ALL BUT 97 PROPERTIES IN PARK AREA BOUGHT

the selection of Mr. Kniesly as president and Mr. Todd as secretary, and secured the services of George E. Eiter as real estate expert.

The commission wasted no time in beginning business and on February 15, 1913, within two weeks after starting work, it had purchased two properties, those of J. F. Hutchison, 617 North street, and Anna C. Weaver, 528 Filbert street. Since then the work of taking over the properties and selling them has gone steadily on until the 440 have been taken over, the majority of which have been torn down, making a big hole in the Eighth ward.

On February 18, 1913, Spencer C. Gilbert was appointed a member of the commission to take the place of Arch. G. Kniesly, whose untimely death was much regretted because of his fine knowledge of real estate in Harrisburg, and his zeal in the work of securing the properties. Mr. Gilbert was elected president of the commission.

The area of the Capitol Park extension is 27 acres, which includes the cross streets vacated by the city, a concession cheerfully made by the city to add to the symmetry of the park. There will be sufficient streets traverse the park to accommodate traffic, so that the city has lost nothing by its concession. The area of the present Capitol Park is about 14 acres, so that the proposed extension is almost twice that of the present park.

Among the big purchases recently made by the commission was the Eagle works of the Hickock Manufacturing Company, covering a vast area at the lower side of the plot along the railroad. There still remain several other large properties to take over. The amount asked of the present Legislature to complete the work is $300,000, or fifteen per cent. more than the original appropriation. Since every member of the Legislature is interested in seeing the work completed it is expected that the sum asked for will be given.

It is interesting to note that of the many purchases of property made none were acquired by condemnation proceedings and every property owner, while demanding more for his property than the commission was willing to give, has expressed satisfaction over the sale. In fact the commission is composed of hard-headed business men, who have full information as to the values of the properties purchased and in no instance did they deviate from the value they decided to pay.

The State has put some of the buildings to good use, converting them into office buildings when the offices at the Capitol were crowded, and at present there are housed on the extension in good buildings, the State Live Stock and Sanitary Board, several divisions of the Public Service Commission, including the engineering division, a storage building for the State arsenal, the Department of the Distribution of Public Documents and the State Garage.

Jupiter Warmer Than the Earth

"The gigantic mass of Jupiter has a much larger warmth than that of the earth," says a scientific writer. "It is the result of the molecular movement produced by the compression of the strata and must be greater the more powerful the masses and hence the larger the pressure of the strata is. Jupiter surpasses the earth in point of mass 307 times, and for this reason the inner temperature or individual warmth of the planet is probably high enough to evaporate the water upon the surface quickly, so that water vapor forms the principal substance of the atmosphere of Jupiter. Water vapor is an excellent reflector and readily accounts for the bright radiation of light emitted by the planet."

How to Know Hemlock

The occasional reports in the papers of children or animals being poisoned by eating some unwholesome plant emphasizes the importance of being able to distinguish the dangerous ones. In the case of hemlock itself, the most poisonous of all this is not difficult. Notice first the dark green, much cut and divided leaves and the peculiar odor which botanists call fetid. But perhaps the most obvious thing and that which most easily distinguishes the hemlock from all other unwholesome plants is the stem. The smooth, polished, slightly furrowed and of green color, blotched and spotted with purple. No other member of the order has a stem in the last like it.—London Globe.

BANK CASHIER SHOT

Fatally Wounded in Apparent Attempt at Holdup and Robbery

Detroit, Mich., March 30.—Joseph R. Lorkowski, cashier of a branch of the Federal State bank, was shot and probably fatally wounded in what is believed to have been an attempt to rob the bank yesterday afternoon.

George Dimont, a foreigner, presented a Chicago bank book and demanded payment on it. Lorkowski's refusal precipitated a fight, in which the cashier reached across the counter and struck Dimont on the head, just as the latter drew his revolver and fired, the bullet entering Lorkowski's stomach. Lorkowski and Dimont, who was also injured, were taken to a hospital. Another foreigner who accompanied Dimont escaped.

Shea Surrenders to N. Y. Authorities

Toledo, O., March 30.—John J. (Mickey) Shea surrendered yesterday to the New York authorities on an extradition warrant obtained three weeks ago. Shea will be returned to face a charge brought against him for alleged activities in the "clairvoyant trust." Judge Killits sentenced Shea last week to two years in Moundsville prison and fined him $3,000 on a fraud charge.

His Own Medicine

A certain barrister named Jones who practiced in Lord Brougham's time was in the habit of commencing the examination of a witness with these words, "Now, sir, I am going to put a question to you and I don't care which way you answer it."

