PLAYERS SALARIES ARE ABOUT UP TO THE LIMIT

Financial Side of Baseball Promises to Be Important Factor This Season—Salaries Are Five to Seven Times Greater Than in Early Nineties

New York, March 8.—The financial side of baseball promises to be one of the most important factors of the professional game during the coming season. Recent readjustments in the sport have confronted the magnates with problems which can only be answered at the expiration of the 1916 pennant races.

Manager Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Athletics, has shown Spartan qualities by pruning his former world's championship team by sale and release until Coombs, Bender, Plack and Collins are no longer Athletics and Baker's connection with the club is uncertain.

A prominent baseball official said recently that the average follower of the game did not realize the increased cost of the game due to the advance in players' salaries.

It has been estimated that the average salary paid by major league clubs has been doubled in the last ten years. In the case of a majority of the players the increase is less than $700 a year, but when the contracts of stars like Eddie Collins, Tris Speaker, Walter Johnson, Jake Daubert and Sam Crawford are figured in, the general advance reaches a surprising amount.

Baseball authorities who have studied the situation carefully, point out that under the conditions that prevailed in the early nineties a star in field and outfield containing such players as Delehanty, Lajoie, Cross, Flick and Thomas, could be secured for an annual outlay of approximately $17,000.

AMUSEMENTS

MAJESTIC. To-morrow afternoon and evening, "Twin Beds."

ORPHEUM. Every afternoon and evening, high class vaudeville.

COLONIAL. Every afternoon and evening, vaudeville and pictures.

VICTORIA. Motion Pictures.

PHOTOPLAY. Motion Pictures.

REGENT. Motion Pictures.

"Twin Beds" is a difficult matter to tell which is the most hilarious of the three acts at Salisbury Field and Margaret Mayo's uproarious farce, "Twin Beds," which will make its return engagement here at the Majestic to-morrow, matinee and evening. Possibly the third act will appeal to many playgoers as the most ludicrous. The tony Italian tenor, who has been lulled to sleep by familiar furniture and decorations, although he is in the wrong apartment, wakes up in the morning to find his mistake. His efforts to escape without detection and to secure clothing with which to do so are uproariously funny. He, of course, is terribly afraid of taking cold, and every time he emerges shiveringly from one of his hiding places, from the clothes basket or from the closet, he gives a pathetic little bleat, and he tries his best to see whether it is still with him. His innocent efforts to get some clothes on and to go home are continually frustrated until his wife, a heavy Signora, bursts into the apartment and finds her "bluebird" in the clothes basket, still unclad and still trying to do the best under the circumstances. "Twin Beds" certainly has a zest of its own. Adv.

At the Colonial. A musical comedy production of the first water, in fact its quite an important Keith headliner, is Tom Linton and his Jungle Girls, slated to appear at the Colonial during the first half of the week. The act is a blaze of song, dance, beauty and frolic and in itself will be worth several times the price of admission at the Colonial. The act was secured for the Colonial because of the fact that the production is going South and they will play here to break a long jump. Special scenery and interesting wardrobe make the act a pleasing "sight act," while the talent of the company makes it indeed entertaining to the most fastidious. Other big names of this same show will include Marshall and Crumby, monarchs of colored comedy; Soretti and Antonette, European novelty gymnasts, and Grace Pomeroy, the dainty songstress. Adv.

At the Photoplay To-day. Popular Kalem stars appear to-day at the Photoplay in a two-act drama, "The Secret Room." Tom Moore and Marguerite Courtot, both popular stars, have the leading roles. "The Red Blood of Courage," a two-reel western, featuring Tom Santschi and Bessie Epton. Selig's favorite in western dramas offers a treat in the line of sensations. A fierce fight occurs on a small foot bridge, in which the red blood of courage wins. "Ain't It the Truth?" Essayay comedy, completes the program for the day. Adv.

