JUDGE GRAY DECIDES WAGE DISPUTE IN FAVOR OF MEN

Employers in and About Anthracite Mines Entitled to Advance of Ten Per Cent, Dating From Amended Agreement in Effect in 1912

By Associated Press. Hazleton, Pa., March 31.—That electricians, watchmen, fire bosses, stable bosses, engineers and other monthly men in and about the anthracite mines are entitled to a wage advance of ten per cent, dating from the amended agreement in effect between the operators and their employees since 1912 was decided today by former United States Judge George Gray, of Wilmington, Del., as umpire of the Anthracite Conciliation Board.

The decision sustains the grievance of the stable bosses, engineers and fire bosses of the Pancoast-Price Coal Company, of Throop, Lackawanna county, who got a five and a half per cent wage advance in 1912 when the miners received ten per cent, under the contract which went into effect that year.

Electricians and their helpers, watchmen and other monthly employees of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal Company, are given a ten per cent advance in a second decision in which the umpire rules out the contention of the company that the award of 1902 applied to those not working on a monthly basis.

As Mayor he inaugurated a system of sanitary improvements and gave this city its first sewers. For 54 years he served the railroad company, and after being retired on a pension, was chosen a ward alderman. His widow and 11 children survive.

SAYS RAILROADS DISTORT FACTS

Former Attorney General Bell Charges Misrepresentation In Full Crew Fight

MANY TRAINMEN AT THE HEARING

Scarlet Declares It Is Far More Important to Put $2,000,000 a Year Into Pockets of Wage Earners Than Into Railroads' Officers

The railroad trainmen's side of the full crew repealer was fully set forth yesterday afternoon at the hearing before the House Committee on Railroads, and at the close of the hearing, after a four-hour session, the trainmen had, through attorneys and members of their organizations, presented forcefully the reason why in their opinion, the full crew bill should not be repealed. The show of strength made was the largest seen here at a hearing in a number of years.

James Scarlet and John C. Bell, as attorneys, and William G. Lee, of Cleveland, president of the International Association of Railroad Trainmen; S. L. Johns, a Hanover business man, and Alexander P. Moore, publisher of the "Pittsburgh Leader," were the speakers.

After the hearing Henry J. Wilson, of Jefferson county, chairman of the Railroad Committee of the House, announced that the bill would be reported out of committee early next week.

About fifteen hundred railroad trainmen were present at the hearing. What Mr. Scarlet and Mr. Bell, as counsel, failed to bring out on the subject, Mr. Lee, representing 135,000 of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, with the direct endorsement of 40,000 railroad men in Pennsylvania, hammered home forcefully.

Mr. Lee and Scarlet were roundly applauded by the hundreds of railroad trainmen and their cohorts who had paraded to the Capitol headed by a well organized uniformed band of railroad trainmen musicians of Harrisburg.

Charges Roads With Misrepresentation Former Attorney Bell, who framed the bill which is the law that twenty-one of the railroad companies of this State and New Jersey desire to have repealed in order to save what the railroads claim amounts to two millions of dollars a year in Pennsylvania, was the first to address the crowd in the House of Representatives.

Mr. Bell vehemently declared that two-thirds of the railroad companies' propaganda, circulated by the newspapers and other agencies, was misleading.

Mr. Bell urged eternal watchfulness as the price of safety and humanity, above property rights, and pleaded for the railroad companies to square this latter promise.

While we have been talking here this afternoon twenty-five men or women have been killed by the railroads of the country," said the former Attorney General, looking toward the right side of the House of Representatives where about fifty of the leading railroad officials and their sons and representatives had seats.

Mr. Scarlet, upon opening his address, declared earnestly that the issue of the repeal of the full crew law was one of the most serious that the State and country has to deal with. Mr. Scarlet won State and national fame as the Commonwealth's attorney in the Capitol grant trial several years ago and when he told his hearers yesterday that he weighed the full crew question purely from the evidence and that he found that the reasons for the repeal of the full crew law amounted to nothing more than hearsay as far as the railroad's presentation of the case was concerned.

