CHANGE THE TRESPASS LAWMr. Maurer Would Reduce the Fine and Exempt Private Roads From Being Closed

The Maurer bill amending the anti-trespass law of 1905, which forbids the trespassing upon private property that has been posted warning trespassers to keep off under a penalty of $10, reduces the fine to $5 and provides as follows, this being the real meat in the bill:

"Provided that under no circumstances shall any person be arrested or prosecuted as a trespasser for being in or upon any private road owned by any individual, firm or corporation when such road leads to or is used for the purpose of reaching any public highway or church, or any school, store, postoffice or other public building; or any mill, factory or mine, or any dwelling rented and occupied by the employees of any mill, factory or mine, or for being in or about any such public building or dwelling."

The closing section fixes the penalty at $5 instead of $10, as in the original law.

Treasury Money

The State Treasury yesterday received $275 collected from a supposedly indigent insane patient who was amply able to pay the amount necessary for maintenance. Other money taken in at the treasury was $127,954 in premiums, $5,510 auto license fund, $1,000 for notary licenses and $21,204 tax on bank stock. The total receipts for the day were $164,193 and the payments $103,520.

General Appropriation Bill

Chairman Woodward, of the House Appropriations Committee, plans to introduce the general appropriation bill in the House on March 1, when it will at once be recommitted to committee and trimmed to meet the views of the hundreds who will wish to insert items in the measure. Thus far 300 appropriation bills have reached the committee, calling for more than $25,000,000, and the Legislative Reference Bureau is drawing up many more to be presented in March.

Reorganization Endorsed

The plan of reorganization of the State Agricultural Department as proposed by Governor Brumbaugh, which includes the placing of the department under a commission of seven, has been endorsed by the legislative committee of the State Board of Agriculture. The Governor says that the reorganization will retain the farmers' institute features, the orchard demonstration work and the work of the State Economic Zoologist. The other educational features will be turned over to State College.

CORNELL PROFESSOR TO SPEAK

Dr. Alvin S. Johnson will address Peace Meeting on March 6.

Word has just been received that Dr. Alvin S. Johnson, who is professor of political economy at Cornell University, will be the chief speaker of the evening at the peace meeting which will be held in the Technical High school auditorium March 6, at 8 o'clock. Another speaker will also be secured.

The selection of an economist, a practical man used to dealing with figures, causes and results, is but a portent of the present tendency of the peace movement. The new peace movement not only recognizes all of the truth of the old, but adds the intensely practical side of dollars and cents, showing conclusively that war does not pay and cannot accomplish the end for which it was created, at the same time offering the world a substitute for it.

To explain this side of the movement the well-known economist of Ithaca is especially fitted. As the nations of Europe have found that they could not fight and use strong drink at the same time, so the world has learned that war is an anachronism in the twentieth century. Either civilization must end war or war will end civilization. The Pennsylvania Arbitration and Peace Society, of which a number of prominent men of Harrisburg are members, is arranging to bring Dr. Johnson to this city.

ALTERS CAMERON TRUST DEED

Friendly Court Action Taken to Protect Elliott-Fisher Company Notes

Philadelphia, Feb. 19.—A deed of trust created by former United States Senator James Donald Cameron, controlling all his real and personal property, except his home in Harrisburg, is the basis of an amicable action begun in common pleas court No. 5 yesterday, so that the trustees may be empowered to assume the obligations of Mr. Cameron as indorser of notes of the Elliott-Fisher Company, aggregating $255,000.

Mr. Cameron was interested in the company to the amount of $700,000, but when the deed was made, through an oversight, there was no provision put in the instrument authorizing the trustees to make extensions and renewals of the notes.

The court was asked to reform the deed so that the trustees might assume this obligation and pledge any or all of the assets of the trust as might be necessary.

K. OF P. CONFER DEGREES

Upwards of three hundred members of the Knights of Pythias, representing the larger towns of this district, attended the convocation held at Broad and James streets last night. A number of addresses were made by lodge officers as well as local members. Among the local members to speak were Mayor John K. Royal, Jesse J. Lybarger and Benjamin Moore. Following the degree work a banquet was served.

