EVAN WILLIAMS, CONCERT TENOR WHO WILL SING HERE ON APRIL 8

Evan Williams, America's greatest concert tenor, who will be heard in joint recital with Maud Powell, the reigning queen of violinists, Thursday evening, April 8, in the Chestnut street auditorium, was recently paid a tribute in this city by Hans Kronold, cellist, who was one of the artists at the Troup concert last week. He said: "I have known Mr. Williams for many years and fully familiar with splendid work done by this artist. He certainly has a wonderful voice and those who are fortunate to hear him will not be disappointed."

Mr. Williams has just completed a most successful tour of the west and the "Examiner," one of the leading dailies on the Pacific coast, says: "Evan Williams is one of the greatest tenors that ever came to the coast. He was heard at his best and that is incomparable." Sale of seats will open on Friday morning of this week at the J. H. Troup Music House. The recital is under the local management of Alfred C. Kuschwa and Chalmers L. Enck.—Adv.*

CLASSIC WAR POEMS Selected by J. Howard Wert

No. 27. THE MOONLIGHT MARCH BY BISHOP REGINOLD HEBER

In this selection, I will turn for a moment from some of the stern and awful battle portraiture which this series has presented, to give a little gem from the great missionary, Bishop Heber, the author of some of the sublimest hymns of our language.

Reginald Heber, the celebrated bishop of Calcutta, was born in Cheshire, England, April 21, 1783, and died in Madras, April 3, 1826. Evincing, even in childhood, a remarkable fondness for learning, he lost none of his enthusiasm, in this direction, by the advance of life. His career at Oxford, where he took his degree, was singularly brilliant; being distinguished, among other things, by his famous prize poem entitled "Palestine." As a poet, he is most remarkable for those qualities that were so conspicuous in his character, as a man, namely, gentleness, benevolence, devotional feeling, and the vigor that comes of Christian zeal.

I see them on their winding way,
About their ranks the moonbeams play;
Their lofty deeds and daring high
Blend with the notes of victory.
And waving arms, and banners bright,
Are glancing in the mellow light:
They're lost—and gone, the moon is past,
The wood's dark shade is o'er them
cast;
And ainter, fainter, fainter still,
The march is rising o'er the hill.

Again, again, the pealing drum,
The clashing horn—they come, they come!
Through rocky pass, o'er wooded steep
In long and glittering files they sweep.
And nearer, nearer, yet more near,
Their softened chorus meets the ear:
Forth, forth, and meet them on their way!
The trampling hoofs brook no delay,
With thrilling life and pealing drum,
And clashing horn, they come, they
come!

TIME LIMIT FOR EITEL AT NEWPORT NEWS NEARLY UP

Washington, March 29.—With the time limit fixed for the German cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich to make repairs at Newport News nearing expiration and with the battleship Alabama on her way from Philadelphia to Hampton Roads to enforce American neutrality, interest was renewed here to-day in any move that Commander Thierichens, of the vessel, might make.

He must soon either renew his merchant raiding expedition in the face of warships of the allied nations which are waiting off the Virginia capes to capture her, or intern his ship until the end of the European war. The Prinz Eitel was reported still at her dock at Newport News early to-day with smoke pouring from both her funnels.

Philadelphia, March 29.—The battleship Alabama, which was given hurry orders Saturday night to sail to Hampton Roads to enforce American neutrality, left the Philadelphia navy yard at 9 a. m., to-day. The battleship is well stocked with provisions and has aboard a large supply of ammunition and coal.

The Alabama was in reserve when the order came and had on board only a skeleton crew. This necessitated the drafting of men from the battleships Kentucky, Kearsarge, Illinois, Missouri, Ohio and Wisconsin.

The navy yard made a record in getting the Alabama away. When the order came Saturday night many of the officers and enlisted men were on shore leave. The Philadelphia police assisted in notifying those off duty and in getting workmen to the yard on Sunday to help make the ship ready for sea.

Rumania to Maintain Neutrality
Berlin, by Wireless to London, March 29, 10.10 A. M.—The Bucharest correspondent of the "Frankfurter Zeitung," telegraphed his paper that Rumania will continue to maintain her neutrality. The paper professes to have obtained information to the effect that the Rumanian Ambassador has signed such an agreement.

American Cargoes Recognized
London, March 29, 11.43 A. M.—The steamers A. A. Raven and Ruby, detained at Deal since March 19 with cargoes of American packing products, have completed the reconignment of their cargoes to the Netherlands Overseas Trust, of Holland, and proceeded to-day for Rotterdam.

SINKING OF THE DENVER AND CAPTAINS WHO WERE RESCUED WITH CREW

CAPTAIN F. G. AVERY OF THE DENVER.

CAPTAIN DAVID T. SMITH OF THE EVELYN

PHOTOGRAPH TAKEN FROM THE MEGANTIC, SHOWING THE DENVER SINKING, AND ONE OF THE MEGANTIC'S LIFE BOAT WHICH AIDED IN RESCUE

That their vessel was sinking under them at the rate of six inches an hour and with the seas sweeping her from stern to stern, after she had passed through a hurricane of such intensity that it tore iron fittings from the deck, was the story told by survivors of the steamship Denver, who were brought into New York on board the Megantic, of the White Star line. In the party were Captain F. G. Avery, of the Denver, and Mrs. Avery; Captain David T. Smith, who was returning as a passenger on board the Denver after his own vessel, the Evelyn, had been blown up in the North Sea by a mine, and thirteen of the crew. The rest of the Denver's crew, forty-nine in all, were brought in on board the Manhattan, another White Star liner, which took part in the rescue of the crew. Captain Avery would not discuss the loss of his vessel beyond saying that he had no knowledge of how the Denver sprung the leak. The crew said there was no evidence of the Denver having struck an iceberg or a derelict.

E. A. REINCKE'S BODY FOUND

Hazor Near; Broker Missing Since December 30; Worried by War

Tarrytown, N. Y., March 29.—The body of E. A. Reincke, a New York broker, who had been missing since December 30, was found yesterday afternoon in the woods of the Webber property back of Tarrytown by two inmates of the county almshouse. They notified the police and the identification was made through a label in Mr. Reincke's coat, which bore the name of a Montreal tailor. Near the body was found an open razor.

Mr. Reincke was a member of the firm of Gravenhorst & Co. of 30 Wall street, New York. On December 30 he left Tarrytown on board the morning train, but never appeared at his office. Mr. Reincke was born in Germany and had served in the army there. The war troubled him and it is believed the fear that Germany would lose unbalanced his mind. Mr. Reincke lived at 28 South Broadway and maintained a summer home at Lake George.

MISS WILSON SINGS FOR DISCS

"Star Spangled Banner" Record Royalties Go to War Sufferers
Washington, March 29.—Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the President, has sung "The Star Spangled Banner" for a musical record and has consented to turn over her royalties to the International Board of Relief, an organization working in war stricken cities of Europe.

Miss Wilson has done much in a charitable way since coming to Washington and has always had a lively interest in concert music. Her voice is a sweet soprano. Several records of songs by Miss Wilson, made recently, were pronounced commercial successes.
