Franklin County Navy Officer and Three Seamen Perish In the Bosphorus Off Constantinople When Gale Capsizes Small Boat in Which They Attempt to Reach the U. S. Converted Yacht, Scorpion

BROTHER MET A LIKE FATE

Mark Bricker, Several Years Ago, Was Drowned in the Delaware, at Philadelphia, When Rowboat Upset—Young Officer Had Assumed Command of the Scorpion Only a Few Days Ago, Having Been Transferred From the Embassy in Paris

Lieutenant Commander William Franklin Bricker, U. S. Navy, of Chambersburg, Pa., was drowned with three American sailors in the Bosphorus, off Constantinople, on Saturday night when a rowboat capsized in which they were heading for the United States converted yacht Scorpion, of which Bricker was in command and which was anchored near the Dolmabahcheh Palace.

This information was conveyed in a cablegram received by the Associated Press this morning from Constantinople by way of Berlin and London, dated at London at 10:24 a. m. to-day.

Lieutenant Commander Bricker was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Bricker, of Queen street, near Second street, Chambersburg, and by remarkable coincidence, was the second son of the family to lose his life by drowning.

His older brother, Mark Bricker, was drowned when a rowboat in the Delaware river capsized off Philadelphia, a few years ago. He at that time held a responsible position in the office of a Philadelphia traction company.

Washington, March 22.—Great regret was expressed by naval officers over the death of Lieutenant Commander Bricker, who was well known here. Seaman Irven Dowell was from Annapolis, Md., where his mother lives. Charles Ford's home was in Oxford, Miss. Naval records here show no sailor named Leverings.

MRS. GEO. W. REILY, JR., DIED YESTERDAY MORNING

After Several Weeks Spent at Seashore In an Endeavor to Regain Strength She Was Taken to Philadelphia Where Death Occurred

Mrs. Louise Harrison Reily, wife of George W. Reily, Jr., banker, of Front and Reily streets, died at sunrise yesterday in Philadelphia where her husband had taken her for expert medical attention.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Reily went to Atlantic City, hoping to gain health and strength there. Few of her friends realized her critical condition, but for the last few weeks her husband had spent almost his entire time with her, taking her from the shore to Philadelphia a few days ago.

Mrs. Reily was Miss Louise Harrison, of Baltimore, and was born in 1878 in that city. She received her education in the private schools of Baltimore and in St. Timothy's school, Catonsville, Md. She was an accomplished musician, possessed of a remarkably sweet and cultured voice and she sang frequently in entertainments for the benefit of the Sunshine Society, the hospital, the Visiting Nurses and similar charitable organizations.

Mrs. Reily was an associate member of the Wednesday Club; a member of the Board of Directors of the Visiting Nurses, and a member of the Advisory Board of the Central Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association.

Since her marriage fourteen years since she had resided in Harrisburg making her home in the old Reily homestead at Front and Reily streets. Almost from the first she identified herself with church and philanthropic work. She had been a member of Market Square Presbyterian church since 1906 and she taught a large class in the Sunday school. Mrs. Reily was a member of a large and prominent Maryland family. Two sisters and seven brothers survive her, but both her parents are dead.

TAKE UP OPTION BILL TO-MORROW

Members of House Committee Will Decide Whether to Report It This Week

WORKMEN'S BILLS TO BE DISCUSSED

John Mitchell Will Address Joint Committee in Behalf of the Laboring Men—Full Crew Hearing Also Is on the Day's Program

Four important hearings are to be held in the Capitol to-morrow on measures now before the House.

The House Law and Order Committee will take up the local option bill and decide whether it shall be reported to the House at once or remain in committee for a longer time until the word is given by Governor Brumbaugh to let it be given a place on the calendar. If it is sent out, it will probably come up for first reading on Thursday morning and second reading on Friday, if a session is held on that day. It will then come up for final passage on Tuesday of next week, when the friends and opponents of the bill will rally their forces for the clash. The opponents of the measure still maintain they have sufficient votes to kill it, but Governor Brumbaugh is confident that he has sufficient votes to pass the bill.

