Washington and Boston at Philadelphia, according to the schedule announced to-day.

Stanny Coveleskie, star twirler for Lancaster Tri-State club some seasons ago, is going up. For two years he has played on the New York and Washington teams in the Northwest League.

Tom Philbin, of Minoaka, Pa., who was with the Allentown Tri-State club in 1913, may land a job as umpire in the New York State League next season.

A Tri-State team in York grows more remote. They are now figuring on the following circuit in class X baseball there now: Red Lion, Dallastown, Glen Rock, New Freedom, Stewartstown, Spring Grove, Hanover, Gettysburg and York.

Charles ("Buck") Herzog, who won his baseball spurs while playing third base for the York Tri-State League team, is well fixed financially. If he quits baseball to-day he could retire to his Maryland farm and live happily ever afterward.

Eight years or so ago, when Herzog had the grand sum of $187 in the bank and a minor league baseball job, he took a plunge into the matrimonial sea. Right away, like most bridegrooms, he proceeded to spend his wad on the honeymoon. When he returned to the