Coughs and Colds

DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY is especially valuable at this time. A tablespoonful in an equal amount of water before meals and on retiring stimulates the stomach to healthy action, thereby improving the digestion and assimilation of food, thus giving the system health and strength to throw off grip and pneumonia breeding germs. CALOMEL SALIVATES

Calomel makes you sick and you lose a day's work. Calomel is a nasty, dangerous chemical. To live your sluggish liver and bowels when constipated, headachy, bilious, just get a 10-cent box of harmless Cascarets. They work while you sleep, don't gripe, sicken or salivate.—Adv.

man emotionally raised his right fist and with a determined look on his face shouted: "It would be better for Pennsylvania if that two—millions of dollars was spent for shoes and stockings and dresses for the kiddies of as many worthy railroadmen."

Alexander P. Moore, editor of the Pittsburgh "Leader," interested against the repeal of the full crew law from the standpoint of a traveler on the railroads, gave a brief address in which he won several outbursts of applause from his hearers. He declared that if the railroads can indiscriminately fix the charges upon baggage that the people of the Commonwealth have at least the right to declare how many men it requires to run a train safely.

Mr. Johns, a cigar manufacturer, of Adams county, took about a half hour contending that the full crew law, as it stands on the statute books, is all right. P. L. T.

ARGUE AGAINST ELECTION BILLS BEFORE COMMITTEE

The Senate Committee on Elections last night heard a delegation of Philadelphians, representing the Committee of Seventy, a Reform organization, in opposition to the election bills now on their way through the Senate. The chief opposition of Thomas R. White, the spokesmen, was to the bill which prohibits nominations from being made by nomination papers after the primaries are held. Mr. White held that this bill is unjust inasmuch as it deprives the independent voter of an opportunity to put a candidate in the field. This, he maintained, was not fair and compelled the voter, if he wished to vote, to vote for a candidate he did not want to see elected by his party, or for the candidate of another party.

Senators McNichol and Patton, of Philadelphia, held that it was not fair to a candidate nominated at the primaries to put an independent candidate against him.

"The candidate makes a campaign," said Mr. Patton, "he spends his time and money; he goes to much trouble to see the voters, and is nominated. After the primaries there is put up in opposition to him by disgruntled people a candidate who not only did not run as a candidate for the nomination, but spent no money, took no trouble to secure support and I doubt very much if he ever goes to the polls. This man makes a fight for the regularly nominated candidate and the voter, who has some instances defeats him. He holds that that is not fair, and this bill is designed to prevent it."

Walter Wood opposed the bill and said that if it were known by the political leaders that unless they named good men there was a likelihood of being opposition candidates put up by nomination papers, the chances were that good men would be named, but this bill would prevent that. The committee took no action.

CHILD LABOR BILL REPORTED AND WILL PASS SENATE

Governor Brumbaugh's child labor bill was reported from the House Committee on Manufactures at last night's session of the House, the report being made by Chairman Cox who introduced the measure. Its passage in the upper branch is forecasted as the leaders in the Senate have declared for it.

The bill was amended in the committee in minor detail. The hours of labor are fixed in the bill at 9 per day and 51 per week. The continuation school proviso also is retained in the bill but manufacturers cannot be fined for not sending children under 16 years old where these schools are not provided by the district. Under one amendment, prosecutions may not be brought by any citizen. Police attendance officers or attaches of the Department of Labor & Industry only may bring complaints.

No female minor is permitted to engage in street trades and no boys under 14 years old, except to sell newspapers. In the latter case the limit is 12 years. Vacation employment also is confined to minors above 14 years old.

WILD HONEYSUCKLE ENTERED IN RACE FOR STATE FLOWER

Adding the wild honeysuckle to the list of suggestions for the official State flower, a bill was introduced in the House last evening by Mr. Dell, of Huntingdon. Mr. Brumbaugh, of Blair, entered the sweet pea and Mr. Dann, of Philadelphia, offered a bill to make the myrtle the State flower.

Among other bills introduced yesterday are: Mr. Myers, Washington—Increasing the salaries of County Commissioners in counties the size of Dauphin from $2,500 to $3,000.

Mr. McKay, Crawford—Making it unlawful for a state employe to practice law before the department in which he is employe.

Mr. Marvin, Tioga—Proposing civil service in State Departments.

