ANTI-TREATING MEASURE INTRODUCED IN HOUSE

Bill Providing for the Proposed Agricultural Commission Offered by Mr. Walton—Pension Plan, Carrying $1,000,000, Is Presented

An anti-treating bill to prevent license holders from treating customers and to prevent persons not purchasing liquors to drink them on the premises, making an exception in the case of a wife, sister, daughter or parent, was introduced in the House last night by Mr. Barnett, of York. He also introduced a measure providing that license application signers be freeholders for a year and that they may sign but one petition.

Provision for the proposed State Agricultural Commission to be composed of the Governor, Secretary of Agriculture, an agricultural chemist, a zoologist and a veterinarian with power to establish farm bureaus to work in conjunction with the State College in agricultural extension, is made in a bill introduced by Mr. Walton, Lawrence.

Other bills introduced include: Hamilton, Allegheny—Requiring persons arrested as professional thieves in or about public places to enter security for good behavior for one year after release from prison, and making it a duty of the police to take Bertillon data.

Showalter, Union—A Civil War soldiers' pension bill, with a scale of $3 a month to those serving a year or less, $4 for over one year and less than two, and $5 for those serving over two years. An appropriation of $1,000,000 is carried. The Auditor General is to administer the act.

Dawson, Lackawanna—A code governing fishing in the State, and fixing seasons.

Forster, Philadelphia—Amending the State Dental Council act to provide that, commencing in 1917, the dental course shall be four instead of three years.

McKay, Crawford—Requiring that all appropriations made to the State Highway Department for improving State highways shall be spent in each county in proportion to the total mileage of unimproved State highways therein.

Maurer, Berks—Requiring physicians to report lead, phosphorus, brass and other occupational diseases.

Woodward, Allegheny—Appropriating $30,000 for State exercises and other expenses of the State Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Dunn, Philadelphia—Requiring the "picking" of materials for upholstering to be done apart from workshops.

Oaks, Cambria—Fixing salaries of county officers in counties with population between 150,000 and 200,000.

MILEAGE BOOK GOES BEGGING

Nobody Willing to Accept "Exhibit A" in the Full Crew Fight

"Exhibit A" in the full crew fight was presented to Speaker Ambler at the start of last night's session of the House by Representative Garner, of Schuylkill. It was a mileage book and was presented, as Mr. Garner said, by the "corporate interests."

"It is the first fruits of the full crew fight," he said, as he presented it to Speaker Ambler.

"I refuse to accept it," said the Speaker, who handed it to Chief Clerk Garvin, who also refused to accept it. It was a white elephant on the hands of the chief clerk. When last seen "Exhibit A" was still on the chief clerk's desk.

TO WORK FOR MUNICIPALITIES

Bill Permits Them to Maintain Representatives to Further Interests Here

Cities, boroughs, towns and first class townships may organize associations to maintain representatives in Harrisburg to further the interests of the municipalities, under a bill introduced in the House last night by Mr. Gibson, of Lycoming.

These representatives may appear before State departments and bureaus, Supreme or Superior Court or either branch of the General Assembly, at municipalities may appropriate money for membership in such associations as the bill legalizes.

AIMED AT POLICE "REPEATERS"

Bill Provides Jail Terms for Persons Habitually Courting Arrest

Police court "repeaters" will suffer if a bill designed to fit their case which was introduced in the House last night by Assemblyman Gibson, of Lycoming, becomes a law.

It provides a year in jail for the third offense and gives the court a chance to parole, and if parole is violated the court may commit to jail for a year without the expense of an additional trial. The bill is designed especially for tramps, drunks and petty violators of the law.

At the present time Harrisburg has scores of "repeaters," who would suffer under this act at their next arrest.

Too Much Mail for Lawmakers

Stating that he had received 10,000 letters in ten days on legislative subjects, crowding out mail that should receive his personal attention, Representative Henry I. Wilson, of Jefferson, spoke last night in the House in support of his resolution requiring that letters sent in such volume hereafter be kept separate, to do away with the possibility of confusion in the House postoffice. The resolution was passed.

Asks $7,000 for Local Charity

Representative Swartz introduced a measure in the House last night carrying an appropriation of $7,000 for maintenance for two years for the Home of the Friendless, of this city.

TO FORM INSURANCE EXCHANGE

The object of the company, as explained in the formal notice published by Howard M. Bingaman, as counsel, is to conduct "an agency business in the placing of all kinds of insurance, the collection of rents and the transaction of a general insurance, real estate and collection agency business in all its branches."

SNOW PROVIDES RARE PLEASURE FOR CHILDREN AT THE CRESSON TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM

The sixty little patients in the children's ward at the Cresson State Tuberculosis Sanatorium have been busy every sunny day for three weeks past planning their sleds and talking about what they are going to do from the packages of sleds that Dr. Dixon, State Commissioner of Health, sent them. Many of the days in February were so warm that they begged to be permitted to plant the first sleds.

