The "University" of Ham
The town of Ham has perhaps the most notable chateau in France. As ancient as Rheims cathedral, its enormous walls have held as prisoners Joan of Arc, Comde, the Huguenot leader, and Prince Louis Napoleon after his attempt at Boulogne in 1840 to win over France. Here for six years there was a compulsory student, as he himself put it, in the "University" of Ham until his escape in 1846 disguised as a workman.—London Chronicle.

MOISTURE AND DUST

Why This Rain Combination in the Air Shows a Red Sun

An old weather proverb runs, "A red sun has water in his eye," and is explained by Professor W. J. Humphreys, of the United States Weather Bureau, in a discussion of some useful weather proverbs.

The condition that most favors a red sun is a great quantity of dust—especially smoke particles—in a damp atmosphere. Smoke alone in sufficient quantity will produce this effect, but it is intensified by the presence of moisture.

The blue and other short wave length colors of sunlight are both scattered and absorbed to a greater extent by a given amount of dust or other substance, such as water vapor, than is the red, and this effect becomes more pronounced as the particles coalesce.

Hence when the atmosphere is heavily charged with dust particles that have become moisture laden we see the sun as a fiery ball.

It has been shown that this dust has much to do with rainfall, since it was proved by the physicist Aitken years ago that cloud particles and, therefore, rain will not under ordinary conditions form in a perfectly dust free atmosphere, but will readily form about dust motes of any kind in an atmosphere that is sufficiently damp. A red sun, therefore, commonly indicates the presence of both of the essential rain elements—that is, dust and moisture.

WAR VETERAN DIES

Served Nearly Four Years During Civil War

Adam Orris, a Civil war veteran, died yesterday morning at 3.30 o'clock at his home, 220 South Tenth street. He served for three years and nine months in the Civil war. He is survived by his widow and the following children: George Orris, Harry Orris, Mrs. Bertha O'Brien and Earl Orris. Six grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from his home, the Rev. Dr. William N. Yates, pastor of the Fourth Street Church of God, officiating. Interment will be made in the Camp Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Frank McFadden

Mrs. Frank McFadden, a former resident of the city, died yesterday at her home in Union Deposit. Funeral services will be held at her home Monday morning at 10 o'clock, after which the body will be taken on the 2.50 train to Dunsmuir for interment. Mrs. McFadden is survived by the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. J. J. Baskins, Mrs. C. J. Bowers, Mrs. W. H. Prey, all of Philadelphia; Mrs. W. M. Davies, of Taunton, Mass.; Mrs. C. M. Spahr, Harrisburg; Joseph Hochlander, of Dunsmuir, and W. G. Hochlander, of Dauphin. For a number of years Mrs. McFadden lived at 340 South Fourteenth street.

Harry F. Greenwalt

Harry F. Greenwalt, aged 55 years, died yesterday at his home, 127 Sayford street. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. William N. Yates, pastor of the Fourth Street Church of God, of which he was a member, will officiate. Surviving are his widow and two daughters, Mrs. John J. Walker and Miss Leila Greenwalt. Interment will be made in the East Harrisburg cemetery.

CLEARANCE FIGURES DROP

European War Caused Decline During January

Harrisburg banks handled a total sum of $6,901,251.48 during the month of January, according to the report of A. K. Thomas, secretary of the Harrisburg Clearing House Association. This sum is a decrease of $257,877.04 from the amount handled during December and $650,347.48 less than January of 1914.

Mr. Thomas states that the decrease this year is largely due to the European war and accordingly to the present outlook it would be made up in the near future, he asserts.

DIAMONDS IN SUGAR

We Know They Are There Because Science Has Extracted Them

Although at first thought the statement seems incredible, it is perfectly true that a lump of sugar may be converted into diamonds.

Not all the substance of the sugar, of course, will enter into the composition of the diamond, but only the carbon that it contains. Sugar consists of carbon united with oxygen and hydrogen.

It is an easy matter to separate out the carbon, and in certain experiments for the production of diamonds this sugar carbon has been employed.

The diamonds so produced were, of course, very small and destitute of commercial value, but still they were real diamonds, and the chemical result achieved would be no greater intrinsically if they were as big as the Cullinan.

Scientists have often expressed the hope that an improvement in the process of manufacturing diamonds may be effected whereby the necessity of dissolving the carbon in molten iron may be dispensed with, and the required combination of great pressure with great heat may be brought about by some such operations as squeezing the carbon between redhot metal plates.—New York World.

Got in Her Answer

"Maria," said Mr. Jollyboy very solemnly, thinking to take a rise out of the wife of his bosom, "I heard of a dreadful operation which was undertaken by a girl. She seemed in danger of losing her sight, and the clever ophthalmic surgeon who operated on her found—"

"Yes!" Breathlessly interposed Mrs. Jollyboy. "Found what?"

"That the poor girl had a young man in her eye!" rejoined hubby, with a chuckle.

Silence reigned supreme for the space of five minutes, at the end of which time Mrs. Jollyboy said quietly: "Well, of course, it would all depend on what kind of young man it was, as there are many men who would have been able to see through." And, with a serene smile, Mrs. J. resumed her knitting.—London Express.

Didn't Startle Rossetti

Among authors there are some who take but the slightest interest in social or political questions. So far as public questions are concerned they are hardly better informed than Dante Gabriel Rossetti. During the French revolution one of his friends burst into Rossetti's studio with the incredible news, "Louis Philippe has landed in England." "Has he?" said Rossetti calmly. "What has he come for?"
