Read what Stephen N. Green, of the Ohio Experiment Station, has to say regarding HOLMES' EMPEROR CELERY
We are delighted to note that the Holmes Green Celery, sent out in a limited way by the Holmes Seed Company two years ago, now being reintroduced under the name of Holmes Emperor. This is a truly remarkable new Celery. In trials of fifty of the new and standard sorts it stood head and shoulders above the rest. If you grow late Celery, by all means give this variety a trial. If you are not satisfied with it, your purchase money will be returned, but the situation will doubtless be that you will wish that you had planted ten times as much.

WOMAN'S DEATH A MYSTERY

Believed That Margaret Mullan Who Was Found Dead In Vacant Lot Was Murdered

Cumberland, Md., March 29.—Deep mystery surrounds the death of Miss Margaret Mullan, aged 31 years, daughter of William T. Miss Mullan was a highly respected young woman. She had been deaf since she was about 8 years old. She was last seen by her relatives when she left home Saturday evening about 7 o'clock.

Her body was found Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock by George Quantz, who resides near by and who saw one of her shoes through a hole in the board fence. This attracted his attention and caused him to look over into the yard. The fence was lying in a depression in the fence corner. Her clothing and shoes were covered with mud in a way to indicate that a struggle had taken place before she was overcome.

"Within the Law"
The minimum wage question and recent agitation thereupon play an important part in "Within the Law," which will be seen at the Majestic Wednesday, matinee and evening. The heroine of Bayard Veiller's melodrama is a poor shop girl, underpaid and underfed, who, after serving three years in prison for an offense that she did not commit, and trying vainly to obtain decent employment, becomes the head of a band of "crooks" and with their assistance takes her revenge upon society. As the leader of "Joe Garson," the forger; "English Eddie Griggs," a thief; "Aggie Lynch," an amusing little blackmailer, and other confederates, "Mary Turner" obtains enormous sums of money, but manages always to keep "Within the Law."

She even hires a lawyer to help her evade wrongdoing which is punishable. It is curious to learn, as one does in this play, that there are many forms of crime which are practically legal. Another interesting feature of the drama is the introduction of a Maxim silencer, which is shown in this play for the first time on any stage. It is a device by which a revolver may be fired without producing a report of any kind. How "Joe Garson" makes use of this formidable gun is a point of pivotal interest in working out of the plot. "Within the Law" is in four acts and there are more thrills to the situations of the act than were ever before written into one drama by any author. Well-known names of players will be seen here in Mr. Veiller's absorbing play. Clara Joel, the charming young actress, will assume the role of Mary Turner, the shop girl heroine. Adv.

At the Orpheum
The extraordinary engagement of Henrietta Crosman in vaudeville will undoubtedly be appreciated by Harrisburg theatregoers, who on every hand seem to be highly pleased at the fact that she will be at the Orpheum this week. Miss Crosman and her excellent company will present her splendid playlet, "Thou Shalt Not Kill," which has received so much praise in all the metropolitan vaudeville theatres. Incidentally Miss Crosman's engagement at the Orpheum this week will give Harrisburg amusement seekers their first opportunity to see this distinguished player at popular prices. Her vaudeville vehicle is declared by critics to be wonderful. They even say it would be an unusual achievement without the delightful personality of Miss Crosman, which makes it additionally attractive. A screeching comedy bit of the bill will be the black face comedy turn to be offered by Swor and Mack, two of the most clever and most popular artists in the realm of black eork. Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGreevy, the celebrated "rural" character artists, will likely give Swor and Mack a race for comedy honors. Milo, the great surprise artist; Diamond and Grant, the aged dancers, in a wonderful exhibition of ball room dances; Will and Kemp, and Berger and Berger will contribute two other interesting features to the week's new bill. Adv.

At the Colonial
Arthur Lavine and company, presenting "From Coney Island to the North Pole," by all odds the most gigantic musical comedy yet seen at the Busy Corner, will appear there as the bright particular feature of the bill for the first half of the week. Two sets of special scenery, a heavy of beautiful girls and many changes of attractive wardrobe make this tuneful comedy playlet a rare vaudeville treat. Three other Keith acts of the usual Colonial standard will appear in support of this mammoth attraction. Interesting features in moving pictures will also be included in the performance. Adv.

