CHILDREN DECLINE IN HEALTH LONG BEFORE SCHOOL AGE

Dr. David Forsyth, English Medical Inspector, Says There Is Wide-spread Deterioration During First Four or Five Years of Life

Washington, D. C., April 2.—That special medical attention should be given to children in the four or five early years before school begins is asserted by Dr. David Forsyth, an English physician, whose views are published in a bulletin just issued by the United States Bureau of Education. Dr. Forsyth declares that medical inspection of elementary school children points to a wide-spread physical deterioration during the first four or five years of life, which leaves the majority of children with serious but preventable defects.

"Little or nothing has been done as yet by way of solution," says Dr. Forsyth. "Preventive measures limited to the first years are unlikely to have much influence in warding off later troubles. A gap, at present unbridged, stretches from the first year to the fifth, when the school medical inspection begins."

As a suggested remedy Dr. Forsyth describes a plan adopted in the city of Westminster, England. In January, 1912, a medical inspection center was opened for children of school age in the north half of the city. Here a staff of health visitors is maintained, to get into touch at once with every family where a child is newly born. Through this staff every child in the district is kept under medical supervision from the time of its birth until the end of its fifth year, the purpose being to hand the child over sound and healthy, to the school authorities.

Of 374 children examined during the first year of the center, 131 were under 1 year of age, 77 under 2 years, 83, 50 and 33 under 3, 4 and 5 years, respectively. The medical record cards showed a rapid rise in the tide of disease with each year of life. It was found that while most children in the first year are healthy, only a small minority come through to the fifth year without at least one physical defect of some kind.

Dr. Forsyth concludes: "Large numbers of children, healthy in all respects at birth, become within five years the physically defective entrants whom the education authority is required, at no small cost, to restore, so far as possible, to their original state of health. Yet most of these cases are preventable, or, if taken in time, can be remedied more speedily, and therefore more cheaply, than if left until school age, by which time not a few will have received permanent damage—physical or mental. The problem of the defective child largely resolves itself into the problem of the under-school age child, and seems hardly likely to be solved by anything short of a general plan insuring to all children regular medical supervision from birth to school age. And this, to be fully successful, must run side by side with educational measures for instructing the mothers themselves who, from ignorance far more than from willful neglect or even from indigence, are unable to safeguard their children's health."

WHISKEY BY SIPHON ROUTE

Supply for the Prisoners in an Indiana Jail

Frankfort, Ind., April 2.—For some time Sheriff Miller was aware that the prisoners in the county jail were being supplied with liquor, but in the manner in which it was smuggled in to the prisoners could not be detected.

Sheriff Miller learned how the liquor was obtained. On the west side of the jail there is a window near the ground and the person on the outside would pass a piece of rubber tubing through the bars to the prisoners. They would put the end into some sort of a receptacle and the person on the outside would put the other end into the bottle of liquor and this would make a siphon, which would quickly drain the bottle and give the prisoners a supply of liquor.

The window has been closed up with sheet iron.

STRANGER SAVES HER HOME

$2,500 Enables Mrs. Schmidt to Keep $5,000 Place, Sold for $386

New York, April 2.—Just as she was about to be put out of her home at 439 Hoboken avenue, Jersey City, because it had been sold to satisfy a $200 claim against her, Mrs. Mary Schmidt found a friend. Without her knowledge, William T. Bloom, a private detective of Hoboken, called on Mrs. Schmidt's lawyer and said he would let her have $2,500 in cash. The offer was accepted, although Bloom was an entire stranger to Mrs. Schmidt. A mortgage was given to secure the loan.

Mrs. Schmidt put her life's savings of $5,000 into the place. It was sold by Sheriff Kinkead for $586 to satisfy the $200 claim. Dr. Thomas Wilkerson, a dentist, who bought the property from Robert Smith, the man who bought it in at the sale, was none too pleased when he learned that he would not be able to take title to the premises.

HORSES FALL INTO CAVE

Farmer's Team Disappears While Plowing Land That Had Been Filled Years

Lights, Pa., April 2.—While G. Edwin Lichtenwalner was plowing yesterday he was amazed to see his horses disappear. The animals had trod on ground which had been safely plowed over for years, but which this time suddenly gave way.

Lichtenwalner investigated and found his horses twelve feet underground in a cavern-like space. One of the animals was so badly injured that it died, but the other was taken out of the cave at 9 o'clock in the morning following the day of the accident. The cause for the sudden appearance of this "bubble" just underneath the surface of the ground is being studied by local geologists.