The workmen's compensation bill will come to-morrow before the joint committee of the Senate and House, and among those who will be present

POLICE BARS FAIL TO HOLD BOY, 12

200-Pound Grating Doesn't Halt Young Offender Escaping Headquarters

BLUECOATS ARE ALWAYS ON DUTY

Yet Wiry Youth Gets Out of Detention Quarters by Wriggling Through Narrow Space. Hohl-fashion—May Have Had Outside Aid

The detention of Clarence Ross, colored, 12 years old, charged with the larceny of several bicycles, was so distasteful to him that he escaped from the basement at police headquarters early to-day and used almost as much ingenuity in doing it as did the late bandit, Frank Hohl, in getting out of the Hollidaysburg jail by way of a window six inches wide.

Ross early this morning opened a window from the basement and crawled out under a grating in the pavement in the blind alley which runs beside the headquarters building. He used a bench, similar to the benches in Front street park, to get to the window level. The 200-pound grate in the sidewalk was then dislodged far enough to permit the boy to force his little body through and he escaped. The coppers cannot understand how the boy managed to move the grate, unless he had outside assistance.

Evidently Ross wanted to cause all the annoyance possible before he made his getaway. He searched the custodian's room for something valuable to take with him. He found nothing, but he turned everything topsy-turvy and gained the ill-will of John Grissinger, who presides over that room.

If any of the homeless men who were in the detention cells over night happened to look out and see the boy at work on the window they gave no alarm.

Ross would not have been placed in the basement at all if he would have behaved himself when discharged in the custody of his stepfather, Moses Taylor, of Edgemont. He was arrested first by City Detective White, charged with larceny of a bicycle. That was on Wednesday. There being no house of detention, the boy was given over to his stepfather, who was to bring him to juvenile court next Friday.

PROSPEROUS FARMER IS GIVEN FORD AUTOMOBILE

Winner of Kelker Street Hali Auto Show Door Prize Already Owns One Machine—Saxon Car Not Yet Claimed

M. R. Rutherford, a prosperous farmer of Rutherford Heights, may have come to town to-day in his automobile to claim the Ford machine, the door prize given away at the show of the Capital City Automobile Dealers' Association at Kelker street hall, Fourth and Kelker streets. He did not, however, and ran his prize home, making the auto population in his barn two instead of one. He was holder of ticket No. 002871 and claimed the car at 12:30 o'clock to-day in the "Patriot" office.

Matthias B. R. Johnson was enthusiastic over the success of the show last week and expects a prosperous season. He declared the show to be the best he ever managed in Harrisburg.

The winner of the door prize at the show of the Harrisburg Motor Dealers' Association at the Arena, Third and Delaware streets, is given until noon to-morrow to claim the Saxon car, 01073 is first and nine others are selected as follows: 00984, 01091, 02380, 00846, 02335, 00963, 02777, 00554, and 03866.

If the first man does not appear the second will have until noon Wednesday and so on until the car is disposed of. So far J. Clyde Myton, manager of the show, has heard from the holders of the third and ninth tickets.

From an actual business standpoint, the show at the Arena was the most successful in the history of shows in Harrisburg. All of the exhibitors did more business than in former years.

CONVICTED AUTOMOBILIST MAY BE PUT ON PAROLE

Court Suspends Morrow's Sentence Until June and Continues $2,000 Bail—Case of Hargest, Cleared by Grand Jury, to Be Resubmitted

Samuel Morrow, who late Saturday evening was convicted on a charge of involuntary manslaughter, growing out of an automobile accident in which Ralph Witmer, 9 years old, was fatally injured, will not ask for a new trial, so C. H. Backenstoe, his counsel, announced this morning.

The Morrow case is the first of its kind that has been decided by a jury in Dauphin county. Further than to suspend sentence until the June Quarter Sessions Judge McCarrell made no announcement as to his intention regarding the final disposition of the case, yet there is belief among lawyers that Morrow will be paroled in the custody of County Detective James T. Walters.

The Witmer had was a passenger in a machine driven by Edward Miller. This car and the Morrow car collided at Seventeenth and North streets on the afternoon of November 6, last, and the youngster died from peritonitis caused by the injuries.

