HARVARD'S PAYING SPORTS

Football in 1913 Shows Profit of Nearly $60,000. Cambridge, Mass., March 3.—It cost Harvard about $200 per man to develop the football team of eighteen men who assisted Charley Brickley to score five field goals against Yale in the stadium in 1913. This report of the Harvard Athletic Association for the year ending July 31, 1914, showed that the receipts amounted to $94,494.97 and expenses to $34,511. The receipts fell $20,000 below that of the previous year, which Graduate Treasurer Moore says was due to the weak schedule and bad weather.

BAKER MAY COME BACK

Money Blocks Deal to Send Him to Yankees. New York, March 3.—Colonel Jacob Ruppert, part owner of the New York American League club, confirmed the report that he had offered Connie Mack $25,000 for Frank Baker, the third baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics, who has retired to his farm at Trappe, Md. Baker is willing to let Baker come here for $50,000, a price similar to that which Chicago paid him for Eddie Collins, it is stated. However, Colonel Ruppert asserted that he did not regard Baker as being worth any more than the offer he had made. It was reported that Mack would comprise on $25,000 if Fred Maisel were thrown into the bargain, but Manager Donovan is not likely to sanction such a deal, it is said.

Miss Mary Cline, of Waynesboro, has been a guest of Miss Helen Fogel-songer the past few days. Quicksilver The ore from which quicksilver is obtained is a brilliant red rock known as cinabar. When of high purity it is actually vermilion in color. Cinabar is the original source of the pigment known commercially as vermilion. It is a compound of sulphur and quicksilver, and in order to separate the latter from the sulphur the rock is roasted. Passing off in the form of a gas, the mercury is afterwards condensed and flows out in a fine stream, like a continuous pencil of molten silver. Like gold and silver, mercury is occasionally found in a native or pure state. Sometimes the miner's pick penetrates a cavity that contains a cupful or more of the elusive and beautiful fluid. Miners suffer much from the poisonous effects of the quicksilver fumes. Extreme cleanliness is the best safeguard for workers in this dangerous occupation. A Pleasant Way to Help "Mamma" lisped the cherub, while a smile of seraphic sweetness illumined his baby face, "do you know that sometimes I help Catherine's mamma?" "That's nice," prompted the proud parent. "And what do you do to help her, dear?" "Oh," replied the cherub, "when Catherine's naughty I punish her!"—Youth's Companion. We are slow to believe anything that, if believed, would hurt our feelings.—Ovid. A Food and Nerve Tonic is frequently required by old age. We always recommend Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion containing Hypophosphites as an ideal combination for this purpose. —George A. Gorgas.
