

Explosive Coughs Fairly Rack You to Pieces

Foley's Honey and Tar is Just Like Oil on Troubled Waters for those Violent Racking Coughs.

They rasp and strain your throat, tear at your chest and lungs, congest the blood in your neck and head, almost strangle you, leave you weak and fairly exhausted. Often they are a symptom of such grave diseases as bronchitis, pleurisy, pneumonia—even tuberculosis.

"Oh, for a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY and TAR to stop this awful coughing."

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMBINED spreads a healing, soothing coating as it glides down the raw inflamed throat. It loosens the cough, brings the phlegm up easily. Takes away that tight feeling across the chest, and eases stuffy, wheezy breathing and hoarseness. A dealer of Toledo, Ohio, (name furnished) who has sold FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR for years, writes: "One of my customers came into store to use long distance telephone. He was coughing so violently that he could not talk. I set him down and gave him a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR, and in 10 minutes he had recovered. He had been unable to work for three months, due to this cough. He says FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR relieved him entirely of this trouble."

S. MARTIN, Bassett, Neb., writes: "I had a severe cough and cold and was almost past going. I got a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR and used it frequently, when having violent coughing spells, and am glad to say it cured my cough entirely and my cold soon disappeared. Contains no opiates. Absolutely a pure medicine. Refuse substitutes.  EVERY USER IS A FRIEND. Geo. A. Gargas, 16 North Third street and P. R. R. Station.

FALL CURED A CRIPPLE

Tumbled Down Stairs and Then Stopped Using Crutches Owosso, Mich., Feb. 19.—If in need of a surgical operation, try falling down stairs is a prescription which is not being recommended by W. J. Parker, a Corunna lawyer, though it effected a cure in his case. Parker slipped on an icy walk, injuring his ankle, which swelled to twice its normal size. Treatment did not relieve it, and he hobbled about on crutches while suffering great pain. One evening as he started down a basement stairs to attend a furnace fire he tripped and fell to the bottom. In the moments of agitation which followed he scrambled to his feet, decided no bones were broken and put coal in the furnace. Then he went back upstairs to discover that he had walked without crutches. Surgeons who examined the ankle say the first fall caused an obscure dislocation and that the second reduced it. Parker has discarded his crutches permanently.

NEW OFFICIALS CHOSEN FOR RESUSCITATED BANK

Leader of Lebanon Bar Made Solicitor and York County Cashier of Schaefferstown Institution—Sui-cides Blamed on Moon

Schaefferstown, Pa., Feb. 19.—Steps forecasting the early reopening of the First National bank here were taken yesterday in the selection of certain new officials who will assume the active administration of its affairs.

With the resumption of business President Uriah B. Horst yesterday afternoon announced the election of Attorney Howard C. Shirk, of Lebanon, who is the recognized leader of the Lebanon county bar, as the bank's new solicitor. Attorney Shirk succeeds Attorney Abraham S. Brendle, of this place, who has filled the position from the time of the bank's organization, six years ago, and as a member of the directorate yesterday cast his vote for the new solicitor. James Ranney, a York county bank official, is reported to have been chosen as cashier on the recommendations of National Bank Examiner Joseph M. Logan, and will take the vacancy of Alvin Binner, the suicide cashier, whose misapplication of the bank's funds caused its wrecking.

Thomas Mock, a Heidelberg township school teacher, will assist Cashier Ranney as teller, it being the purpose of the directorate to discontinue the old plan of having but one man in the bank, as was the case during the incumbency of Binner as cashier. While President Horst and his fellow directors continue to maintain silence on the subject of the bank's financial affairs, there is strong ground for belief that the bank will be reopened next Tuesday. All that President Horst would say on the subject was that official announcement would be made later in the week.

Examiner Logan is now being assisted by an expert accountant from the department at Washington, and on the progress of their work depends the day of the bank's reopening.

Witchery Chapter to Crash It is now definitely known that not until all of the accounts have been verified and the exact condition of the bank's finances are known will permission be given by the Comptroller of the Currency for the institution's resumption.

With all of the $42,500 deficit paid in or satisfactorily arranged for by the stockholders on the basis of the $170 per-share assessment, the bank is now regarded as being as substantial financially as at any time in its history. The funds will be augmented by so much of the $10,000 and $14,000 deposits of Squire Irwin Horst and D. B. Kiefer, respectively, as the examination discloses their indebtedness to be. Cashier Binner's surety bond of $15,000 has not yet been paid.