MRS. WILLIAM G. TANN DIES

Well-known Church and Society Worker Succumbs to Long Illness

Mrs. William G. Tann, only daughter of Mrs. Jennie Long, born in Clear Spring, Md., in 1866, and almost a life-long resident of Harrisburg, died Sunday afternoon at her home, 643 Briggs street, after an illness of three years. She is survived by her mother and her husband, to whom she was married in 1890. As a worker in the church and in secret order circles she was very well known and she continued her activities almost to the end of her life in spite of illness. In Bethel A. M. E. church, of which for many years she was a consistent member, she was president of the women's Bible class and she also had charge of several church clubs. She was a member of Grand Council of the I. D. O. F., No. 1 D. of T. and she was a charter member of Naomi Household of Ruth No. 4595, G. U. O. of O. F. These lodges will attend the funeral. She will be buried Thursday afternoon from Bethel A. M. E. church, the Rev. U. G. Leeper officiating, assisted by the Rev. C. C. Dunlap, of Philadelphia, and W. H. Marshall.

Clifford D. Holler

The funeral of Clifford DeWitt Holler, aged 25 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Holler, 333 Crescent street, who died Saturday afternoon at Connelville, will be held from the home of his parents to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services will be in charge of the Rev. Dr. Clayton Albert Smucker, pastor of Stevens Memorial M. E. church. Interment will be made in the Camp Hill cemetery.

Forest Fires Sweep Mountains

Shenandoah, Pa., March 30.—Forest fires broke out on the Broad and Locust Mountains early yesterday morning and, fanned by high winds, are spreading rapidly, destroying much valuable timber land and a large area of huckleberry bushes and other wild berry plants. The fire wardens are endeavoring to check the flames.

Bible Reading

Joseph S. Auerbach, author of "The Bible and Modern Life," asserts that "a generation has grown up without the benefit of Bible reading." "Take away the words of Bible memory and the phrases born of Bible reading and Bible inspiration from Lincoln's Gettysburg address," says Mr. Auerbach, after pointing out the value of this training: "four score," "brought forth," "hallow," "perish from the earth," etc.—and much of the solemn music has died out forever from this inspiring battle hymn of consecration to the republic."

DEATH IN CHASING BIRD

One Boy Dead and Brother Dying From Fall of Timber

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 30.—In quest of a sparrow which they had wounded with an air rifle, Joseph Petlewich, 14, and Edward Petlewich, 12, brothers, edged their way through a pile of heavy mine props and caused a rush of the timber which caused the instant death of Joseph and so seriously injured Edward that his recovery is not expected.

The accident occurred in the prop yard of the Stanton colliery of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Company. The youngsters had been shooting birds and finally winged a sparrow. The bird sought refuge in the props and the brothers were determined to claim their prey.

Joseph led the way, and as they moved through the spaces between the timbers, the heavy props suddenly rushed and Joseph was instantly squeezed to death. His brother has several bones broken besides internal injuries.

TWO QUEER CANDIDATES

Armless and Legless Bivals in Race for Office

Saginaw, Mich., March 30.—Arthur Clements, Justice of the Peace, is a candidate for re-election. Having lost both arms in a mine accident several years ago he was elected two years ago on the Republican ticket and has proved an efficient officer. With ingenious contrivances he is able to turn the leaves of law books and he writes by holding the pen with his teeth.

His opponent on the Democratic ticket is George R. Sonsmith, selected by his party that he might not have any advantage over the other. Mr. Sonsmith has no legs.

$7,500 FOR STRONGER CURRENT

It Killed Hotel Man Repairing Lines in Cellar

Pottsville, Pa., March 30.—Mrs. Elizabeth Long, of St. Clair, will receive $7,500 from St. Clair borough for the electrocution of her husband by wires belonging to the borough's electric light plant. This was the sum awarded to Mrs. Long by a jury, and Court yesterday refused a new trial.

Mrs. Long's husband was the proprietor of a hotel, and a year ago went into the basement of his place to repair the electric wires. An extraordinarily strong current was running over the wires, and as soon as Long touched them he was killed, and those who tried to pull him away were almost electrocuted also.

HOMER L. CASTLE NOT GUILTY

Prohibitionist and Associates Freed of Violating State Banking Laws

Philadelphia, March 30.—Bills of indictment upon which Homer L. Castle, H. F. Aspinwall and C. J. Massinger were convicted upon charges of violating the banking laws of the State, were submitted yesterday for verdicts of not guilty in the Quarter Sessions Court, as the men had been granted new trials by the Superior Court.

The men were convicted in 1912, after the failure of the Standard Title & Trust Company, a concern, which became defunct in 1907, before it opened its doors for business. It was conceded that investors lost $20,000. Though the company represented its assets as $1,500,000 when the receiver took charge, there was but $6,000 on hand.