AT THE REGENT
"The Ghost Breaker" is truly remarkable as a drama in that it brings, all the dash and spirit of adventure ordinarily associated with the Romantic school of plays into the surroundings of modern life. It supplies the love for excitement which is a natural attribute of all amusement seekers, and at times it is so localized that it contrives to be convincing in spite of the most extraordinary incidents and the most unlooked for complications. The action of the play travels from Old World of the Princesses and Dukes, to the modern New World of an American blood feud, and then travels back again to pain and the haunted castle and the lost treasure, detectives, retainers of the ancient and noble Aragon family, pretended ghosts and real cut throats all mingle and play their parts in this most enthralling tale.

On one hand take the lost jewels of a noble Spanish family, on the other take a Southern feud between two American families; introduce a gallant young American and a perfectly adorable Spanish Princess who most urgently to be saved from the wicked plots of an evil Duke, and one has at a glance the elements of a truly unusual entertainment. H. B. Warner plays the young American and Rita Stanwood appears as the Spanish Princess.—Adv.

Movies at the Victoria Under the Most Favorable Condition
With the added attractions which the country's best and most up-to-date motion picture theatres, among them the Victoria of this city, are offering the public is bound to come a wonderful increase in the number of persons who seek this form of entertainment. The recent installation of a new Hope-Jones Unit Pipe Organ Orchestra for the Victoria at a cost of $25,000 is the latest feature of the motion picture business to be introduced in Harrisburg. Few cities in the country can boast of such a wonderful instrument, where one can enjoy its sweet and ever pleasing musical strains, at such low prices. Mr. Albert Hay Mayotta, a player of marked ability, who operates the Victoria's great pipe organ has been receiving enthusiastic applause at every performance. His manner of handling this wonderful instrument makes "seeing the movies" at the Victoria doubly pleasing.—Adv.

Anita Stewart and Earl Williams at the Photoplay To-day
Featured in a Broadway star Vitaphone production three acts, Anita Stewart and Earl Williams play the leading roles in "From Headquarters," a strong dramatic feature of the Secret Service and police headquarters. The secret service man is called to headquarters to investigate the Brown assault case, the daughter, Anita Stewart, pleads that her father drops the case, stating that no one knows why Brown had been assaulted and to have pity for the girl. The father becomes suspicious that his daughter may have committed the crime so determines to investigate. Rose, the daughter, had assailed Brown, her employer after a stormy scene in which she finds him in close embrace with Belle Waring, the new stenographer and in anger, stabs him with a paper knife.—Adv.

RACE CULTIVATION
Little Talks on Health and Hygiene By Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., LL. D., Commissioner of Health

To maintain the highest degree of physical health, it must be accompanied by a healthy brain. One that can work out its own problems in early intercourse with the rest of mankind, and co-operate for the preservation of its own species. This is a law of nature.

The Teutonic writers would have us believe that war is necessary to keep up the prosperity of a healthy nation, claiming that the whole scheme of nature is to live on itself. This, however, is a mistake. Cannibalism is rare and unnatural.

The self-preservation of species means the united effort of individuals to that end. When one begins to live on one's self, death follows.

To modify a common but true saying, dog cannot eat dog. War kills off the healthy and breeds death.

In these days of advanced health measures, children should be taught to take plenty of out-door physical exercise, but it should not be brutal in character. Their sports should tend to cultivate control, temperate thoughts and kindness.

As war brings pestilence the higher education should not teach the Teutonic interpretation of the laws of nature, but that it will lead to the self-destruction of the species.

Wars must cease as man overcomes the brute side of his nature, although he may be trained in the science of war without becoming brutal. In this twentieth century all questions between nations will have to be settled by international courts. The present war is counteracting the results of great health laws that have been enforced by spreading communicable disease and killing off the able bodied members of the belligerent nations.

To attain the highest degree of health, militarism must be crushed.