As the Cresson Sanatorium is one of the highest inhabited points in the State the children usually count on numerous sleigh rides and other winter sports. This season has been unusually mild that they have been denied the most of these delights.

The storm of Friday, however, was welcomed joyfully by all of the little tots who are making their fight for health under the care of the great Commonwealth. The big bob-sled was ordered out, they were bundled to the eyes in blankets by the nurses and off they went over the mountain roads as merry a sleighing party as ever sang "Jingle Bells" to the accompaniment of the real thing.

Of the two thousand patients under treatment in the three State tuberculosis sanatoria about 160 are children and there are several hundred others on the waiting list requesting admittance. Children make excellent patients and respond readily to treatment.

MANNING DEFENDS STAND

Writes Letter to Vance C. McCormick, in Which He Does Not Recede From Position as to Coal Wharf

In reply to the open letter written to him by Vance C. McCormick criticizing him for having approved the plan of the City to lease a part of Hargest's island to the Harrisburg Light & Power Company for the construction of a coal wharf, Warren H. Manning, the City landscape architect, has addressed a communication to Mr. McCormick, which was made public today.

Mr. Manning does not recede from his stand that the granting of the lease was wise. He argues that by permitting the wharf to be placed on the island the City took a step toward beautifying the Harrisburg side of the river because, he says in effect, it will help to make possible the closing of the gap in the river wall between Walnut and Market streets. He intimates that it is not unlikely that other buildings, such as boat houses, may be placed on the island. Mr. Manning says further: "You and your friends have had confidence in me, and I am expecting a continuation of that confidence as regards this proposition when it is clear that commercial structures and utilitarian structures existing and proposed are not necessarily hideous and offensive structures."

RULES FOR WALKING ON SIDEWALKS

There is one citizen of New Orleans who has his own ideas concerning the conduct of persons walking along the pavements. In a communication to the "American," he gives the following rules which, he says, should "govern the perambulations of pedestrians."

Extremely caustic remarks were incorporated in his letter, the most interesting part of which follows:

"Always take the left side of the walk. By doing so you will be sure to run directly against the main tide of travel and probably get knocked down by coming in contact with some one in a hurry."

"If you are carrying an umbrella the proper caper is to stick it under one of your arms so people behind you can get the pleasant sensation of having it thrust against their breasts, or the feeling that the point may be stuck into one of their eyes."

"Don't ever hesitate to suddenly stop in front of another person. Always put your hands in your pockets, turn up your heels, spit upon the sidewalk and turn your back to the person you know is coming towards you. This will be perfectly proper, as is not stated in books of etiquette that tell you how to be a gentleman."

"If you happen to meet any friend along the sidewalk, always stop him right in the center of the pavement and indulge in a prolonged conversation. Never think of moving aside. By doing such a thing you would give other people the chance to pass on their way."

"If you are not busy, put your hands in your pockets, turn your head in one direction and walk in the other. This procedure will be certain to relieve others of any anxiety as to whether you are going north, south, east or west."

In ending his letter the writer declared that there should be sidewalk regulation in New Orleans as well as regulation of street traffic, which he praised.—New Orleans American.

CLASSIC WAR POEMS

Selected by J. Howard Wert

No. 17. KING HENRY V TO HIS TROOPS AT SIEGE OF HARFLEUR

BY WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

The English and French, for centuries hereditary enemies, are now fighting shoulder to shoulder against Germany and her allies. But this is not the first time that the troops of England and France have fought in a common cause. They did so, sixty years ago, in the celebrated Crimean campaign. But then did so, to thwart the Russian advance on Constantinople. Now it seems probably that they will hand the Czar the coveted city as a free gift.

Amongst the English sovereigns who were possessed with the idea that the French throne of right was theirs, was Henry V. So, in 1415, he invaded France and captured the fortified city of Harfleur after a siege which lasted from August 15th to September 22d. The fighting was of a desperate character on both sides. In preparing for one of the assaults Shakespeare represents the King as addressing his troops thus:

Once more unto the breach, dear friends, once more;
Or close the wall up with our English dead.
In peace there's nothing so becomes a man
As modest stillness and humility;
But when the blast of war blows in our ears,
Then imitate the action of the tiger;
Stiffen the sinews, summon up the blood,
Disguise fair nature with hard-favour'd rage.
Then, lend the eyes a terrible aspect;
Let it pry through the portage of the head,
Like the brass cannon; let the brow o'erwhelm it,
As fearfully as doth a galled rock
O'erhang and jutty his confounded base,
Swill'd with the wild and wasteful ocean.
Now set the teeth, and stretch the nostril wide;
Hold hard the breath, and bend up every spirit
To his full height. On on! you noble English,
Whose blood is fet from fathers of war-proof;
Fathers, that, like so many Alexanders,
Have in these parts from morn till even fought,
And sheathed their swords for lack of argument,
Be copy now to men of grosser blood,
And teach them how to war.