The higher court ruled that the evidence produced was not sufficient to uphold the verdict, and as Assistant District Attorney Taulane had no further evidence to offer, he was compelled to submit the bills.

MOTORCYCLIST KILLED

Adjusts Mechanism While Speeding Along Road and Crashes Into Auto

Towanda, Pa., March 30.—W. G. Schrier, of Athens, of the law firm of which State Senator Charles E. Mills is the head, while autoing with Harry Moore, 28 years old, of Lestershire, N. Y., riding a motorcycle, fatally injuring the latter.

Schrier was injured by broken glass from the windshield through which Moore plunged to his death. Moore had his head down adjusting his machine as he rode at a thirty-mile clip, it is said, and did not see the auto until it was too late.

Negro Gunner Worst Hurt

Tamaqua, Pa., March 30.—William Johnson, colored, while intoxicated, ran amuck with a double-barrel shotgun here, threatening to kill Charles Giltner and family. Special Officer Markstell fired three shots at Johnson, two lodging in the fleshy part of his leg; then Johnson was arrested.

THIRD AND MARKET

LIFE'S CHANGES.

I had a million dollars once,
And I was happy too,
I gave much to the needy poor,
Just as the rich should do.

I showered on my loving wife
The things which gold will buy,
I gave to all my relatives
Much wealth without a sigh.

I traveled in far distant lands,
I did not have to toil,
I put some money into lots,
And some I put in oil.

I was a happy man, indeed,
And joy quite filled my cup
Until the old alarm clock had
To go and wake me up.

—Yonkers Statesman.

New Maid—Would you mind giving me a recommendation, ma'am?

Mistress—Why, you've only just come!

New Maid—Yes, ma'am, but you may not want to give me one when I'm leaving.—Pittsburgh Press.

Billy's "Comeback."

He was the son of a worthy manufacturer and had just returned from abroad. His father, a brusque, matter of fact man, surveyed his offspring, who was togged out in the latest London fashion, with distinct disapproval. "Young man," he blurted out, "you look like an idiot."

Just at that moment and before the youth had time to make a fitting reply a friend walked in.

"Why, hello, Billy! Got back, have you?" he exclaimed. "By George, how much you resemble your father!"

"So he's been telling me," said Billy quietly.—Boston Transcript.

One Way Only.

"I always pay as I go," remarked the careful individual.

"Lots of fellows do that who don't have enough to pay their way back," added the mere man.—Judge.

CLASSIC WAR POEMS

Selected by J. Howard Wert

No. 28. THE CHARGE AT WATERLOO

BY SIR WALTER SCOTT

Of the many grand things in prose and verse written of the great field of Waterloo, none is sublimer than the following from Scott.

On came the whirlwind—like the last
But fiercest sweep of tempest-blast:
On came the whirlwind—steel-gleams broke
Like lightning through the rolling smoke:
The war was waked anew,
Three hundred cannon-mouths roared loud,
And from their throats, with flash and cloud,
Their showers of iron threw.
Beneath their fire, in full career,
Rushed on the ponderous cuirassier,
The lancer couched his ruthless spear,
And hurrying as to hover near,
The cohort's eagles flew.

In one dark torrent, broad and strong,
The advancing onset rolled along,
Forth harbingered by fierce acclaim,
That from the shroud of smoke and flame,
Pealed mildly the imperial name.
But on the British heart were lost
The terrors of the charging host;
For not an eye the storm that viewed
Changed its proud glance of fortitude;
Nor was one forward footstep stayed,
As dropped the dying and the dead.

Fast as their ranks the thunder tare,
Past they renewed each serried square!
And on the wounded and the slain
Closed their diminished files again;

Till from the lines scarce spears'
lengths three,
Emerging from their smoke they see
Helmet and plume, and panoply—
Then waked their fire at once!
Each musketeer's revolving knell
As fast, as regularly fell,
As when they practice to display
Their discipline on festival day.
Then down went helm and lance,
Down reeling steeds and riders went,
Corselets were pierced and pennons
rent;
And, to augment the fray,
Wheeled full against their staggering
ranks,
The English horsemen's foaming ranks
Forced their resistless way.

Then to the musket-knell succeeds
The clash of swords, the neigh of steeds
As plies the smith his clanging trade,
Against the cuirass rang the blade;
And while amid their close array
The well-served cannon rent their way,
And while amid their scattered band
Raged the fierce riders' bloody brand,
Recoiled in common rout and fear
Lancer and guard and cuirassier,
Horsemen and foot—a mingled host—
Their leaders fallen, their standards lost.
