SPRING OPENING DAYS

Thursday--Friday--Saturday

An event when all Harrisburg gazes into the Style Mirror for glimpses of coming fashions. Thursday, Friday and Saturday will fully establish Spring shopping—it's essential with Easter lurking in the immediate back ground—and Bowman's—with greater than ever assortments of apparel for your spring wardrobe; choicest of yard fabrics and accessories; in fact everything pertaining to Spring, with beautiful spring-like surroundings giving added charm—extends to YOU a welcome in its true sense, and here let a word be said about the ever improving Bowman service, that will be profitable in selecting correct attire.

Spring Suits:

Are Handsomer and Lovelier Than Ever

Spring came to us in a brilliant assemblage of all that's new and practical—suits that Harrisburg women can and will wear.

But to grasp the real inspiration, we must step back into the 'thirties, when wide skirts and high waist lines were the glory of designers, and at times it seems that those same modistes must live in our day, for the resemblance is indeed notable.

Present day occurrences, however, are influential to a marked degree, and the high neck effect; and buttons upon buttons, are suggestive of the military uniform.

This showing is authentic to the final word,—representative of all the latest creations, and our preparations for this Spring display, justify us in saying that it will surpass any we have ever held.

Spring Coats:

That Show the Change In the Season's Styles

This in itself is adequate to weave an interesting story around, but let us only touch lightly on this feature.

They're wonderfully different, to be sure, with a strong tendency toward decided flares at the bottom edge. High waist lines are very prominent, and belts are used freely; three-quarter length or slightly shorter.

In A Word, they are examples of approved style, and excellence of materials and workmanship.

To-morrow--And Every Day

The Greatest Display Of Millinery in Harrisburg

This is not a boastful imagination, for comparison has born out the facts.

It IS the Greatest Showing

Because it offers the greatest variety, and a very few can equal it in massiveness. Last month we surprised Harrisburg in our advanced showing, and this city is due another surprise to-morrow when the Millinery Department steps out in full spring dress.

Fifth Ave. Millinery Cannot Be Newer---

Our representatives are continually in New York making personal observations, and just as soon as a new style trend appears—it is new in Harrisburg—here—almost to the day, and always it embodies the same new features shown over yonder.

---Or More Distinguished

And it goes without saying that Bowman Millinery is in a class of its own. Here are striking creations that found their origin in the most fashionable and high-class Fifth Avenue Shops, by widely known modistes; a number of which we believe famous Parisian designers would envy.

Together With Our Own Creations

The showing is most complete and authentic; and you'll note a new trend in trimming—feathers. We want you to see the effectiveness of this new idea.

But we want you to see them all. Come in to-morrow.

TAKE ALLEGED DYNAMITERS

State Constabulary Arrest Two Charged With Murder of Six
Greensburg, Pa., March 10.—Through an alleged confession by a prisoner in the State constabulary barracks here, the State police say they have apprehended the two men responsible for the dynamiting at Superior on November 15, 1914, of the home of Noah Pinizzi, which resulted in the death of six persons, including three of Pinizzi's children.

According to the police, John McBerney, alias John Kelly, who was arrested in Youngstown, O., February 15, but whose arrest was kept secret, has admitted complicity in the crime and has involved Joseph Sheets. The latter was arrested yesterday at Superior. The clue to McBerney's whereabouts came through the arrest recently of a man on a charge of stealing brass from the Jamison Company's coal tippie near Latrobe. This man, it is asserted, said that McBerney had admitted taking part in the blowing up of the Pinizzi home.

McBerney's alleged confession, according to the State constabulary, said that, following the dynamiting, he and Sheets spent the night sleeping in a coke oven and that on the next day they fired an old log house adjoining the Pinizzi property. For years there had been a belief that in the cellar of the old house was an enormous treasure of gold.

SNOWBALL CAUSES DEATH

School Girl Becomes Ill After Being Pelted by Boys

Camden, N. J., March 10.—Thelma Howell, nine years old, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howell, of 442 Spruce street, this city, died yesterday as the result of being struck on the head with a snowball. Cerebral meningitis, superinduced by the injury, was the cause of her death.

Ten days ago when the child was returning from school, a crowd of mischievous boys pelted her with snowballs. Several hours afterwards she became ill. The boys who threw the snowballs escaped, and no arrests have been made.

Amos Scott Dies at Lewisburg

Lewisburg, Pa., March 10.—Amos Scott, 74 years old, former chairman of the Union County Republican committee and director of the Lewisburg Trust Company, died here yesterday. A widow and two daughters, Mrs. Rachel Beale, of Scranton, and Mrs. Walter Wilcox, of Lewisburg, survive.

JITNEY BUSES IN PHILLY

450 of Them May Soon Be Running in Quaker City

Philadelphia, March 10.—“Four hundred and fifty jitney buses on the streets of Philadelphia” was the prediction made yesterday by Edwin W. Hambright, 2025 Norris street, the city's first “jitney,” after just one week's trial of his bus on the North Broad and North Thirteenth street route, between Diamond and Chestnut streets. Beginning with the second day, Mr. Hambright says, he has cleared $8 a day above expenses, and is making arrangements to put several other “jitneys” in service in the more congested routes out of the downtown district. “I can beat the trolley cars on speed,” Mr. Hambright added, “and I can beat the taxicabs on price; and there is no straphanging.”

“If ‘jitneys’ succeed in Philadelphia,” he continued, “75 per cent. of the chauffeurs in the city will be running cars of their own by the end of the summer. It will be possible to go from the City Hall to the ball grounds by automobile for a nickel.”

So far the “jitneys” are operating without any passenger-carrying license, according to Mr. Hambright. The city authorities told him to go ahead, he says, when he first broached the idea to them. Superintendent of Police Robinson says that he is investigating to see if the “jitneys” come under any ordinance requiring a license. Inspector W. E. Saxton, of the Bureau of Highways, said he had asked City Solicitor Ryan for an opinion.

The former President had been announced to speak on the subject of “Problems Before the Country,” but he changed his subject to “The Presidency” because “my views might not coincide with the powers that be.”

Colonel Thompson, a prominent Republican leader of Trenton, met Mr. Taft on his arrival and extended to him an invitation to go to Trenton later last night following his address here and speak at a Republican rally. Mr. Taft declined, but said: “Tell them for me that 1916 looks good to me.”
