FINANCE
STANDARD STOCKS INCLINE TO GREATER HEAVINESS
Reading, Southern Pacific and U. S. Steel Show Fractional Declines, but Speculative Favorites Make Full Recovery by Noon

New York, March 10.—Standard stocks were inclined to greater heaviness in today's initial trading, Reading, Southern Pacific and U. S. Steel making fractional declines. Specialties moved irregularly, gains in Motors, American Linseed and Pittsburgh Coal pfd. being offset by proportionate declines in American Tobacco, Great Northern certificates. Of the entire international list, Canadian Pacific alone showed strength in the London market. Speculative favorites made full recovery by noon, Canadian Pacific gaining a point. Trading was exceedingly dull, however, with no initiative from the other side. Missouri Pacific yielded more of yesterday's rise, in anticipation of a drastic reorganization by the interests now in control. American Tobacco decline was followed by an adverse annual report. Bonds were heavy, with severe declines in Missouri Pacific, Western Maryland and Iowa Central issues.

Prices rose spiritedly in the afternoon, Steel rising 3/4 above its early low quotation, although the tonnage figures were not up to expectations. American sugar was unusually active and strong and other specialties extended their gains of the morning.

GERMAN CRUISER AT NEWPORT NEWS

biary was painted white on one side and black on the other. It was reported in marine circles that the Eitel Friedrich had been chased to the three-mile limit by a British cruiser but as the German captain had sealed the lips of his officers, it was not confirmed.

Marine circles were startled when the long ship, easily distinguishable by the lines of a North German Lloyd liner, steamed up the bay and into Hampton Roads. She came into the roads and without any attempt at deception passed quarantine and then came on to this port where she anchored.

Within an hour after the Prinz Eitel had arrived in Hampton Roads a request was made to the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company for information whether the concern could at once begin work on repairs. The ship building company immediately communicated the request to the Navy Department at Washington and asked whether the United States would have any objection.

Rear Admiral Beatty, commanding the Norfolk navy yard, after reporting the arrival of the German cruiser, received instructions from Secretary Daniels to make an investigation and send him a full report.

The ship's captain said there had been trouble with some of the machinery. There are said to be many passengers aboard, including women and children.

Captain of U. S. Ship Aboard
Dr. H. W. McCafferty, quarantine officer at Old Point, who visited the Prinz Eitel, told of his trip to the German vessel.

"When I boarded the cruiser this morning," said he, "I found all on board well and happy. Among the prisoners were the captain of the American ship, William P. Frye, of Baltimore, who with his wife and son, were picked up by the Eitel after the Frye had been sunk.

"There were also a number of French people, who were passengers on the French liner Florida, sunk by the Germans off the coast of Brazil. The list of prisoners included also many English people, who were taken from vessels captured by the Eitel.

"The Eitel had a crew of 13 officers and 356 men, including six Chinese stewards. There were 326 prisoners, French English and others.

Prisoners Will Be Given Liberty
"All the prisoners will be given liberty in Newport News but four if they want to leave the Friedrich. Those four declined to sign papers that they would not take up arms against Germany and were kept prisoners on that account."

Collector Hamilton has made a full report of the sinking of the William P. Frye to Washington. The sailing ship is said to have been sent to the bottom because she was alleged to have been carrying contraband of war.

Rules Governing Belligerent Ship
Washington, March 10.—According to the doctrine laid down by the American government in cases similar to that of the Prinz Eitel Friedrich, the collector of Customs at Norfolk must give the commander of the German ship 24 hours from the time of his arrival to talk coal and provisions.

If the ship needs repairs, however, she has a longer respite. In that case the naval constructor will make an examination and report what would be of reasonable time to make the necessary repairs and the German ship would be given 24 hours in addition to that time. Meanwhile the American government would keep the time of her departure a secret, so no unfair advantage might accrue to hostile ships which might gather to wait for the German auxiliary.

Similar cases arose in connection with the German gunboat Geier, which was interred at Honolulu after repairs to her machinery, and the steamer Farn at San Juan, Porto Rico.

May Decide to Intern Ship
Officials here were of the opinion that the presence of British and French cruisers close on the Atlantic coast might influence the German commander to decide to intern his ship. How the Eitel Friedrich had managed to get through the lines of hostile warships which have been patrolling the Atlantic was the subject of much speculation in naval circles.

The disposition of any prisoners of war the German ship may have aboard will raise another question. It is possible that they may be paroled.

was the sinking early in December of the British steamer Charcoal, off Chile. Japanese cruisers have been described as searching for this German vessel persistently but they never could find her.

The records do not show when she entered the South Atlantic. Had she come through the Straits of Magellan the prevailing censorship might have prevented news of her movements becoming known. Desiring to avoid the Straits, she could have come around Cape Horn.

With this German cruiser definitely located in an American port, there remain at large on the high seas outside of German waters only three ships of war flying the German flag. These are the Kronprinz Wilhelm, an auxiliary cruiser, last reported at the coast of Brazil; the protected cruiser Dresden, last reported after the battle off the Falkland Islands, in Chilean waters, and the cruiser Karlsruhe, last reported as operating in the West Indies. One report said the Karlsruhe had been successful in reaching home waters.