And you, good yeomen,
Whose limbs were made in England, show us here
The mettle of your pasture; let us swear
That you are worth your breeding,—which I doubt not;
For there is none of you so mean and base,
That hath not noble lustre in your eyes.
I see you stand like greyhounds in the slips,
Straining upon the start. The game's afoot;
Follow your spirit; and, upon this charge,
Cry "God for Harry! England! and St. George!"

SUFFRAGE BILL ADVANCED IN SENATE LAST EVENING

Measure Passed First Reading Before Its Friends or Foes Knew It Had Been Called—Crow, McNichol and Vare Return

The appearance of Senators Crow, McNichol and Vare in the Senate last night, fresh from their two weeks' sojourn in the South, had a stimulating effect on the other Senators who have done little work in the absence of the trio. It was thought that the Senate would buckle down to business at once, but such did not prove to be the fact as beyond the introduction of some unimportant bills the Senate did practically nothing, and it can hardly do anything more this week.

The three Senators who went South were looking the picture of health, all bronzed and tanned by the Florida sun. The statement that they had brought a box of lemons with them to distribute among their fellow-Senators was denied.

The woman suffrage amendment went through the Senate on first reading, almost before anybody was aware of it, and the suffrage women and the anti-suffragists looked up in surprise when the calendar was gone through with an announcement made that the bill had been advanced.

To the right of the president's rostrum had gathered half a dozen anti-suffragists led by Mrs. Armstrong, of Philadelphia, who were under the impression that a halt could be put to the bill when on its way through on first reading, and they were there full of hope that some opponent would do something. To the left of the rostrum was a delegation of suffragists, headed by Mrs. Frank Reomens, president of the State Suffrage Association, who knew that the passage of the bill on first reading was mandatory and did not worry. They, however, shared in the surprise at the expeditious manner in which the bill was catapulted through, and soon afterward left the chamber.

Bedleman Heads Committee

The Senate concurred in the resolution providing for a committee of ten Senators and ten members of the House to accompany the gubernatorial party to Newport News on March 16 when the battleship Pennsylvania is to be launched. Senator Bedleman will head the Senate committee.

Almost half a hundred bills were introduced in the Senate, almost all of which were appropriation bills for hospitals and charitable institutions. Other measures introduced were the following:

P. W. Snyder, Blair—Regulating the sale of narcotics to conform with the national law.

Clark, Erie—Standardizing containers for the sale of fruits.

Buekman, Bucks—Repealing the act exempting wide vehicle tires from taxation.

Sones, Lycoming—Providing that County Treasurers shall not deposit county funds in a bank unless it grants 2 per cent. interest on daily balances.

Washers, York—Providing for the abandonment of the site in Lycoming county for the State Industrial Home for Women, and providing for the purchase of a site in Manchester and East Manchester townships, York county.

For More Third Class Cities Schantz, Lehigh—Providing for the formation of third-class cities out of parts of two or more contiguous counties.

Croft, Montgomery—Authorizing Common Pleas Judges to sit in Orphan's Courts in counties where there are such separate tribunals.

Croft, Montgomery—Authorizing notaries public connected with financial institutions or corporations to take acknowledgments in the business of such concerns.

Patton, Philadelphia—Providing for the payment of interest on damages by the taking or destruction of private property for public use from the date of such taking or destruction.

Kline, Allegheny—Appropriating $1,275,000 to the University of Pittsburgh.

C. W. Snyder, Schuylkill—Regulating the practice of veterinary medicine, surgery and dentistry and establishing a State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners.

ANOTHER VERSION AS TO HOW "JITNEY" ORIGINATED

Jitney and joy are synonymous terms in New Orleans at present; therefore it is entirely within reason to inquire the origin of the expression. Most people know that it signifies five cents, but few could give any explanation for this.

Jitney joy riders should insist on being fully informed on this matter. Jitney has always been associated with that, but the festive groups of citizens that are tasting for the first time in their lives of the pleasures usually reserved for wealth and leisure do not dream that the name of their magic coach is closely connected with the durance vile and the pallid faces of a prison.

"Jitney" is a negro elision of the name of Jedney, a trusty at a large prison. Tobacco is one of the greatest solaces of prison life, but, of course, is prohibited. They chewed the weed because smoking was so easily detected. Jedney smuggled tobacco to the prisoners.

As he took much risk he insisted on keeping one-half of the supply purchased. After Jedney left the jail a little colored boy succeeded to this commerce. He had observed Jedney's methods of business with great admiration.

When solicited by the prisoners to secure them the coveted indulgence, he bluntly told them that business would continue only on Mr. "Jitney's" plan. The darky used to get a dime for his tobacco, however, and always declared for a division of 50—50.

Afterward a "jitney's worth" came to signify but a nickel. The origin of jitney is another interesting instance of the strange derivation of popular expressions.—New Orleans American.