After the jury's verdict in the Morrow case was brought in District Attorney Stroup asked and obtained permission from Judge McCarrell to resubmit to the Grand Jury, at the June court term, an indictment charging John J. Hargest, Jr., with involuntary manslaughter. Hargest was driving the auto that crashed into a Valley Railway Company trolley, at Front and Walnut streets, on January 1, last, resulting in the death of Miss Grace Magan and serious injuries to three other passengers. The March grand jury ignored the manslaughter charge against Hargest.

RUMORS PUT BURPEE AND O'NEILL IN CAPITOL JOBS

Reported on the Hill To-day That They Are to Become, Respectively, the Heads of the Agricultural and Highway Departments

A story afloat on Capitol Hill to-day was that the resignation of E. M. Bigelow, as State Highway Commissioner, has been written and is all ready to be placed in the Governor's hands when the Governor says the word, and that Mr. Bigelow's successor will be J. Denny O'Neill, Commissioner of Allegheny county, who is noted for his temperance crusades through the State and his annual picnics to the school children of McKeesport, his home.

Mr. O'Neill was here a short time ago and had a conference with the Governor, but it was said at the time but only local opinion was discussed.

It is said that when Secretary of Agriculture Critchfield leaves office, his commission having expired on February 27, he will be succeeded by W. Allee Burpee, of Philadelphia, noted as a dealer in seeds. It is also said that should the Agricultural Department be reorganized Mr. Burpee will become its head.

HOTEL FOLKS PAY $100,000

That Amount Already Changes Hands to Bind the Bargain for Site at Third and Walnut

Confirmation of the purchase of the site at Third and Walnut streets by a western hotel company was made to-day, when it was learned that the first payment of $100,000 on the lot had been made to the Weightman heirs, of Philadelphia, owners of the lot, by the Hamilton Hotel Company, of Indianapolis. The site will be taken over this week.

DENTIST ORDERED TO SUPPORT SON

Dr. Horace M. Cumbler Directed to Pay $7 a Week for Youngster's Keep

LAWYER'S HAVE A LIVELY SPAT

Beidleman and Seitz Get in Wrangle Which Judge McCarrell Out Short—The Boy's Church Contributions Discussed

Mrs. Rebecca I. Behney, wife of Dr. Byron S. Behney, a dentist, of 809 North Second street, was in court this morning seeking to compel her former husband, Dr. Horace M. Cumbler, also a dentist, of Steelton, to support their son, Horace M. Cumbler, Jr., seven years old.

The amount of Dr. Cumbler's annual income was the subject of a lengthy argument between counsel, D. S. Seitz, for Mrs. Behney, and E. E. Beidleman, for the defendant. Judge McCarrell closed the controversy by making an order directing Dr. Cumbler to pay $7 a week.

Dr. Cumbler himself said that in years gone by he has averaged not less than $3,500 a year, but during the last twelve months he got only about $2,000. His expenses, he said, run close to $1,200 a year, and in his list of expenses he included his insurance charges and club fees. He is a member of clubs both in Steelton and in Harrisburg, and he said that he spends many of his evenings at one or another of these clubs.

Beidleman thought the item of charges covering the lad's church contributions should not be included in the mother's schedule of charges and besides, he said, many of the other charges "are high."

"Why we are asked to pay $3.50 a week for that little boy," began the Senator, "and the average workman pays not more than $4.50 a week for board. And think of it," he continued, "$1 a week for laundry and $3.50 a month for shoes."

LAWYERS IN A WRANGLE

Then the attorneys became involved in an argument on the question of who had the right to speak to the court, Seitz arguing that the Senator had interrupted before he had finished. Judge McCarrell then immediately made the $7-a-week order.

SUICIDE INSTRUCTS CORONER

Woman Says She Was Perfectly Sound In Mind and Body

Kingstown, N. Y., March 22.—Mrs. William P. Dutton and her 5-year-old daughter were found dead to-day behind doors that had been nailed fast, in their home at Ellenville. A note addressed to the coroner read:

BRUMBAUGH AND FLINN TO UNITE IN POLITICS?

Reported on Capitol Hill That Governor Will Split With the Old Republican Chieftains and Form New Leadership for Party

William Flinn, former Senator from Allegheny, National Committeeman of the Progressive or Washington party in Pennsylvania and a leader of the Bull Moose movement in this State since 1912, is expected in Harrisburg this week to hold a conference with Governor Brumbaugh on the local option bill, the party's support of which was pledged in one of the planks of the Washington platform.