GIVES RAMBO MORE LEeway

Bill Introduced By Swartz Permits Purchases in Open Market Representative Swartz, of Harrisburg, introduced into the House yesterday a bill amending the present public buildings grounds and request of Samuel R. Rambo, State Superintendent of Public Grounds and Buildings. The bill permits the board to purchase in open market supplies on the annual schedules for the Capitol in cases in which the contractors fail to comply with their contracts. If the price paid in the open market is higher the contractor must make good the difference. The board may also, under the bill, declare contracts void. Another amendment permits the chief clerks of the Senate and House to draw on supplies in stock the same as department heads on Capitol Hill. The $3,000 limit to appropriations for the general fund is wiped out, if the bill passes, and the General Assembly may appropriate any funds necessary for the purchase of supplies not on the annual schedule. These regulations do not apply to the distri-

HOW I DARKENED MY GRAY HAIR

Lady Gives Simple Home Recipe That She Used to Darken Her Gray Hair

For years I tried to restore my gray hair to its natural color with the prepared dyes and stains, but none of them gave satisfaction and they were all expensive. I finally ran onto a simple recipe which I mixed at home that gives wonderful results. I gave the recipe, which is as follows, to a number of my friends, and they are all delighted with it. To 7 oz. of water add a small box of Barbo Compound, 1 oz. of bay rum and 1/4 oz. of glycerine. Use every other day until the hair becomes the required shade, then every two weeks. It will not only darken the gray hair, but removes dandruff and scalp humors, and acts as a tonic to the hair. It is not sticky or greasy, does not rub off and does not color the scalp. You can prepare it at home at very little expense.—Adv.

ONE PERISHES AS 16 ESCAPE

Thrilling Rescues After the Upsetting of a River Dredge Chester, Pa., March 31.—One man was drowned and 16 others escaped by climbing upon a scow that happened to be moored near by, when a cable broke on the dredge Wymouth, upon which they were working in the Delaware river, off the lower end of this city yesterday, and the dredge toppled over and sank.

Milo Geneen, mate of the dredge, lost his life when he attempted to rescue some of his belongings from the cabin, being caught like a rat in a trap. William Kelley, of West Philadelphia, a Government inspector, and Luke Baecache, the steward, would have been drowned had not members of the crew thrown them ropes. Both were exhausted when they were pulled aboard the scow, where the others had taken refuge.

RUSSIA RAISES RATES ON IMPORTATIONS 10 PER CENT

Washington, March 31.—Tariff rates on most goods imported into Russia have been raised 10 per cent, while rates on certain cotton fabrics and cotton yarns have been increased from 30 to 50 per cent.

American Consul North Winship, at Petrograd, telegraphed yesterday that conventional rates on articles specified in the Russian commercial treaties with Austria-Hungary and Germany have been abolished, and the general rates of the Russian tariff consequently, are to be applied in the case of countries, including the United States, but the products of which formerly were entitled to the reduced rates.

SAVES CHILDREN FROM FIRE

Girl Heroine True to Her Trust in Perilous Emergency Lancaster, Pa., March 31.—While John Marks and wife were absent from home last evening, their children, Helen and Dorothy, 3 and 4 years old, set fire to a parlor table cover in playing with matches.

Fourteen-year-old Helen Hempfield, who was caring for the children in their parents' absence, discovered the fire after it had gained such headway that the little girls were nearly suffocated, and the risk of her own life carried them out. The house was badly damaged before the fire was extinguished.

SEES BRITAIN ENVELOPED BY DESTRUCTIVE MINE BELT

London, March 31.—A dispatch to the "Daily News" from Amsterdam says that Maximilian Harden in his latest lecture at Berlin on the course of the war said:

"Our chief enemy, England, has, it is true, not yet received any mortal wound, but the greatest danger is threatening it from our submarines. As soon as we have succeeded in extending the radius of action of the four bigger submarine types they can be used for the lavish laying of mines.

"Then, on a certain morning, the island kingdom will find itself surrounded by a new circle of mines and its mastery of the sea will be at an end.

"In everything Germany can have confidence. After eight months of tremendous struggle, it is true it is not standing as the conqueror, but its power is untouched.

