HATS MADE AT NIGHT

Sunshine Makes the Straw for Panamas Too Brittle to Work

Genuine Panama hats are made in Ecuador to a larger extent than in any other country, and the process of manufacture is not generally known. The chief centers of their importance are Monticristi and Jipijapa, in the province of Manavi; Santa Rosa and to a limited extent in Guayaquil and Cuenca. Thousands of natives of both sexes are employed at weaving these hats. The work is carried on from a little after midnight to 7 o'clock in the morning, while the atmosphere is humid, and the straw becomes brittle during the day and cannot then be handled.

After much preliminary preparation the straw is very finely divided into the required widths by the nail of the little finger or thumb. A bunch of straw is bound in the middle and placed in the center of a wooden mold, the straws arranged radially and equally distant from each other in pairs. The plaiting begins at the apex of the crown and continues round and round until the hat is finished, care being taken that no straws are added while the crown is being made. Other straws, however, are added while the brim and border are being formed. On the degree of nicety with which the straws are lengthened depends the beauty and durability of the hat. Should a strand be broken it can be replaced and so plaited as not to be noticed.

The finishing touches are put on by trimming the brim, edging the border and neatly fastening all projecting ends of the straws so as to be invisible. The hat is washed in clean, cold water, coated with a thin solution of gum and polished with dry sulphur.—Argonaut.

Young Woman's Condition a Mystery to Her Physicians

Merchantville, N. J., Feb. 16.—Medical men are greatly interested in the case of Miss Inez Lewis, 18 years old, who recently was taken ill at school near West Chester and for 10 days was unconscious. She was brought to her home in that condition and the attending physician did not expect her to survive. Some one tapped the keys of a piano and the notes seemed to cause the girl to show for the first time some knowledge of her surroundings. The physician was told of this and had a musician called in to play some of the music that the patient liked best. The effect was such that the girl spoke a few words.

Winter Doubles Work

In summer the work of eliminating poisons and acids from the blood is helped by perspiration. In cold weather, with little out door work or exercise to cause sweating, the kidneys have to do double work. Foley Kidney Pills help overworked, weak and diseased kidneys to filter and cast out of the blood the waste matter that causes pains in sides or back, rheumatism, lumbago, stiffness of joints, sore muscles and other ills resulting from improper elimination.—George A. Gorgas, 16 North Third Street, P. R. Station.—Adv.

WILLIAM BOWLY WILSON

Confederate Veteran and Financier Expires in Baltimore

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 16.—William Bowly Wilson, who was a leader among the old school Confederate soldier business men of Baltimore, died Sunday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Watson B. Randall.

Mr. Wilson was a member of the old banking firm of Wilson, Colston & Co. from 1867 to 1908, since when he has been leading a retired life. He was born in Baltimore 75 years ago, a son of the Wilson family, which was established here shortly after the Revolution.

Mr. Wilson in 1862, when a very young man, went to Virginia and volunteered in the Maryland company of the First Virginia cavalry. He passed through the Gettysburg campaign under General J. E. B. Stuart.

LITITZ PHYSICIAN DIES

Dr. James C. Brobst, 71, Expires in Lancaster County Town

Lancaster, Feb. 16.—Dr. James C. Brobst, 71 years old, of Lititz, died yesterday from a complication of diseases. He graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1864 and Bellevue Hospital Medical College, New York, in 1866.

Dr. Brobst served a year and a half as a surgeon in the Union army during his course at the University of Pennsylvania. For five years Dr. Brobst practiced in Berks county. He was the second Chief Burgess of Lititz borough and was largely interested in numerous business enterprises. For the last twenty years Dr. Brobst had been prominent on the stump as a Republican orator.

GETS $1 OF WIFE'S ESTATE

Judge Upholds Will When He Learns of Desertion

Reading, Pa., Feb. 16.—A husband may not desert and fail to support his wife for several years and then come back and claim a share of her estate after she dies, at least not in Berks county, according to an opinion rendered by Judge Bushong in the Orphans' Court here yesterday in the estate of Mrs. Clara J. Auman, late of this city.

In her will Mrs. Auman cut off her husband with $1, and he contended for his share against the will. The Court finds from the testimony that for more than a year before her death the woman's husband had failed to support her, even ignoring a court order to do so. In the distribution ordered the husband receives his $1, and the remainder of the estate is distributed among the children.

