SHOUT "VIVE LA FRANCE" AS TURKS SINK WARSHIP BOUVET IN DARDANELLES

Paris, March 23, 3.05 A. M.—Standing at salute and shouting "Vive la France," the officers and crew of the French battleship Bouvet, sunk in the Dardanelles on March 18, went down with their ship, according to the Tenedos correspondent of the Athens "Patris," who thus describes the action in which the Bouvet and the Gaulois were engaged:

"The captain of the Bouvet had been ordered to cross a dangerous mine zone and force a passage to Chanak Kalesi, thus making the allies master of the straits as far as Nagara. At 1.20 p. m. the Bouvet was five miles from Chanak and was firing at Fort Dardanus. She had crossed two mine zones. The Gaulois followed, firing all her guns. The commander of the Gaulois, by a skillful maneuver, avoided two mines which were exploded by a destroyer but a third struck her in the region of her magazines and she sank by the head.

"Seven survivors of the Bouvet climbed into a boat and spent the night in a bay on the European side of the straits. They were taken off the next day by a British destroyer.

"When the captain of the Gaulois saw the Bouvet was sinking he ordered 'full steam ahead' without an instant's hesitation, but his ship had been struck seven times and he was obliged to put back, anchoring off Mavrais island."

A dispatch from Mytilene says a division of the allied fleet is still keeping watch on the Gulf of Smyrna. A Greek ship picked up a floating mine near Imbros Island and another was found by fishermen near Lesvos.

quently they must pierce the Russian front at any cost.

Final Sortie of the Garrison

"An easterly direction was chosen for the sortie as the line of least resistance as well as because it led to the district where the Russians had large stores of arms and ammunitions. More than 20,000 men were ordered to participate in the sortie, but several units refused to move despite the urgings of their commanders. Only the Twenty-third and Eighty-fifth landwehr and Fourth Hussars took an active part. They were promptly and decisively defeated.

"An official Austrian communication states that the garrison returned to Przemyśl because it encountered overwhelming Russian forces. In connection it should be noted that the Russian forces near Przemyśl never were large and the great sortie was repulsed principally by territorial troops and reserves. The total number of the captured garrison exceeded Russian expectations.

Austrian General's Appeal to Troops

"Following is the text of an order issued by General Kusmanek to the garrison of the fortress on March 18, the day before the sortie:

"Soldiers: For half a year we children almost division and some parts of the Eighty-fifth landwehr and Fourth Hussars took an active part. They were promptly and decisively defeated.

"The 'Vossische Zeitung' says the fort's fall releases the beleaguering army, but while it is not known where it will be employed, the Austrians undoubtedly are informed and will take the necessary steps."

"While we thoroughly agree with the Austrian general staff that the fall of Przemyśl can have no influence on the general situation," says the "Kreuzer Zeitung," "we nevertheless are honest enough to admit it is a painful blow dealt our cause on the right wing of our mutual thousand-kilometer front."

Last Bar to Gateway of Hungary

London, March 23, 12.03 P. M.—The fall of Przemyśl is characterized here as the throwing down of the last bar of the gateway into Hungary, and an early Russian advance in that direction is anticipated in England. The German press praises warmly the gallantry of the defenders of this Galician fortress while at the same time it does not attempt to minimize the effects of its surrender and expresses uneasiness concerning the result of the long eastern battle front of the Teutonic allies.

man statement says that a French aviator was shot down near Verdun and that another French machine was forced to descend near Frieberg.

The opinion is expressed by Field Marshal Sir John French commander of the British forces in the field, that the war will not be of long duration. In an interview with a French correspondent he says that spring promises well for the allies, and that he believes the Germans are feeling a lack of ammunition.

Italy is preparing rapidly for whatever may result from the negotiations with Austria, now represented as having reached an important stage. A royal decree is soon to be signed establishing rules designed to suppress spies. Women are to be put to work in the places of men in case of mobilization of the army.

An official Russian communication described the battle which preceded the fall of Przemyśl. It is said that the troops left the fortress to the eastward in a final effort to break through the Russian lines at any cost, but were defeated quickly. Berlin newspapers do not believe the Russian victory will be of great influence on the campaign as a whole although the fall of the city is described as a "painful blow" to the Austrian-German right wing.

Unfavorable weather still prevailed at the Dardanelles yesterday and no further attacks on the Turkish fortifications were attempted. The warships of the allied fleet did not leave their anchorages.

SHEET IRON MILLS TO RESUME

Ohio Plants to Start Monday After Being Idle Under Truce

By Associated Press.

Youngstown, O., March 23.—Sheet iron manufacturers whose plants have been idle under a truce with employes, to-day announced that mills would resume operations next Monday.

The truce will end Thursday but more time is given on account of the third referendum vote on the question of accepting a lower wage scale by the sheet and tin plate lodges of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Sheet and Tinplate Workers. Sheet workers here feel sure the scale will be adopted by the referendum Saturday.

A Bold Defense

"An enlisted man once put the president of a court martial in a difficult position," says a writer in an English magazine. "The court martial was trying the soldier for some fault or other. When the evidence—and it took an unusually long time—had been given, the president asked the prisoner if he had anything to say in his defense.

"Well, sir," said the man, 'I can't see how the 'ere court can sentence me, for Major Jones 'as been reading a paper under the table the 'ole blooming time, and Captain Smith 'as been making me into karikature on the blotting pad, and, as for Lieutenant Brown, 'e 'asn't 'ad his commission a year and don't count anyways!'"

The Harrisburg Hospital is open daily except Sunday, between 1 and 2 o'clock p. m. for dispensing medical advice and prescriptions to those unable to pay for them.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs"

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

ing the loss our brave allies have suffered. Przemyśl was strong and a great fortress. It showed its strength in its proud defense. We mourn with our allies its loss and the loss of its commander and garrison, who have won laurels whose glory captivity cannot destroy.

NEWSPAPERS IN INDIA

They Seem to Be Run in a Happy-go-lucky Sort of Way

Americans, accustomed to the hustle and bustle of our newspapers that are enterprising to a marvelous extent, would be amazed if not exasperated with the papers of India. One of these sheets recently published this explanation:

"This is only the beginning of our paper. We were not sure how much matter was required to fill it up, and, thinking we had sufficient, we did not exert ourselves much to get any more. We therefore beg that our readers will excuse us for the space left blank and promise to do better and get more in the future."

How many subscribers would that paper have in this country? Still more curious was the announcement of a paper that came out with two columns blank, the editor having the cheek to say that a large quantity of exceedingly interesting matter has been left out for want of space.

When the average East Indian editor wants a holiday he suspends publication until it is convenient to resume and, taking the public into his confidence, informs them plainly why the paper was not issued on the expected dates. "With the consent of our readers we now propose to take our annual holiday. We are sure none of them will begrudge us our relaxation."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
