SELECT WELCH TO REFEREE

Johnson and Willard Select Him After Edgren Refuser on Account of Amateur Standing

Havana, March 26 .- After discuss ing many names Tom Jones, who acted for Jess Willard, and Jack Johnson agreed yesterday upon Jack Welch as referee of their bout here on Sunday, April 4. Bob Edgren had been accepted by both, but he refused to run the of forfeiting his amateur standwelch, whose home is in San Francisco, has been a leading referee for more than fifteen years.

The decision to abandon racing next Thresday, which was announced yesterday, may bring about a change in the hour for beginning the light. According to the original schedule the struggle for the world's title was to begin at 11 o'clock in the morning, but this early hour was set in order that it might be possible to clear away the seats in time to begin the afternoon's racing at 2 o'clock. With the giving up of the races it may be possible to change the plans for the fight and begin it at noon or even later. If this change the plans for the fight and begin it at noon or even later. If this is done the crowd probabily will be bigger, and it is certain that it will make the problem of reaching the track in time to see the beginning of the fight a much simpler one.

No races after the fight also means that all the well laid plans for a quick transforsation from an ambitheterte to.

transformation from an amphitheatre to a racetrack will have to be dropped a racetrack will have to be dropped without a chance to see whether they would have worked or not. The engineers in charge claimed that they could get the seats cleared off and the track ready for racing in fifteen minutes after the fight ended, and therewere a number of Missourians around town who were sure that it couldn't be done, and who were willing to back their orinings. No they will have to tireless and persistent attack. He didn't take a back step throughout the fight. White fought a cool, deliberate bout, as he always does, but the crowd did not like his plan of battle at all. They yelled for Charley to put a little more action into the fray, but these yells only seemed to make him a little more cautious.

While carefully avoided mixes with Cross, and in this he was wise. He had the better of it when he stood off and pecked at Cross with left uppercuts. Cross took many a hard whack on the jaw as he bored in to get close for a right hander. White's nose was cut, his lips were red and a cut appeared over his right eye at the finish. Leach's right ear was puffed a bit, and his seconds rubbed it all during the fight. Cross' crouch seemed to spoil the effectiveness of most of White's well meant blows. At that every punch he landed stung Cross, but the dentist always managed to repay the compliment.