TO LECTURE ON 'HELLO GIRL'

Illustrations Showing Working of Exchange to Be Explained by A. B. Watts, Local Bell Manager

The lecture on Thursday evening of this week under the auspices of the Men's Organized Bible class, J. Henry Spicer, teacher, will be held in the lecture room of the Market Square Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock. Shirley B. Watts, local manager of the Bell Telephone Company, will deliver it on the subject, "The Telephone Girl." It will be interesting, instructive and beneficial as to the difficulties and how they are handled that arise in telephony.

Mr. Watts will explain on canvas the intricate duties of a telephone operator, how the board is operated, the way your call comes in and how you can talk to your party whether next door or 2,000 miles away. Very few persons have any knowledge of telephony beyond the telephone itself and this lecture will enlighten you if you will attend.

Mr. Watts has given several lectures in this city, and is well known, as the press and public both speak very highly of his past addresses on this subject. An invitation is extended to the public in general, and those who have never heard Mr. Watts will miss a rare treat if they let this chance go by.

After the lecture Mr. Watts will show moving pictures of an exchange in actual operation, also a reel showing the course of a message from a ranch in Colorado to a metropolitan hotel in New York City. These pictures have never been shown before in Harrisburg, and Mr. Watts guarantees that they will be both entertaining and instructive. All seats are free and no collection will be lifted.

PLUMBERS' VOW TERRIBLE

Witness Describes Alleged Oath of Allegiance to National Body

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 16.—An oath of allegiance to the National Association of Master Plumbers containing the sentence, "May all the horrors of the damned be my portion when I retire at night," was declared by Joseph Hagen, of Sioux City, in his testimony at the trial of the thirty-six master plumbers charged with violation of the Sherman law here yesterday, to have received his signature. He was to suffer such "horrors" in case he violated the rules of the organization, the witness said. Each member, he testified, was sworn to the utmost secrecy.

C. L. Piper, of Marysville, Ia., for the government, testified that he had been put out of the association because he refused to go into "certain pools." He admitted on cross-examination that the protection of the association did not amount to a snap of the fingers.

AUDIENCE LEAVES CHURCH

Anti-liquor Sermon Too Strong for Methodist Congregation

Berwick, Pa., Feb. 16.—The Rev. Hugh Strain, Beach Haven's "fighting parson," who last winter bested "Dan Johnson, a Beach Haven hotel proprietor, in a fistie encounter, was the centre of an even bigger sensation yesterday as the result of the rebuke his audience administered Sunday night when he walked out of the church in a body.

Waging a bitter fight against the saloons, he declared that some of his congregation were hypocrites, and "dirty scallawags" was one of the terms he used in referring to them. When the congregation started to leave, he referred to them as "the rum bunch."

DISEASE MENACES JERSEY HERD

Discovered Within Mile of Importer of Valuable Animals

Allentown, Pa., Feb. 16.—Five national and State inspectors arrived last evening in consequence of the discovery of foot and mouth disease among the herds of Sol Stephens, the biggest drover in the Lehigh Valley, who owns eight farms at Coopersburg, on which are hundreds of cattle. One of the farms is only a mile from Linden Grove farm, owned by T. S. Cooper, the foremost importer and breeder of Jersey cattle in America, whose herd is valued at $250,000.

Several dozen of Stephens' cattle were shot yesterday and buried in quicklime. Utmost efforts are being made to protect the Cooper herd.

License Re-advertising Denied

Wellsboro, Pa., Feb. 16.—The temperance people won the last round of the fight against any license in Tioga county this year, as far as the local court is concerned. Judge Cameron denied yesterday the motion to allow applicants for licenses who were bowled out by defective advertising permission to re-advertise. Nothing now remains but the appeal to the Superior Court.

SAYS BOMB WAS INTENDED FOR THE ROCKEFELLERS

Deaths of John D. and Son, Declares Alexander Berkman, Who Attempted to Kill H. C. Frick

Victims of New York Explosion Planned

Denver, Feb. 16.—The bomb that destroyed a Lexington avenue rooming house in New York last summer, killing three men, was intended for the assassination of John D. Rockefeller and his son. This was the statement made here yesterday by Alexander Berkman, anarchist and I. W. W. leader, who served a term in prison for his attempt to kill H. C. Frick.

