

A LARGE CONTRACT

What H. C. Kennedy Wants Every Person in Harrisburg to Do
When H. C. Kennedy, the enterprising druggist, first offered a 50-cent package of Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price, and guaranteed to return the money if it did not cure, he thought it probable from his experience with other medicines for these diseases that he would have a good many packages returned. But although he has sold hundreds of bottles, not one has been brought back.

THE ART OF DINING

Many People Indulge in the Joys of the Epicure at Small Expense

Some people enjoy all the delicacies of the season, and some don't. Some pay fancy prices and some do not. The price doesn't depend so much on what you eat as it does on where you eat it. The same article, cooked in the same way, will vary widely in cost at different restaurants. So after all it's a simple matter to live well at a moderate expense. It's merely a matter of selecting the right cafe or restaurant. When it comes to Harrisburg the selection is easy. The Manhattan solves the problem. Here is a restaurant conducted on an extensive scale, offering a bill of fare that will compare favorably with others charging two or three times as much for the same cuisine. That is not all—there's hardly a good thing to eat that is not on the bill of fare. Ask for what you want and you get a liberal portion and it is cooked and served just as you like it. It not only looks and tastes good—it is good. In the first place the quality is good—and it has been prepared and cooked by chefs who are experts in their line. The kitchen is supplied with every modern convenience and is kept in a clean and sanitary condition. A clean kitchen adds just as much to the relish of a meal as a clean tablecloth—you get both at the Manhattan. The meats are all government inspected, the sea food is abundant and high grade, and the vegetables and other viands are selected and choice. There is a printed menu for breakfast, dinner and supper and there is so much on each one that it would burden your patience to print the lists and yet with all this excellent service you can dine at the Manhattan for as little as three dollars and up per week. You can lunch from a few cents up to any amount you care to pay. The public can get an idea of the things good to eat at the Manhattan by watching the show window, which is tastefully changed every day.—Adv.

MISS LANSON CLOSES COURSE
The full skirt, however, is without doubt, first in style, whether inspired by peasant skirts or Victorian crinolines. It may be cut circular, gored with as many gores as nine, straight pleated or gathered, the requirement being that it flares at the bottom. The Dutch costumes are particularly suited to the young girl. They often have a broad strap over the shoulders, with a bige buttoning straight down the center front. The skirt is full, with a slight bulging at the hips. Sometimes these dresses are topped with a short Dutch jacket. White or Delft blue are favored colors for this style of dress.

Buttons to match the material of the waist and the pockets, sometimes made with a fancy flap, are the only trimming. They are often buttoned from the top of the high collar to the waist line, while others are made with the low collars. Organdy is combined with butter-colored lace. Honiton braid in this color is used as an applique on white organdy and black mousseline de soie.

CLEANING A BIG BRITISH HOWITZER WITH GREAT CARE
The most distinctive feature of this gun is the horizontal breech block, which acts, not after the fashion of our usual guns, with a hinged block swinging to the right, but horizontally, after the manner of the German field pieces. The rear end of the barrel is cut right through so as to admit a square steel block, which slides backward and forward by the simple movement of a lever. When drawn to the right, the end of the barrel is revealed. In this view the gun is being cleaned and oiled with meticulous care, so that nothing jams during the heat of action. The breech block has been removed from the barrel, revealing the cavity in which it slides to and fro. This 4.5-inch howitzer fires a lyddite shell and a shrapnel shell, both weighing thirty-five pounds. These shells are propelled by a separate cordite cartridge.
