SOUTHERN SLAVS TO GATHER IN CHICAGO CONVENTION

Local Slavs Will Be Represented by Delegates Who Will Discuss Aspirations and Formulate Plans for Close of European War

Chicago will be the Mecca next Wednesday for hundreds of delegates from all over the United States when a convention of the Southern Slavs will be held.

This movement is in charge of Dr. Frank Potnjak, one of the foremost men of Croatia, whose influence has always been used to infuse that part of Austria-Hungary with its ancient patriotism prior to its being absorbed by the dual monarchy.

It has the endorsement of the National Croatian Society of the United States and the Croatian Union of this country numbering 50,000 members.

ALBERT REISCH BADLY HURT

He Is Confined to the Harrisburg Hospital With Fractured Skull

Albert Reisch, of the borough, who sustained a fractured skull when thrown from a motorcycle Thursday evening near the typewriter plant, was reported to be in a serious condition at the Harrisburg hospital to-day at noon.

Albert Reisch, a companion of Reisch, in the accident, is confined to his home with a broken collarbone. The motorcycle which the two men were riding struck a plank along the curb, the jar causing the driver to lose control of the wheel.

BIG ELECTRIC MOTOR HERE

Will Be Used to Drive Engine in 28-inch Mill

One of the most powerful electric motors ever used in the borough is being installed in the new chain of mills nearing completion by the Pennsylvania Steel company and will be used to drive the roll train in the 28-inch finishing mill.

The output of open hearth steel for the month amounted to about 31,000 tons, which shows a slight increase over that of January. Work on the new blast furnace is progressing rapidly.

MILDRED STEHMAN BURIED

Funeral services for Mildred, a small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Stehman, were held at their residence in South Front street, Wednesday afternoon. Burial took place in the Oberlin cemetery.

WILHELM J. MEHRING BURIED

Harrisburg Police Force Give Large Basket of Roses

The funeral of Wilhelm J. Mehring, one of the best known wholesale wine and liquor dealers, who died Tuesday morning at the Keystone hospital after a short illness of peritonitis, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from his home, 410 Boas street. The services were in charge of the Rev. H. H. Lisse, pastor of the German Lutheran church. Further services were held at the German Lutheran church, where the Rev. Mr. Lisse was assisted by the Rev. H. W. A. Hanson, pastor of Messiah Lutheran church. Interment was in the Harrisburg cemetery. Six nephews of Mr. Mehring acted as pallbearers.

Conspicuous among the floral decorations was a large basket of roses sent by members of the Harrisburg police force, of which Mr. Mehring's son, Wilhelm J. Mehring, Jr., is a member.

Mrs. Mary E. Mentzer

The funeral of Mrs. Mary E. Mentzer, aged 42 years, who died yesterday afternoon at her home, 739 South Twenty-first and One-half street, will be held from her home to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services will be in charge of the Rev. Dr. Ellis N. Kiemer, pastor of the Reformed Salem church. Interment will be in Prospect Hill cemetery. She is survived by her husband, J. A. Mentzer, and two children.

Mrs. Susan Dowhauer

The body of Mrs. Susan Dowhauer, aged 87 years, who died at the Harrisburg hospital Tuesday night from injuries she received a month ago, was taken to Columbia this morning by Undertaker George Soubrier, where interment was made. The services were held last evening at the home of her son, 414 Harris street.

Elsie K. Raymond

Elsie K. Raymond, daughter of C. N. Raymond, formerly of Middletown, died yesterday at the home of her aunt, Mrs. C. H. Baker, 1306 Berryhill street. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

ATTORNEY SEEKS TO CLEAR HIMSELF

A. Leo Weil, Arrested in Alleged Bribery Case, Wants Indictment Quashed

ARGUMENT MAY TAKE FEW DAYS

Charges Against Pittsburgher Was Once Dismissed By Prosecuting Attorney and Then Former Gave Bond to Answer in Intermediate Court

Charleston, W. Va., March 5.—Hearing on the petition of A. Leo Weil, of Pittsburgh, for a writ of prohibition to prevent T. C. Townsend, prosecuting attorney of Kanawha county and Judge J. K. Black of the intermediate court from proceeding further with the indictments against him, were set to begin to-day in the Circuit Court here.

The arguments, in which there is widespread interest because of the prominence of some of the persons concerned, were expected to continue several days. According to the petition filed by Mr. Weil, he was arrested on a Baltimore and Ohio railroad train near Williamsport, W. Va., while on his way to Parkersburg, to argue a motion in the Federal District Court for the appointment of a master to take testimony on the issues of a bill of complaint he had filed as general counsel for the Manufacturers' Light and Heat Company. The Public Service Commission had ordered the gas company to reduce its rates for natural gas, and the company had appealed from its decision to the Federal Court.

The warrant was issued by C. W. Dering, a justice of the peace at Charleston, and charged that Weil had conspired in an attempt to bribe Charles H. Bronson, a member of the Commission. Weil offered to give bail at Parkersburg or Huntington and thus save the time of the trip to Charleston but Sheriff Hill, of Kanawha county, took him to Charleston where he gave bail in $25,000 before Justice Dering. The next day a special grand jury was drawn and Weil was indicted after Charles D. Elliott, former Adjutant General of West Virginia, and Guy B. Biddinger, a private detective, had given testimony. The indictment charged that Weil had employed Elliott to bribe Howard N. Ogden, a member of the Public Service Commission, to give certain testimony in the Federal Court in the suit of the Manufacturers' Light and Heat Company against the Public Service Commission.

In his petition Mr. Weil says that when he appeared in the court of Justice Dering to answer the charge on which he was arrested, Prosecutor Townsend had the charge dismissed. Weil then gave bond for his appearance to answer the indictments in the intermediate court.

Satan's Way

Mrs. Kilgore was the pretty young wife of the elderly village pastor. One day she went into the city with a friend, and, among other things, bought a new frock. "Another frock, my dear?" said her husband, "Did you need another?" "Yes," said the wife, hesitatingly. "I do need it, and, besides, it was so pretty that the devil tempted me." "But you should have said, 'Get thee behind me, Satan.' Have you forgotten that?" "Oh, no! But that was what made the trouble, hubby dear, I said, 'Get thee behind me, Satan,' and he did, but he whispered over my shoulder, 'It just fits you beautifully in the back! And I just had to take it then.'—Harper's Magazine.

Sartorial Sameness

An Offender's First Arrest

The first shock of arrest and imprisonment is to the first offender the greatest crisis of his life. He realizes suddenly and vividly that the state is not merely a political abstraction out of a long forgotten school book, but a thing alive, armed with jaw and claw. The effect of this is overwhelming. There lives no human animal more penitent and plastic than the first offender on his first day in prison. On that day of all days the state can mold him easily to its civic needs. Turn him over to a man who believes in the bottom good in him, teach him a trade whereby he may learn to support himself honestly when released, give him a share in his earnings, so that he may, even though in prison, support his innocent wife and helpless children, or, if he is alone, save a bit of capital against that blackest day of liberation—in other words, give him work and hope, and the two

An Earl's Duel With a Butler

About the middle of the last century the Lord Rosebery of that time was in Paris, and in paying a call one day he was received so rudely by the butler that he complained to his friend of the servant's conduct. But the butler had been a non-commissioned officer in the French army, and as such he challenged Lord Rosebery to a duel. The Earl accepted, and two shots were exchanged without result. But Lord Rosebery was angered at his own condensation and afraid his antagonist might lay aside his military rank and resume his duties as a servant, thus exposing an earl to the reproach of