Berkman has been in Denver several weeks, being here to found a Federal school. When Matthew A. Schmidt was arrested a few days ago in New York, charged with complicity in the destruction of the Los Angeles "Times" building and other dynamite outrages, the Burns detectives and Schmidt was one of the leaders in the plot to blow up the Rockefeller.

Berkman yesterday declared he would not say that Schmidt was one of the plotters, but he did give the names of four men who, he said, were making the bombs, three of them having lost their lives at the time of the explosion. The fourth man, an Irishman, whom Berkman knew only as Murphy, was blown through the front of the building and landed in a network of telegraph wires, finally reaching the ground unhurt.

Plotted in Spirit of Vengeance

"The plot against the lives of the Rockefellers," said Berkman, "was originated in a spirit of vengeance for the brutal visit upon the I. W. W. workers at Tarrytown last summer, when we went up there to protest against the outrages that brought on the battle of Ludlow. It was hatched by the conspirators after free speech had been virtually cut off by the activity of the Rockefeller guards and shortly before Rockefeller took permanent refuge in his Forest Hill home at Cleveland."

Prior to the elder Rockefeller's flight to Cleveland there had been several big demonstrations in front of his office at 26 Broadway, which Rockefeller had finally sought to avoid by remaining behind the walls of his estate at Tarrytown, N. Y.

"About twenty-five or thirty anarchists, among them the man named Murphy, Arthur Caron, Matthew Kahn, Charles Berg and myself all of whom had participated in the demonstration in New York City, followed him there. As is well known now, we literally laid a siege to the Rockefeller place, with the result that both the father and the son employed an army of guards to protect them. They had about 250 special officers to perform this duty, and old John D. even had another wall built around his property."

"With all approaches to the Rockefeller place cut off, we then commenced to make public speeches against the Rockefellers on the street corners, at the gates of his guarded estate and wherever we got a chance. This method of procedure led to a campaign of repression and finally to a brutal attack upon the members of our organization. Several of them were terribly beaten, among them Caron and Kahn, both ardent young men. It was this attack evidently that determined those men upon seeking personal vengeance upon the Rockefellers. But they took no one into their confidence except Murphy and Berg, as far as I know. I did not know anything of their plans until after the bomb had exploded."

Wanted to Kill Both at Once

"When they were driven out of Tarrytown, Murphy, Berg, Caron and Kahn went back to New York.

"They rented an apartment there, at Lexington avenue and One Hundred and Thirty-third street, and there began the manufacture of the bomb that was meant for the Rockefellers."

"They had no definite idea when they would use it, but it was their plan to wait for an opportunity and hurl it into the carriage or automobile of the Rockefellers whenever they sought attempt to leave the grounds of the Tarrytown estate. They wanted to get both of them together, if possible, but would have taken the life of either one if they had not known what their bomb was made of, but the damage it did when it burst prematurely would seem to indicate that they made it as deadly as they could. According to the statements since made to me by Murphy, they had the bomb almost finished when it exploded, killing Kahn, Caron and Berg, the three who were nearest to it at the time."

Iron Broker Ends Life

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 16.—Despondent, it is believed, because of ill health, Homer P. Goff, 55 years old, a Grafton iron broker, ended his life by shooting himself in the temple in the offices of Goff, Horner & Co., iron brokers, on the eighteenth floor of the Oliver Building, some time Sunday.

Heat, Humidity and Working Power

What constitutes a vitiated atmosphere, and wherein are the depressing effects of "bad" air to be found? Of late, temperature and humidity rather than abnormal quantities of the respired gases, carbon dioxide and oxygen, or the presence of harmful expired organic products of respiration, have been held responsible for the untoward consequences of living under conditions of poor ventilation. Drs. Lee and Scott, of the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Columbia University, have recently reported definite objective signs of physical inefficiency in individuals subjected to an atmosphere of high humidity and high temperature. Measurements were made on the working capacity, that is, the total amount of work which excited muscles of animals are capable of doing before exhaustion sets in. The subjects were kept, to cite a specific illustration, at 21 C. (69.8 F.), with an approximate humidity of 54 per cent., in one case, and at 33 C. (91.4 F.), with a humidity of 89 per cent., in the other. The contrast here quoted represents the distinctions between comfortable atmospheric conditions and the air of hot, humid summer days. As an outcome there was a marked diminution in both the amount of work