Efficiency Expert Will Open Series of Three Lectures in Technical High School Auditorium This Evening—Large Retailers to Send Delegations

Frank Jewell Raymond, of New York, will have one of his largest audiences here to-night at the Technical High school auditorium when he makes his first address to Harrisburg business people. He is an expert on practical talks on raising efficiency and producing powers and comes to Harrisburg after talking to the employees of some of the largest retail firms in the country.

Through a co-operative plan the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce has been enabled to bring Raymond here for a series of three talks, the first to-night, the second Tuesday in the Chestnut street auditorium and the third next Thursday in the Technical High school auditorium.

Raymond will have an audience of 1,200 business people. So many persons took up the series that the price of the admission to members of the Chamber of Commerce has been reduced to fifty cents for seventy-five cents. The public can purchase tickets at the Tech box office this evening for fifty cents for one lecture. Members charges are fifty cents for three lectures.

The Harrisburg retailers heard Raymond at a noon-day luncheon and soon afterwards engaged him for a series of talks and most of the big stores will have large delegations at the lecture to-night.

Raymond's announced topic for to-night is "Personal Inventory," covering these various subdivisions in his address: "The sales person, the development of latent strong points, character and health, appearance, personality and self-confidence."

He is alternating in this series with Reading, where he opened last night, talking to about 800 people, while Harrisburg had until noon taken up 1,200 tickets.

ANOTHER ZEPPELIN LOST: FOUR OF CREW DROWNED

Copenhagen, Feb. 18, via London, Feb. 19, 3:49 A. M.—Confirmation has been received here that a second German airship has been wrecked off the coast of Jutland. The Zeppelin L3 exploded on Fance Island Wednesday and another Zeppelin commanded by Captain Count Platen, sank to the shallow coastal water ten miles north of Esbjerg, Jutland, to-day. Four of the crew were drowned but the others managed to get ashore. Some of them were suffering from broken legs and other injuries. In all three officers and eight men escaped. Count Platen had both legs broken. The airship drifted to sea. The survivors say that they were on patrol duty over the North Sea when the weight of snow on the envelope caused the airship to sink to the surface of the water. The survivors when they gained the shore first represented themselves as fishermen, hoping thereby to escape internment. Afterwards, however, they admitted the truth. They will be interned at Odense, 87 miles southwest of Copenhagen with the men who escaped from the Zeppelin wrecked Wednesday. It is understood that at the time of the accident the whole Zeppelin fleet was patrolling the North Sea just outside Danish waters.

London, Feb. 19, 11:15 A. M.—The activity of Zeppelin airships over the North Sea continues, telegraphs the correspondent at Copenhagen of the London "Star," and this in spite of the fact that two airships recently have been lost Gaps in the fleet caused by disaster are being filled by Zeppelins drawn from the airship stations in Western Germany.

Harrisburgers Are Bridge Viewers

The Dauphin county Court this afternoon named Phil S. Meyer, Frank A. Smith and Gus M. Steinmetz a board of viewers to determine the advisability of replacing a bridge over Shamokin creek, between Schuylkill and Upper Augusta townships, Northumberland county. It is proposed to put the bridge at the site of one that was carried away by the high water on January 9 last. The probable cost of the new structure will be $8,000. The viewers will be required to report their findings on March 22, next.

Rev. Mr. Conner to Speak To-night
A meeting will be held to-night at 8 o'clock in the Hummel Street Church of the Brethren at which the Rev. D. K. Conner, of Harrisburg, Pa., will speak on "The Price of Heaven." To-morrow night he will talk on "The Price of Hell."

ALL CLUES TO BE RUN DOWN

County Authorities Continue In Their Efforts to Solve the Allison Hill Skeleton Mystery

The experience of the county authorities in the case of Bessie Guyer, who has been located well and happy, will probably be repeated time and time again before a solution is reached to the perplexing tangle surrounding the finding of the skeleton of a young girl in the cellar at 133 South Fourteenth street, last Friday.

Neighbors are lending the authorities valuable aid and District Attorney Stroup will follow every clue of a "missing" girl until the end is reached whether it be the same that came out of the Bessie Guyer search or one that cannot be traced, evidencing in a slight degree that she may be the victim.

The anonymous note sent to the District Attorney turned the attention of the investigators to a more detailed examination of the neighbors, who are giving what help they can. District Attorney Stroup said that efforts are being made to find the names of girls who may at one time have been in that house. Getting the identity of a possible victim, he believes, is the first step in solving the mystery. The name of the writer of the anonymous note has not yet been learned.

