SAPHO KISS IS OUTDONE BY KURT IN "PARSIFAL"

MELANIE KURT

What proved to be the longest and most frankly affectionate stage kiss on record was bestowed by Mme. Kurt upon Mr. Sembach recently at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, during the second act of the perform-ance of "Parsifal." It also was the first time Mme. Kurt had appeared here in the role of Kundry. In years gone by Miss Olga Nethersole, in "Sapho," held the endurance kissing record on the theatrical stage, but Mme. Kurt wrested honors from her. Unlike other dramatic sopranos who have acted and sung the role of the seductive Kundry, Mme. Kurt did not use her long veil as a curtain. She let all the big audience see her kissing. and the audience gasped a bit, too.

How Any Woman Can Remove Hairy Growths

(Beauty Culture)

It is not longer necessary for a woman to visit a beauty specialist to have superfluous hairs removed, for, with the aid of plain delatone paste, she can, in the privacy of her own home, remove even a stubborn growth in a fery few minutes. The paste is made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. This is applied to the hairs and after 2 or 3 minutes removed and the skin washed, when it will be left clear and hairless. Be sure you buy real delatone.—Adv.

CLASSIC WAR POEMS

Selected by J. Howard Wert

THE BATTLE OF WATERLOO BY LORD BYRON

Much of the heavy fighting of the present gigantic contest in Europe has centered in close proximity to the decisive field of Waterloo. Of this great battle, which sealed the fate of Napoleon, much has been written in prose and verse. Of poetic descriptions, perhaps the most vivid is that given by Lord Byron in the third canto of "Childe Harold" of which the essential stanzas are here presented. A ball at Brussels, graced by the presence of many high English officers, was the prelude to the roar of cannon which heralded the approach

There was a sound of revelry by night,
And Belgium's capital had gathered then
Her Beauty and her Chivalry: and bright
The lamps shone o'er fair women and brave men;
A thousand hearts beat happily; and when
Music arose, with its voluptuous swell,
Soft eyes looked love to eyes which spake again,
And all went merry as a marriage bell;
But hush! hark! a deep sound strikes like a rising knell!

Did ye not hear it?-No;-'twas but the wind Did ye not hear it?—No;—'twas but the wind,
Or the car rattling o'er the stony street:
On with the dance! let joy be unconfined;
No sleep till morn, when youth and pleasure meet
To chase the glowing hours with flying feet—
But hark!—that heavy sound breaks in once more,
As if the clouds its echo would repeat;
And nearer, clearer, deadlier than before!

Arm! arm! it is!—it is!—the cannon's opening roar!

Ah! then and there was hurrying to and fro,
And gathering tears, and tremblings of distress,
And cheeks all pale, which but an hour ago
Blushed at the praise of their own loveliness;
And there were sudden partings, such as press
The life from out young hearts, and choking sighs
Which ne'er might be repeated; who could guess
If ever more should meet those mutual eyes,
Since upon night so sweet such awful morn could rise?

And there was mounting in hot haste; the steed, The mustering squadron, and the clattering car, Went pouring forward with impetuous speed, And swiftly forming in the ranks of war; And the deep thunder, peal on peal, afar; And near, the beat of the alarming drum Roused up the soldier ere the morning star;
While througed the citizens with terror dumb,
Or whispering with white lips, "The foe! they come, they come!"

Last noon beheld them full of lusty life,
Last eve in beauty's circle proudly gay,
The midnight brought the signal-sound of strife,
The morn the marshaling in arms,—the day,
Battle's magnificently-stern array!
The thunder-clouds close o'er it, which when rent,
The earth is covered thick with other clay,
Which her own clay shall cover, heaped and pent,
Rider and horse,—friend, foe,—in one red burial blent!