50,000 GERMANS ATTACKED FRENCH IN ALSACE VALLEY

Paris, March 31.—The "Temps" prints the following dispatch from Geneva: "Fifty thousand German troops occupy the valley of Kaisersberg, the Muenster and Gebweiler, according to private information from Alsace to the Democrats. The French who have been guarding this part of the line had difficulty in resisting the large forces arrayed against them.

"It was February 18 when the Germans began their great offensive in Alsace. The Alpine chassours yielded ground only inch by inch, fighting like lions and inflicting heavy losses on the Germans. When French reinforcements arrived they succeeded in repulsing the Germans, whose casualties in these engagements are said to have been 8,000 killed. The hospitals were filled with wounded. The check to their offensive seems to have somewhat discouraged the German soldiers."

BETTING IS EVEN ON WAR ENDING BY SEPTEMBER 1

London, March 31.—Betting in London on the probable duration of the war is quoted at even money that the European conflict will end by September 1. The odds at Lloyds are 10 to 1 on peace before December 1.

Other betting odds quoted are that the war will end: Before May 1, 1915—Three to one against. Before June 1, 1915—Two to one against. Before March 1, 1916—Fifteen to one on.

It is taken to indicate a more optimistic feeling than anything said by ministers and other important authorities would seem to justify, though all of these are very careful not to commit themselves to any definite.

FIGHT TO AVOID MINE GULP

Many Big Interests in Shenandoah Rest on Coal Pillars Pottsville, Pa., March 31.—Seven lawyers and mining engineers from many different parts of the State took part in a case heard before Judge Brumm yesterday, called to prevent the colliery company from removing a number of pillars in the main mouth vein, which may have the effect of dropping a million dollars' worth of Shenandoah real estate into the bowels of the earth.

The Home Brewing Company, whose brewery would be affected, is pushing the suit; but other property owners are interested, and special counsel for Bishop Prendergast, with attorneys for the plaintiffs, as Catholic churches may be affected by the mining.

An injunction has been held over the coal company for 15 years, preventing the removal of the pillars; but as there is $500,000 in coal locked up in these barriers, a dissolving of the injunction is sought.

Owing to raising of technical points by counsel for the brewery, an adjournment was necessary until Judge Brumm can examine the 15-year-old record of the case.

Nature undoubtedly intended Florida as the world's greatest source of supply for oranges and grapefruit. Grown here they reach the greatest perfection. The soil of the citrus fruit section of Florida produces orange and grapefruit trees of unusual vigor. Florida showers and sunshine supply just the elements needed to ripen into rich, spicy, juicy and sweet oranges and grapefruit the product of these fine trees. They gather sweetness as they ripen.

FLORIDA'S SOIL AND CLIMATE GIVE TO HER ORANGES AND GRAPEFRUIT SURPASSING QUALITY

Realizing that the producers' prosperity depends finally upon the consumers' satisfaction, progressive orange and grapefruit growers of Florida have formed the Florida Citrus Exchange, a co-operative, non-profit-making association for mutual protection and benefit.

HASSLER WAIVES A HEARING

Myerstown Trust Company Official Still Insists He Did Not Profit by the Shortage Lebanon, Pa., March 31.—Amos Hassler, treasurer of the Myerstown Trust Company, who on Saturday last confessed to a $8,370 shortage in his accounts, yesterday retained City Solicitor Walter C. Graeff as counsel and notice was given that a hearing before Alderman O. B. Siegrist, of this city, would be waived.

In view of Hassler's admissions as to falsification of the bank's accounts, it is expected he will not wait until the regular June criminal sessions for a disposition of his case, but take advantage of the State law which permits of an accused entering a plea of guilty at any time.

Hassler has refused to see all callers, except his attorney and H. P. Kohl, representing the American Surety Company, of New York, which bonded him for $15,000 as treasurer. To both callers Hassler is declared to have persisted in the original statement that he did not take a penny of the missing funds of the bank. He insists that he had continued to make false entries in the books for the sole purpose of hiding the growing defaults during a period of severe years.

When informed that his explanation of the shortage was not accepted as the truth, Hassler responded that it was the fear of such reception of his report on the first shortage that caused him to decide to hide it from the board of directors. It has been disclosed there were no deficits during the last year.

The bank directors, in an official statement, declared there had been no withdrawal of accounts yesterday, but that one individual made a deposit of $9,000.
