NEWS OF THE SPORTING WORLD

PRESIDENT BAN JOHNSON SEES BASEBALL DISASTER

American League Leader Would Abolish Southern Training Trips and Close 5 or 6 Minor Leagues—Interest Lacking in Small Towns

Chicago, March 23.—Baseball is in for an overhauling such as it has never before experienced if the suggestions of B. B. Johnson, president of the American League, are carried out. According to the head of the junior circuit, there is need of reform along both artistic and financial lines. Included in the scheme for a "new deal" are the closing of the gates for the coming season of some fifty ball parks and the abolition of spring training trips. The padlocks would be distributed among five or six minor leagues, while the American and National Leagues would be principally affected by the new system of training.

The apparent lack of interest in baseball in smaller towns is the reason for the first suggestion, and needless expense, coupled with chilly reception, both at the gate and by the weatherman at the Southern training camps, is responsible for the second.

The policy of closing the gates of scores of minor league clubs has been brought home with added pressure the last few days through appeals to the National Commission from ball players for back salaries. It seems that the majority of minor leagues failed to make both ends meet last year, and the players are at present in possession of I. O. U.'s, on which they have been unable to collect. Not being able to get any satisfaction from their employers, the players have flooded the commission with requests for money.

The supreme court of baseball has been unable to offer much encouragement, and it was pointed out through Mr. Johnson that the worst is yet to come. Hundreds of players are likely to be out of jobs the coming season with no relief in sight, regardless of whether certain clubs close their gates or not.

President Johnson pointed out that the National League will have to get rid of nearly 150 players, while the American League will discard almost as many. The larger minor leagues will cut their rosters to 16, 17 and 18 players for each club, and these moves will throw more men out of jobs.

"We have come to the parting of the ways," said Mr. Johnson. "And either have to turn out and run before the wind or take the chances of being wrecked on the financial shoals. I am not referring to the American or National leagues when I say this, except that retrenchments along certain lines may be necessary. What I refer to is connected with the minors. Most of the leagues throughout the country are in a bad way."

"There is no question but that it would be a good thing for the game were the gates of five or six minor league clubs closed during the coming season. In fact, I cannot see how the smaller club owners can afford to keep their parks open. Few made any money last year and it does not look as if they are going to this year."

"The National Commission has been bombarded of late with requests for back salaries. These have all come from minor league players who were unable to collect from different clubs last fall. The commission naturally tries to satisfy the players to the best of its ability, but if the club owing the money is bankrupt our hands are tied."

"I am going to suggest to the club owners in the American and National Leagues that hereafter all players be compelled to report in condition to play one or two weeks before the season opens," said Johnson.

"These training trips are getting to be a joke. They are of no benefit and cost the clubs $3,000 to $4,000 every year."

SERVIAN WOMAN TO SEEK AID FOR COUNTRY HERE

Will Speak in City Next Week in Hall Offered for Her Use by Bishop

Darlington—Fever Prevalent in Her Land

Mme. Slavko Grouitch, wife of the Permanent Under Secretary of Foreign Affairs of Servia, is to speak in behalf of the Servian Agricultural Relief Committee, in this city some time next week. The exact date has not as yet been definitely decided upon.

Mme. Grouitch is in receipt of a letter from Bishop James Henry Darlington, inviting her to use the hall in the Bishopric for her address. His invitation will no doubt be accepted.

Mme. Slavko Grouitch, a war nurse and Red Cross worker in the Balkan battlefields, who is in the United States to secure relief for her impoverished people, is organizing a corps of volunteer American college men, who will go to the little mountainous nation in June to form mobile working units.

Plague Taking Lives
"Help us to stamp out the typhus plague, or your efforts to procure grain, seeds and agricultural implements for us will not be necessary. There will be few of us left."

This is the frantic appeal that is being sent to the United States from war-ridden and fever-infested Servia. The country where a few years ago there were no beggars and no rich men has been involved in a war three times in three years. Only the women and children remain to plant the crops. They are huddled in concentration camps, and there are no crops to plant and few homes left to give them shelter. And now the dread typhus fever has made its appearance.

These conditions, outlined by Mme. Slavko Grouitch, are being made the basis of an appeal for aid for the stricken country. Under the auspices of the Servian Agricultural Relief Committee, of America, with headquarters at 70 Fifth avenue, New York City, Mme. Grouitch is making a tour of the principal cities in the United States in the interest of the local organizations being formed to take up the work. Dr. Charles W. Eliot, President Emeritus of Harvard, is president, Breck Trowbridge, of New York, is chairman, and Dr. T. Tilston Wells, of New York, is chairman of the Executive Committee, of the general relief committee.

The committee asks that subscriptions of money be sent to J. P. Morgan and Company, New York City, who are acting as bankers of the committee, and that grain, seeds and agricultural implements be sent to Bush Terminal, New York City.

The first shipment of hospital supplies, consisting of more than 300 cases of material for hospital and nurses, is already on its way from New York to Servia. This will be a mere drop in the bucket, however.

Mme. Grouitch is to visit Harrisburg next week to speak before prominent citizens in the cause of Servia.

Nanticoke Buckwheat

Price $3.75

Before you decide definitely about the kind of coal you will burn in your furnace next winter try some of our Nanticoke Buckwheat at $3.75.

For some makes of Steam Heat and Hot Water furnaces this size of coal is exactly suited.

Nanticoke Buckwheat Coal being small catches up very quickly. It gives out an intense heat with very little regulation to your furnace. You will find with a little practice that you can damper this coal off so that it scarcely burns at all which is an ideal requirement for mild weather. When you want heat, turn the drafts on about 15 minutes and your radiator will begin to get hot.

We don't recommend Buckwheat Coal for every condition, but it will be worth your while to buy, say, 500 lbs to experiment with.