The fact that Flinn is coming here gave rise to a story on Capitol Hill to-day that a new political combine is about to be made between Governor Brumbaugh, Senator Vare, of Philadelphia, the boss of the South Philadelphia Republican, and former Senator Flinn, the purpose being to wrest the leadership from the present heads of the Republican organization and put new leaders in their places.

Since the election last year Flinn has been very silent and, although he has had numerous conferences with his lieutenants throughout the State, it was given out that he was not likely to be an active participant in any more political movements in Pennsylvania because of several big contracts for public works he has in New York, and which will take up all of his time and attention. Many politicians, however, would be little surprised to see him get back in the political arena.

MORTON CO. LANDS $270,000 BRITISH GOVERNMENT ORDER

Gets Contract To-day to Construct 94 Commercial Trucks—Work Will Start Within Two Weeks and Plant Will Run Day and Night

A cablegram received this morning from Robert L. Morton, who now is in London demonstrating two armored auto trucks that were manufactured at the Harrisburg plant of the Morton Truck & Tractor Company, announced the placing of an order with the local concern by the British government for 94 commercial trucks to cost something like $270,000.

Work will be begun on this order within a fortnight, so one of the Morton Company officials said here to-day, or as soon as the signed contracts which already have been mailed from London are received here.

This order will mean the start of big activities at the Morton plant at Nineteenth and Manada streets. The contract provides that the cars shall be furnished "at once" and this likely will mean day and night work until the job is completed.

This is but one of several big contracts the Morton company has received. Before this latest contract is finished work will be begun on the other jobs, including that for the Russian government, the total cost of which will run into the millions.

CHARRED BONES IN RUINS

Clinton L. Bixler Believed to Have Perished in Burning Home—Authorities Investigating

(Special to the Star-Independent.) Blain, Pa., March 22.—Charred bones, believed to be the remains of Clinton L. Bixler, were found in the cellar of his destroyed home six miles from this place, at 5 o'clock this morning. Perry county officials were engaged this afternoon trying to discover if the home was set on fire by thieves who got away with the man's savings or if the man was trapped on the second floor and could not escape the flames.

Bixler lived alone in the farm house, which is in a lonely spot, since last fall, when he wife was taken to the Harrisburg hospital for treatment. Recently she has resided with her daughter, Mrs. C. H. Bair, three miles from Loysville, and it was there that she learned of the burning of her home and the probable death of her husband.

COMPLETE PART OF BRIDGE

Second Section at Division Street to Be Started Soon

The first half of the 10-foot-wide bridge spanning the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at Division street has been completed, according to announcements made by company officials this morning.

This section of the bridge spans twenty-one of the thirty-four tracks on the west side of the yards.

The appropriation for the cost of the second half of the bridge has already been authorized in the report of the annual budget. No official announcement as to when work will be started on this section of the bridge has yet been made, but it is understood it will be a matter of the near future.

PERRY CO. LIQUOR MEN FILE APPEAL

Ten of Them Carry Fight For Right to Open Their Bars Up to the Superior Court

HOPE FOR AN EARLY RULING

Effort Being Made to Get Hearing Before the Appellate Body in Pittsburgh Session Next Month—Otherwise It Goes Over a Year

The ruling of Judge W. N. Seibert, of Perry county, that technical errors in all of the liquor license applications recently presented to the Perry county court by the hotel men bar the granting of licenses, thereby wiping out the sale of liquor in the county on and after April 1, is attacked in appeals to the State Superior court filed to-day by ten of the hotel men.

The appeals are marked for hearing at the next Harrisburg term of the Superior court, which will not be until March, 1916. However, it was said, at the office of William Pearson, Prothonotary of the appellate court, where the appeals were filed, that attorneys in the cases intend filing supplemental petitions asking that the cases be heard at the Pittsburgh court session which opens on April 19, next.

A test case is set for disposition, the appellant being Howard A. Keim, proprietor of a hotel in New Germantown. Nine other hotel men, however, have taken steps so that if the county court is reversed and the Keim license allowed, they, too, will have the right to obtain licenses. Perry county, in any