The declaration of a student of "hexerei," who claims to have spent his long lifetime in planting his potatoes and doing his other work, even to cutting his corn, by the signs of the zodiac, that financial troubles had nothing to do with the four suicides which have been recorded in Lebanon county since February 6, finds wide credence among the superstitious. It is a result of the phases of the moon, he says. When there are two full moons in one month, followed by a month in which there is no full moon at all, and then succeeded by a month with two full moons again, it is disastrous, and a suicide epidemic always accompanies such phenomena. It has never been known to fail, says the apostle of "hexerei." An inspection of the almanac shows that full moons occurred on January 1 and 20; that there is no full moon scheduled for this month, and that full moon is again due March 1 and 31, thus verifying, to his satisfaction, all the prophet has said and providing a complete, sufficient and satisfactory alibi for the local bank failure, which has all along been charged with responsibility by those unspookified in "hexerei."

LIVING MODELS

Advance Showing of Spring Outergarments and Millinery at Bowman's Store

A very interesting exhibit of new spring outergarments and millinery by living models at Bowman's, attracted throngs of women yesterday and to-day who were profuse in their approval of the pretty gowns and stylish hats.

The newest and choicest creations of leading American and such well-known Parisian designers as Poiret, Parquin, Callot, Jony and others were shown.

Each young woman who posed as a model wore an exact copy of some Parisian model, exclusive in design and was attired to indicate the modes that will prevail this spring. The showing will continue to-morrow.

PICKING A PICKPOCKET

Rules That Guide Chicago Detectives in Spotting Their Man

How to tell a pickpocket when you see one—the feat is apparently not difficult, for all applicants who take the civil service examination to become Chicago detectives are required to have mastered it. "What are the physical characteristics of pickpockets?" the would be thief catchers are asked. And this is the answer they are expected to give: "Pickpockets ordinarily travel in mobs and are of two distinct types—one small or medium stature, the other tall and muscular. As a general rule, the age runs from eighteen to thirty-five. Their hands are soft, show no signs of work, and the fingers of all except the 'stall' and particularly the fingers of the 'wire' are long and slender. Their eyes are shifting and furtive. Their complexion is generally sallow and without distinct color, this being due either to prison pallor in types or to the use of cocaine or other drugs. The cocaine users show drawn features and prominent cheek bones and usually have distinct rings around the eyes.

"The temperament of pickpockets is high strung because of the dangers of the 'profession' or from the use of drugs. At the same time they are polite almost to the point of obsequiousness. They seldom carry weapons and rarely resort to force. On duty they dress to suit the occasion, generally well, but not conspicuously. They avoid wearing anything that might lead to identification."—Baltimore American.

elling at chopping wood, ploughing and performing other masculine tasks, Emma Tobacco, 16, took a rifle, a box of crackers and a saddle horse and ran away from her home near Republic. She was arrested by Marshal Gowden near Meyers Falls. The marshal found her rolled up in blankets in a clump of bushes with her horse tied to a nearby tree. Crossing the Columbia river she told the ferryman that she would shoot the first man to stop her. The marshal secured her rifle without trouble.

"I left home to have my own way," she said after her capture. "Though I weigh only 98 pounds and was alone, I was not afraid when I crossed the mountains between Republic and Kettle Falls. I was out three nights. "If mother will not let me go to school, and will force me to plough, split wood and haul wood to Republic, I will go away again. We live seven miles east of Republic. I have had to haul wood to Republic a good many days, loading and unloading it myself. I had no rest on Sunday. I will not stay home if it is to be that way. "I have a sister living at Billings, Mont., and was on my way there, intending to make the trip alone on horseback. I had heard some boys talking about being away from home and camping out, and they had so much fun

I thought I would like to try it alone. I did not realize the fun I had expected; yet, at the same time, there was some enjoyment in it and in being away."

The girl is bright in appearance, has a pleasing face, and enjoyed the humorous side of her episode as she laughingly told some of her story.

interesting fact that if alcoholic psychosis and general paralysis are deducted, the proportion of the sexes is practically the same. The diseases mentioned, says "The Journal of the American Medical Association," would seem to be those which, generally, are the result of dissipation. Alcohol and syphilis again established their superiority as man's most dangerous allied foes.

Champion Tobacco Sizer Marietta, Feb. 19.—Childs Heffelfinger, residing with Charles Staley on the Niستان farm, northeast of town, has a record which is hard to beat, and he claims the championship of Lancaster county. In one day he sized over 354 pounds of tobacco, took an hour for dinner and only worked up to supper time in the evening. The tobacco was seedleaf and of fine quality.
