AIRSHIP DRIFTS OUT TO SEA

Parseval Dirigible, Badly Damaged and Helpless, Passes Over Antwerp
Amsterdam, Feb. 18.—A big airship of the Parseval type, apparently damaged by gunfire, flew over Amsterdam yesterday morning at a height of about 600 feet, and its crew was unable to keep the vessel horizontal.

Assuming a vertical position, the air-craft drifted in the direction of the Zuider Zee, an arm of the North sea, carrying with it telegraph wires, with which a dangling rope had become entangled. The air vessel later was sighted minus its gondola.

The correspondent of the Copenhagen "Politiken" reports that a Zeppelin dirigible exploded yesterday over the Danish island of Fanoe, off the west coast of Jutland.

It is planned, according to the report, that 3,000,000 of these persons shall go to the Scandinavian countries, 1,000,000 to Holland and 1,000,000 to Switzerland.

To-day's feature, "His Last Dollar," is absorbing from start to finish appealing as it does to all the emotions of the human being to which the mind is subject. The reproduction of the race track scene, in which all the excitement connected therewith, must be seen to be appreciated.—Adv.

HOW TO GET RID OF DYSPEPSIA

Don't Rely on Medicine; Don't Go on Freak Diet; Common Sense and an Antacid Usually All That Are Needed

"If you have dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach, belching, distress after eating, heartburn or any other stomach trouble due to hyperacidity (the usual cause of stomach troubles), you should take no medicine to act upon the stomach itself. That is positively not the way to cure the trouble. Again, you should not half starve yourself by going without the nutritious food that you need to rebuild waste tissues. Some foods are not good for people even when in perfect health—very rich, sweet, highly seasoned dishes. Avoid these, but eat fairly substantial meals of plain foods. Eat slowly. Even if you drink nothing but water, you should not drink with meals. Drink before and after eating. Do not take pensin or other artificial digestants. If you follow the foregoing simple instructions it is probable that you will find without the aid of medicine, if you want to call it medicine, a little antacid after meals. The best antacid is ordinary bicarbonate of soda, which can be purchased at any drug store. This is not to act upon the stomach but on the contents of the stomach. The antacid, as you learn by common sense, is merely to neutralize or counteract the excess acid so the stomach can digest the food normally. Take a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda in a little cold or hot water after each meal. You should get immediate relief, even if your case is severe. Careful, moderate eating and the use of bicarbonate of soda should put your stomach in normal condition in a short time; if you have not allowed dyspepsia to advance to the extreme stage of developing stomach ulcers.—Adv.

MRS. CARMODY, WHO WILL SPEAK HERE ON "TWILIGHT SLEEP"

Mrs. Francis X. Carmody, the wife of Professor Carmody of the Brooklyn law school, is an ex-regent of the Daughters of the Revolution and the member of many social and charitable organizations, besides being the mother of three children, the youngest of which, Charlemagne Carmody, was born last August at Freiburg, Germany.

Mrs. Mary Sumner Boyd is also the mother of a "Twilight" baby. Both of these ladies donate the earnings of their lectures to the association for the purpose of endowing hospitals and training schools where American mothers can receive "Twilight Sleep" treatment without leaving their native land and where doctors can be taught the correct application of the drug "scopolamin" which produces the effect now universally known as "Twilight Sleep." While these lectures are intended primarily for women, no practicing physician, personally known to the management will be refused admittance. At the conclusion of their discourse, Mrs. Carmody and Mrs. Boyd will gladly answer all questions which the audience may care to ask of them. No woman should miss the opportunity to familiarize herself with this absorbing topic. Adv.

8 MEN KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Six Others Are Seriously Injured in Mine at Wilkes-Barre

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 18.—Eight mine workers were killed and six others seriously injured here yesterday by an explosion of gas in the Prospect Colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company. Two of the injured probably will die.

The accident occurred in the Red Ash vein, nearly two miles from the shaft. A heavy pocket of feeder gas forced out a wall of coal and was ignited by the naked lights of the miners.

The blast swept into the gangway, where miners and boys were at lunch. It was here that most of the killed and injured were found. By dark all the victims had been brought out of the mine. A fire started by the explosion was soon put out.

MRS. FULTON GETS DIVORCE

Daughter of William L. Connell, Scranton, Pa., Feb. 18.—Based on her testimony before Judge James J. O'Neill ten days ago, that financial troubles involving her husband, Charles W. Fulton, now of Kansas City, had led to his deserting her, Mrs. Fulton was yesterday granted an absolute divorce.

Mrs. Fulton, who was Annie C. Connell, daughter of William L. Connell, testified that in 1909 her husband embezzled funds belonging to an insurance company of which he was agent, and when she refused to come to his financial assistance he left her and took up residence in the western city. Fulton did not contest the divorce proceedings.

Barley Water

Barley water is a safe and cooling drink and is nutritious as well. Put into a pitcher one large tablespoonful of well washed pearl barley, pour over it two quarts of boiling water, cover and let stand until cold. Drain off the liquid, add one-half cupful of sugar and a little nutmeg. If liked, the juice of a lemon is a pleasant addition.

SINKING OF BRITISH STEAMSHIP BY A GERMAN SUBMARINE OFF COAST OF FRANCE

SINKING OF THE BRITISH STEAMER IKARA OFF HAVRE. © N. Y. HERALD.

That Germany is determined to carry out her policy of starving out England by operating against the ships of the Allies is made evident by the picture shown above, which shows the sinking of the British steamship Ikaros. The Ikaros was sunk on the same day that four other British ships were torpedoed. She had a cargo worth $1,000,000 and was en route from a South American port to Havre. She was sunk within sight of the harbor of Havre after her captain, believing the destroyer to be a pilot boat, had hoisted the pilot flag. The submarine torpedoed the vessel in the bow and a terrific explosion occurred. The ship immediately began to sink and the crew took to the boats. A French tugboat happened to be near the scene, and she made fast to the sinking ship and attempted to beach her in safe waters. She was not successful, and the Ikaros sank at the entrance to the harbor.
