Mr. and Mrs. Lewars resided here until a short time ago, when Mr. Lewars left the city for his health. About six months ago Mr. Lewars published a volume of "Hymns and Songs for the Sunday School," which were intended to elevate Sunday school music.

Mr. Lewars graduated from Pennsylvania College about ten years ago, after which he taught Latin in the Steelton High school. He later entered a large musical academy in New York, where he graduated about six years ago. Since that time he has resided in this city, following the musical profession. He was choirmaster of Memoral Lutheran church.

Auction Continued

The auction held to close out the stock watches, diamonds, jewelry, clocks, silverware, etc., of the American Watch and Diamond Company, will be continued this week. Those in charge hoped to close out the entire stock last week, but the assortments were so large and included so many articles, it will be necessary to keep the sale going to close out everything. There will be a big lot of bargains every day and to make it interesting the manager will give a diamond ring every day to some lucky person who attends the sale. Twenty-one of these rings have already been given out. The auction is under the direction of David Brill, auctioneer, of New York City.

Be Held by Combined Legislative Committees

A hearing of the merits of the three child labor bills now before the Legislature will be given on Wednesday afternoon in the House before the Senate and House combined committees on Judiciary Special. The Phipps bill from the Senate and the Reynolds and Cox bills from the House will be gone over in detail, and their merits set forth by representatives of up-lift societies.

The Manufacturers' Association will be represented, and it is said will offer some amendments to modify the bill in certain particulars where it is thought to bear too hard on the manufacturer. The newspaper publishers of the State also want a change made in the minimum age at which boys can sell papers at night, and the telegraph companies will ask for a lessening of the age at which messenger boys may be employed at night.

Regent Theatre Catering to the Discriminating Public With High-grade Films

The new Regent theatre, under the progressive management of P. Magaro, has struck a keynote in presenting a series of high-class motion pictures that appeal to the people who are discrimi nating in their tastes. Instead of condescript fashion, Mr. Magaro de nondescript fashion, Mr. Magaro determined to open his house with the best efforts of such producers as Frohman, Belasco, Schuberts, Lasky, Bosworth and others who have won worldwide recognition for excellence, and to continue to show the best in drama and comedy. That this policy is meeting with public approval is demonstrated by the way in which the Regent is filled almost every day from the time it is opened until it is closed. The theatre is one of the prettiest and most inviting in the city, but it is the high quality of the pictures that has made it popular.