Bessie Guyer was located yesterday by County Detective Walters. She is the wife of Charles W. Campbell and is living in Chambersburg. She could give no information of value to Detective Walters.

THE CHURCH'S WEAKNESS

Its Impotency in Daily Questions to Be Expounded by Dr. William N. Yates

Taking his themes from the events of daily life, the Rev. Dr. William Nathan Yates, pastor of the Fourth Street Church of God, will speak on "Why the Church Grows Weak." Sunday afternoon to meet only. This talk will be a sequel to last Sunday night's sermon on "God's Call for Men," when the Rev. Mr. Yates addressed a large crowd of prominent politicians, lawyers and other professional men.

In his talk Sunday the Rev. Dr. Yates will take his text from the killing of Eli's sons and the death of Eli, showing hereby why the church is such an impotent factor in the many questions of daily life.

These talks are exclusively for men only and that they are creating much interest is evidenced by the large attendance. Even now the class is confronted with the problem of more room, but this is expected to be solved within the near future.

CHILDREN HONOR WASHINGTON

Pupils of St. Andrew's Kindergarten Hold Special Exercises

Washington's Birthday was observed this morning by the pupils of St. Andrew's kindergarten with special exercises in the parish house at Nineteenth and Market streets. The girls and boys had invited their parents and other friends and the program was witnessed by many visitors.

The feature of the children singing an appropriate song, under the direction of the teacher, Miss Elizabeth L. Hillery, and her assistant, Miss Marie L. Getter, the kindergartens each donned a cocked hat of bright red paper and a crepe sash of navy blue, which had been made by the children themselves during the past week. Then they drilled about the school room, led by one of their number tattooing away on a drum.

DOG ADOPTS THE MAYOR

Newcomer at Police Headquarters Sleeps on His Honor's Couch

A white terrier dog, black spotted and very dirty, has adopted Mayor Royal for a master. The Mayor already has a dog and he turned the newcomer over to Charles T. Fleck, desk officer, who will keep it until Johnny Grissinger, the custodian, becomes weary of it. Johnny is the boss of police headquarters in things canine.

When the Mayor arrived in his office this morning the dog was comfortably sleeping on his Honor's big leather couch. The appearance of the city's Chief Executive only caused the animal to roll over on its back inviting the Mayor to play with it. How the animal got into the sanctum is a mystery.

lan told him he was "willing to go back to Los Angeles and face the music."

Evidence Found in Cabin

"We found much valuable evidence in Caplan's cabin," said Thayer. "Besides several letters and other documents implicating several San Francisco men in Caplan's activities, we found three sticks of eighty per cent dynamite similar to that bought near Richmond, Cal., and used to destroy the 'Times'."

"Caplan had a loaded pistol under his pillow, but three of our men burst into his room and overpowered him before he could offer resistance. He was suffering from toothache and was in no mood to make trouble.

"Caplan has aged somewhat since we lost trace of him four years ago. His hair has turned grey but he looked to be in good health. From papers found in Caplan's cabin, we learned that he has a wife, Mrs. Florence Caplan, and two children living in Chicago.

Was Roaming About the World

"Caplan said that for two years before buying his property at Rolling Bay, he had been roaming about the world, having gone to London, Paris and other European cities. He also admitted having lived at the Home Anarchist Colony near Tacoma. We traced him there once, but lost the trail and were unable to pick it up again until after the arrest of Schmidt in New York.

Two Indictments Against Caplan

Los Angeles, Feb. 19.—Two indictments stand against David Caplan, one of murder in connection with the dynamiting of the "Times" building. The other indictment was returned by a Federal Grand Jury for alleged illegal transportation of dynamite.

M. A. Schmidt, under arrest in New York and who is to be returned here for trial, is said to have been an accomplice of Caplan and J. B. McNamara and the same offenses are charged against him.

no departure from the position Germany has taken. The influential "Lokal Anzeiger" says that "we Germans have resolved to fight without regard for the consequences."

The second of the British bi-weekly reports from the front speaks of severe fighting near Ypres, on the western end of the battle lines. German attacks gained possession of several British trenches, which, however, were won back subsequently.

