

SEVERE SCALY RASH ON BABY'S FACE

And Head, Burned and Itched, Looked Very Ugly. Face Disfigured. Used Cuticura. In Two Months Free From Trouble. Now Skin Like Velvet.

1339 9th Ave., East Altoona, Pa.—"My baby's trouble started with a rash on her face and head. Later it got scaly. It seemed to burn and itch and looked very ugly. She scratched a great deal and would wake at night and scratch and cry. Her face was disfigured. I saw the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I only used them three or four days when she stopped scratching and could sleep. I bought some more and washed her with the Cuticura Soap then anointed her with Cuticura Ointment on her at night and washed it off in the morning. After using them two months they freed her from the trouble. Now her skin is like velvet with no signs of the rash at all." (Signed) Mrs. J. E. Mangus, Sept. 3, 1914.

Sample Each Free by Mail

With 32-p. Skin Book on request. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston." Sold throughout the world.

LOSES RACE WITH DEATH

Injured Miner Expires Before He Can Be Taken to Hospital

Pottsville, Pa., March 19.—Anthony Bartnick, of Minersville, lost in a thrilling race against death yesterday, after his body had been torn and mangled in an accident at the Lytle colliery. Bartnick was plucked under a rush of tons of rock, and when he was dug from beneath the mass he was in a dying condition. He gasped directions to be placed in the colliery ambulance and taken to the Pottsville hospital before lapsing into unconsciousness. When the ambulance was coming down Market street one of the attendants saw his head fall to one side, and Dr. F. W. Boyer, who was summoned, pronounced him dead.

Mary Posted, of Pottsville, also died in a similar manner from heart disease while being taken in the same ambulance a little later.

BAR WET LODGE FUNERALS

Meyersdale Ministers Won't Officiate for Any Such Member

Meyersdale, Pa., March 19.—The local Ministerial Association has adopted a resolution that Christian burial will not be accorded to members of lodges that permit sideboards, buffets or booze in their lodge rooms. They hold it to be "inconsistent to be officially associated in the solemn services of the burial of the dead of any lodge that maintains a liquor sideboard in its rooms."

DEFUNCT PLANTS TO RESUME

New Concern Obtains Possession of Works in Mt. Pleasant

Mt. Pleasant, Pa., March 19.—Three plants of the defunct Sunshine Coal and Coke Company, in Fayette county, which have been idle for several months, will resume operations some time next week under a company to be known as the American Connellsville Coal and Coke Company. The new concern is composed principally of Pittsburgh men, and is capitalized at $350,000. When the three plants are operating on full time about 1,500 men will be employed. The Youghiogheny Coal and Coke Company, of Dawson, recently organized, will begin operations on a large scale at an early date. The company has several hundred acres and is now opening a mine for the coal supply.

WOMAN LEAVES TWO WILLS

Document Admitted to Probate Gives $35,000 to Servant Girl

Pottsville, Pa., March 19.—At a hearing before Judge MacHenry Wilhelm, of the Orphans' Court, yesterday, it developed that Mrs. Margaret McQuail, of New Philadelphia, left two wills, in one of which she bequeathed large sums to public institutions, while in another will she left the bulk of her property to Mary Raditts, a servant maid.

If the will admitted to probate is established as legal Miss Raditts will get about $35,000 from the estate, while Mrs. McQuail's own brother, a veteran of the Civil war, will be left without a cent.

PRINTING INK COMPOSITION

Department of Commerce Issues Circular Telling Oils and Pigments Used in Its Manufacture

Washington, D. C., March 19.—A general description of the composition, manufacture and properties of some of the common types of printing inks is contained in Circular No. 53 of the Bureau of Standards, which has just been issued. The materials entering into the composition of printing inks are divided roughly into two classes, viz., oils and pigments. The first class includes linseed oil, rosin oil, the various semidrying oils, gums (resins), rosin and soap. The second class includes the various pigments from which the inks derive their color, and to some extent their consistency and working qualities. A brief description of the preparation and properties of these materials is given. The subject of driers is treated in a separate chapter. Various formulas are given showing the approximate composition of some inks.

The manufacture of printing inks is described showing the method of preparing the oil varnish and pigments, the methods of mixing and grinding, etc. The circular then takes up the question of the relation of ink to the paper. To obtain satisfactory results in printing, these two factors, ink and paper, must be carefully adjusted. It is well known that an ink which is satisfactory on one paper will not be so on another, all other conditions being constant. One phase of this relationship between ink and paper is the opacity of the ink, a subject of particular importance in the three and four color processes. Emphasis is laid on the necessity for the printer to select the proper grades of paper which will be suitable for his work.

The question as to what constitutes a good ink is often asked, and while this circular does not pretend to answer this directly it gives the requirements and tests specified by the Government Printing Office, which show how one Government department is handling this problem. The Bureau of Standards has issued a technologic paper on the subject of the analysis of printing inks, an abstract of which is included in the circular. The application of these tests and their relation to the practical tests under working conditions are given.

Owing to the importance of linseed oil in printing inks, a special chapter is devoted to the manufacture and properties of this oil. A bibliography on inks, oils and pigments is included for the benefit of those who wish to make a deeper study of the subject than the general nature of the circular permits. Interested parties may obtain copies of this circular free of charge upon application to the Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C.

FIND ORDINANCE ILLEGAL

Error Found After It Was Upheld by U. S. Supreme Court

Sunbury, Pa., March 19.—When V. A. Gass and J. M. Ansel, of Jersey City, were arrested here on a charge of peddling without a license it was discovered that the ordinance under which they were taken into custody was illegal in that it had not been signed by the president of the Borough Council. The ordinance has been in effect sixteen years. During that time it has stood the test of a trip through the State and United States Supreme Courts, and was sustained both times.

His Wild Bear a Skunk

York, Pa., March 19.—Having come from sunny Italy with a vague notion of wild animals that roam in American cities, James Chantiles, a York bootblack, cornered "a small bear" in the cellar under his boarding house here Wednesday night and killed it with a broom. It was a skunk.

Lycoming Assured of New Home

Williamsport, Pa., March 19.—The Industrial Home for Women will come to Lycoming, and the bill for its removal to York will die in the Senate committee, declares Senator Sones, chairman of the commission. He says it would be a mistake to erect it elsewhere.

Do You Face the Day's Work With Vim and Energy?

Morning is the time when workers need food that will not overload the stomach, but give strength and mental vigor for the day.

Much depends on the start. For one can't be keen and alert on a heavy, indigestible breakfast.

Grape-Nuts

FOOD is not only easy of digestion (digests in about one hour), but it aids in the assimilation of other foods. Made of whole wheat and malted barley, the malting of the barley awakens the digestive ferment, diastase, one of the essentials in the assimilation of all food.

Grape-Nuts comes ready to eat from the package with cream or milk; delicious, economical, and a powerful energizer for folks who "do things."
