JAMES A. ROTHROCK DEAD

He Had Lived in Steelton Many Years, But Changed His Residence to Highspire, March 1

James A. Rothrock, aged 52 years, died of a complication of diseases at his home in Highspire this morning. He had been an engineer in the employ of the Pennsylvania Steel Company for many years and resided in the borough all the time he worked for the company until Monday of this week when he and his family removed to Market and Roop streets, Highspire, where death occurred. Owing to ill health he had not worked for some months, but the past week he appeared to be gaining in strength and had announced to friends that he expected to start work again in a few days. Funeral arrangements were not completed to-day.

Announcement was made this morning that the Rev. Albert Stern, a Redemptorist Father, of New York City, will arrive in the borough late this week to take charge of a mission which will be opened in St. John's German Catholic church text Sunday morning to be continued for one week.

Services on the opening day will be held at 8.15 and 10.15 o'clock in the morning and 4 7 o'clock in the morning and 4 7.45 o'clock each evening. The last service of the mission will be held Sunday afternoon, March 14, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Anarchists in Cathedral Plot Liable to Twenty-five Years In State's Prison

POLICE STILL ON DUTY AT CHURCH

Prominent Red Flag Devotees, Among Them Emma Goldman, Declare the Two Men Arrested Are Unknown to the Anarchistic Leaders

New York, March 3.—In presenting to the Grand Jury to day the cases of Frank Abarno and John Carbone, who are accused of placing bombs in St. Patrick's Cathedral yesterday, District Attorney Perkins will ask for their indictment under a section of the penal code designating as a felony the acts of persons who attempt to explode explosives in any building with intent to destroy, although no damage is done. The penalty upon conviction may be twenty-five years in State's prison.

The arrest of Abarno and Carbone ended an ambitious plot, according to the police, of which their wrecking of the cathedral was to be only the first of a series of similar explosions directed against the homes of Andrew Carnegie, John D. Rockefeller and other rich men, and extending to the banks.

COUNTY DECIDES TO PAY THE

rs Reach Unanimous Decision to Meet Claims Made By Hunt-ers—Several Thousand Dollars Will Be Required, It's Estimated

The Dauphin County Commissioner pay all proper claims for bounties made by hunters under existing legislation which places premiums on the killing of certain noxious animals. This decision coincides with a decree recently filed by the Attorney General who holds that counties are liable for such claims and it will mean the layout of several thousand dollars in Dauphin county

About one hundred claims already alone.

Albout one hundred claims already have been presented to the County Commissioners, some dating as far back as 1908, but the Commissioners are of the opinion that the majority of the claims are yet in the hands of justices and aldermen who deferred presenting them for payment while waiting for the county to reach a decision in the matter.

Under the act of 1913 counties are required to pay bounties as follows: wild cat, $4; gray fox, 2; wessel, $2; goshawk, 50 cents; horned owl, 50 cents. This act does not refer to red fox and mink, but prior legislation puts them in the class of noxious animals and places a $2 premium on the head of each.

Claims which the Commissioners have agreed to pay cover the killing of 65 weasels; 11 gray foxes; 2 horned owls; 1 hawk and 3 red foxes, that had been killed prior to July, 1913.

The claims for the bounties are in the form of affidavits made before either a justice, notary or alderman. Besides setting out that a hunter killed

The claims for the bounties are in the form of affidavits made before either a justice, notary or alderman. Besides setting out that a hunter killed a particular noxious animal or bird, the papers must show that the official before whom the oath was taken first had severed the ears or head from the carcasses on which the rewards are sought. Since the act of 1913 does not include mink and red fox, the Commissioners decided that claims on such animals killed after July of that year, will not be allowed. Four such claims, however, bear earlier dates and they will be satisfied in accordance with the prior legislation which included them. Colonel Fred M. Ott, County Solicitor, this morning advised the County Commissioners that they cannot, under any circumstances, refuse to pay proper bounty claims, even though the State makes no provision to reimburse the county for such moneys paid out.