The Austrian troops are reported to be continuing their victorious advance through Bukovina, rolling back the extreme eastern end of the Russian line. A London dispatch says that the Russians have now evacuated all of Bukovina. Official reports from Petrograd and Vienna speak of encounters of great severity in the Carpathians, but apparently no decision is near. In Northern Poland the Russians are making desperate efforts to stay the advance of the German army which drove them from East Prussia, and the fighting now in progress is reported by the Petrograd war office as "reaching the climax of stubbornness."

The German War Office in to-day's communication asserts that substantial progress has been made in the invasion of Northern Russia along the German border, following the expulsion of the Russian army from East Prussia. The Germans are said to have captured Tauragien, in the province of Kovno, as well as several villages further south. In Central Poland, along the Warsaw front, the situation is unchanged.

SING SING MAN GETS FORD JOB

Automobile Factory Employs Prisoner Recently Discharged

Detroit, Feb. 19.—The Ford automobile factory has accepted a man recently discharged from Sing Sing.

Before a federal investigation commission in New York recently Henry Ford contended that he could make an honest man of any criminal, no matter how bad, if he could employ him under proper conditions.

take men to Harrisburg to see our goods and for some reason they get away from us. When we find them, they are in some hotel with two or three women and drunk. This happened but a short time ago at the Hoffman House.

"It happens not only in night time, but during the day. We think the side rooms should be shut to women and girls. Harrisburg is much better, to-day than it was a year ago, but the side rooms are the breeding places of bad women and girls. We don't ask you to refuse the licenses but we would like to see you make clean hotels and you can do it, too."

W. E. Straub, of Berryburg, is the writer of the letter opposing granting of a license to W. H. Bowman for the St. Lawrence hotel, in that town. Straub mentions two men whom he refers to as habitual drunkards. Out of thirteen trips one of these men made to the hotel, he departed intoxicated eleven times, so Straub alleges. The court directed that the letters be filed and that the attorneys for the applicants should be given proper notice. The letters will be considered later.

A Middletown Hotel Attacked

Most of the morning was taken up with hearing testimony in the case of Harry White, who recently took over the Ann street hotel, Middletown, from John A. Haas, and whose application for a renewal of the license is being opposed by more than 125 residents of the Second ward, Middletown, and more than six hundred residents of the borough.

White's application is signed by 125 qualified electors of the ward in which he seeks to do business and he also filed a general petition signed by 353 electors from all three of the borough wards. The remonstrants closed their case just as the morning court session was adjourned.

Persons living just across the street from the hotel this morning declared that they for years had been deprived of the enjoyment of sitting on their front porches because of alleged boisterous and offensive conduct of the frequenters of the hotel. One woman stated that she many times was obliged to go to the hotel to get her husband and that not once did she find him sober.

Samuel Lerley, who for many years has conducted the Samaritan Free Mission, which is located about a block and a half from the hotel, besides saying the hotel is not necessary and is a nuisance, declared that the frequenters in the past became so boisterous at times as to make it dangerous for pedestrians to pass the place at night. Consequently, he said, he changed his course in going home so that he would not be obliged to pass the hotel in going to and from the town's business section.

Former Burgess Testifies

C. B. Erisman, former burgess of Middletown, whose home immediately adjoins the hotel, said he didn't care to admit that the section in which the hotel is located is a "bad" one but he did admit that other townspeople considered it as such. For two or three years and up until last fall, he said, he frequently saw drunken men in and around the hotel; many times was annoyed by their singing and fighting and once was obliged to appeal to the then proprietor to prevent the playing of a phonograph "which was run from early evening until nearly midnight."

The former burgess said at least one woman of ill repute had frequented the place, but he thought it would be better if the court and counsel for White would not force him to tell her name. He was not pressed further for her name.

William Stipe, janitor of a school building located within a block of the hotel, said he "saw a peg-legged fellow with a cane in the place when he was drunk but I never saw him come out."

Stipe added that he had not noticed this since White has had the hotel.

J. A. Kain, an Ann street business man, said he does not believe the hotel is a nuisance.

"I have not used a drop of liquor for more than a year," he said, "but I do know that liquor caused me to lose $6,000 and more."

Kain apparently took offense at the manner of cross-examination when White's counsel asked if he did not
