spectators, including Cuban government officials, wealthy American sportsmen and American tourists, must watch the fight from unsheltered positions.

Veteran sports in Havana to-day are marveling at the great changes in the conduct of prize fighting since the days of the early championship contests. Everything is now planned in advance and the program moves as smoothly as in any modern business enterprise. The fighters train in fine quarters, each with a large staff of helpers, and admiring crowds watch them work at so much per head. The crude and rigorous regime of former days has been abandoned in favor of an up-to-date and pleasant diet.

the most expensive hotel in Havana, where he has a large suite of rooms, with windows and a balcony overlooking a broad boulevard. There is a striking view of the ocean. Willard eats his meals in a palm garden among the other guests. His average dinner includes soup, chicken, salad, preserved fruits, cake and distilled water.

Johnson lives a little further out of Havana on the same shore road. He has rented a large private apartment, breezy and with a good view, beautifully furnished and with service supplied. His meals are prepared by the Cuban cook, except when the champion desires to do this himself. Johnson takes great pride in his culinary ability and claims to be almost as good a chef as he is a pugilist. Johnson's average bill of fare for breakfast, for example, is as follows: Fruit, cereal, bacon and eggs, chops, biscuits, jam and bottled water.

His Suspicious Movements In Connection With Touraine Fire Subject of Comment

POLICE BRING OUT SOME NEW FACTS

But Nevertheless the Prisoner Still Remains Something of a Mystery and Some of His Friends Consider Charges Against Him Unfounded

By Associated Press.

Paris, April 2, 5.10 A. M.-Al though the police investigation of the history of Raymond Swoboda, charged with being responsible for the fire aboard the steamer La Touraine, has brought out additional facts regarding him, he remains something of a mystery. Several of his friends profess to consider the charges against him entirely unfounded.

unfounded.

M. Trescat, a stock broker who knew Swoboda well, says he can see no possible motive for the act of which he is accused. After hostilities began and business suspended on the Bourse, according to Trescat, Swoboda sought some other occupation. One of the plans he considered was to go to the United States and obtain samples of military clothing, equipment and tools which the Ministry of War would be likely to purchase. Trescat asserted Swoboda finally decided upon this venture. He visited many factories in America, giving as a reference, Broker Morrison, who is one of the most widely known general merchants in Paris. Upon the strength of this reference, he obtained the samples he sought, according to Trescat.

Disguised as a Mason

This incident, however, according to the recitals of the people of Viro-flay made a strong impression upon Swoboda's neighbors and they decided to watch him. One night he was seen to go to the house of a man named Prusst. Shortly after the two men made their way cautiously in the direction of the local defense works, looking around meanwhile to see if they were being observed. It was known that Prusset was an Austrian born in Vienna.

Shorts services were lield at his late home on South Front street at 1.30 o'clock. At 2 o'clock services were to do the first Reformed church, the Rev. Charles A. Huyetta, the pastor, officiating with the Rev. Dr. E. N. Kremer, of Harrisburg. Burial took lace in Baldwin cemetery.

The pallbearers were James L. Dickinson, R. M. Frey, John P. Croll, George W. Weirich.

Some time later Swoboda, disguised some time later Swooda, disguised as a mason, was seen coming from the defenses. The police were informed of this, but for some reason they took no action. Weeks passed and finally on January 15 they arrested Prusst and sent him to a concentration camp. By this time Swoboda had left Viroffay.

Probing Causes of the Fire
Havre, April 2, 5.40 A. M.—Expert cliemists who are investigating the causes of the fire aboard the steamer La Touraine, now express the belief that it was not the result of an explosion but originated in three large cases