Victoria Theatre. "The Accounting," the sixth Essayay complete prize mystery play, produced in conjunction with "The Ladies World," is a thrilling drama of love and international intrigue in which secret service officials of two nations fight a desperate battle for supremacy. This three-reel feature will be shown to-morrow. The sixth episode of "Runaway June," the great love serial by Randolph Chester, will be shown to-day. Adv.

At the Regent. At the Regent to-day and to-morrow the famous society drama, "Aristocracy," is being shown, in which Daniel Frohman presents Tyrone Power. The scenes are exceedingly beautiful, vivid and full of interest. Another interesting cast includes Augusta Anderson and Robert Nolan in a Biograph film entitled, "Fate's Protecting Arm." Adv.

Walter Scott in his famous novel of Ivanhoe. The romance of this picturesque bandit possesses a charm which can never die, and in the opera of "Robin Hood," Reginald de Koven has given the world a musical setting as immortal as the wonderful story itself. The delightful melodies are as appealing to the musical public to-day as when first sung, and the opportunity to hear this beautiful music again is distinctly a privilege.

It is a pleasure to announce that this masterpiece, which demands the finest vocal talent, will be sung in the coming production by artists of the first class. Foremost among them is Ivy Scott, a dramatic soprano from the Century Grand Opera, New York. Miss Scott will sing the role of Maid Marian, and her art in using her lovely voice has never before been equalled in this part. Adv.

Sheehan World's Highest Tenor. With the coming of the Boston English Opera Company to the Majestic theatre Saturday matinee and night, March 13, in the mammoth production of Verdi's beautiful opera, "Il Trovatore," has been revived a discussion as to which of the notable singers possesses the greatest voice. Caruso, the star of the Metropolitan opera house, has succeeded Campanini, Tamagno and De Reszke. In the field of English Grand Opera, Joseph F. Sheehan still stands unrivaled.

In a recent article on high C tenors, the American is placed at the head of the parade. Sheehan never dodges a high C in a composer's score and in such operas as "Il Trovatore" and "Faust," he comes out with the high C on several occasions, with such ease as to make one marvel. In "William Tell," he comes out with a fine high D, which is the highest note required of a tenor in any grand opera role.

Signor Tamagno, in his prime, gave a robust D flat, and Caruso rises to a C natural, but only with a lyric and a C natural tone. Jean de Reszke, did his best in reaching B natural in robust style, and this may also be said to be the limit of Caruso's best tenor note. The Grand Campanini, with all his art, struggled to hit A sharp, while practically of the "ragnerian tenors are satisfied to take A natural. No living operatic tenor has the robust high C except Joseph Sheehan. Adv.

At the Orpheum. Delightful Trixie Friganza, she of musical comedy fame, and one of the brightest lights in vaudeville, will be the glittering star of the new vaudeville show at the Orpheum to-day. Miss Friganza is one of the highest salaried artists appearing in vaudeville, ranking with Kitty Gordon, Valessa Suratt, Irene Franklin and several others we have seen. And while Miss Friganza has been in Harrisburg before, it was always at the head of her musical comedy organization, and the prices soared head and shoulders over those in vogue at the Orpheum. So the opportunity to see Miss Friganza at popular prices here, not only with those who would see her for curiosity's sake, but also her many admirers.

Miss Friganza comes to the Orpheum direct from Hammerstein's theatre, New York City, where she created quite a furor last week. Another interesting attraction will be the local vaudeville appearance of Helen Grayce, the popular stock actress, who has a great following in Harrisburg. Miss Grace will have the support of an excellent company in presenting a comedy surprise skit called "Bill 999," written by no less an artist than Una Clayton, who presented her playlet, "Milk," at the Orpheum some few weeks ago. Confort and King, celebrated exponents of black-face comedy, will appear in their screaming funny success called "The Divorcene." Other big names will include Robyns, famous musician; Sammy Watson's Barnyard; vaudeville's best and most entertaining animal attraction; Weston and Clare, song, dance and patter artists; the three Escordos, gymnastic funsters.