PLEAD FOR STEPPARENT

Children Win Clemency for Her, but Not for Natural Father

Towanda, Pa., April 2.—Twice convicted of involuntary manslaughter in causing the death of his 14-year-old son through neglect and lack of proper food, Michael Muleahy, a rich farmer, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Maxwell. He goes to the penitentiary for 12 to 18 months and is fined $10 and costs.

Mrs. Mary Muleahy was also sentenced, but the pleading of the young stepdaughter and other children, who told what a good mother she was to them, caused the Judge to withdraw sentence and continue her case. The 17-year-old stepdaughter stood before the bar and tearfully pleaded for "Mamma." Three other stepchildren stood near and sobbed, but not a word was said for their father.

Only Real War Pictures

The Majestic will have all next week with daily matinee the Philadelphia Evening Ledger War Pictures now being shown for the fourth straight week at the Forrest Theatre, Philadelphia. These are the latest pictures of the war, pictures made in Germany, East Poland, West Poland and France. The two films showing the Kaiser at the front are remarkable and have been presented at the Smithsonian Institute twice. General Von Hindenburg, a man who retired from military life some years ago, and who was called to the colors at the outbreak of the war, has become the national hero of Germany because of his masterful operations, on the west of Germany against the Russians. In one reel there are three good motion pictures of Von Hindenburg made less than a month ago. The Kaiser, the uppermost figure from a German standpoint, has been pictured frequently, but his wife, the Empress of Germany, has not figured in the war pictures up to now. The finish of the picture which will be seen in this city, consists of four hundred feet of film showing the Kaiserin at work with the Red Cross nurses fifty miles back of the firing line, the point where the wounded are being brought from the front to the hospitals.—Adv.

At the Orpheum

One of the distinct hits supporting Henrietta Crossman at the Orpheum this week, is the rattling surprise "turn" offered by Milo! It wouldn't do to omit the question mark, for that's as important as the name and depends the mystery. The surprises that this act takes on are so distinctly original and clever that it would rob the act of its full pleasure to disclose them here. Just the same Milo! is scoring one of the biggest hits of the bill. This is only one of the great novelties supporting the splendid act that Miss Crossman and her company are presenting.

Two others, and of about the same importance, are Swor and Mack, the black face comedians, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGreevy, the "rube" artists. It has actually been admitted by Orpheum patrons this week that they shed tears at two Orpheum acts. Real sympathetic tears at Henrietta Crossman's act, and tears of laughter at Swor and Mack, who follow immediately after her drama. The Orpheum's current bill is a real metropolitan array of talent.—Adv.

At the Colonial

Far and away the most spectacular act the "Busy Corner" has seen is the

"Black and White Review," appearing there as the bright particular attraction of the clever show that holds forth during the last half of the week. It is a pretentious comedy, singing and talking act, calling in elaborate scenery and costumes and the efforts of eight players. Henry and Murphy are two fifty girls who present something original in the way of a song and patter skit; Porter and Sullivan are clever variety artists and the Pumpkin Trio, are minstrel thrillers of the first water. Interesting "movies" are a part of the program also.—Adv.

The Regent

Robert Warwick will appear in "Alias Jimmy Valentine" to-day, this afternoon and night only at the Regent. This production has been the talk of everywhere it has been shown. The movie goes know that on Friday nights our shows are great and are never disappointed. If you miss this show you are missing something that will be the talk of Harrisburg. No expenses have been spared to make this production a success. Saturday only, "The Idler" by C. Hadden Chambers, featuring Charles Richman.

Monday—The greatest show that ever came to Harrisburg, "The Spoilers," featuring William Farnum, thrilling, powerful and unique. A vivid masterpiece fresh from a fortnight run on Broadway, New York City, and an eight weeks' record-breaking engagement at the Studibaker Theatre in Chicago and Chestnut Street Opera House in Philadelphia. This is a most wonderful story ever filmed.—Adv.

"TIPPERARY" AT PHOTOPLAY TO-DAY

Nothing pleases the Photoplay better than to give its patrons a genuine treat in the way of the latest and best in motion pictures. For the attraction to-day the management will show the stirring motion picture feature of three reels, "It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary," based on this popular song:

It's a long way to Tipperary; it's a long way to go. It's a long way to Tipperary, to the sweetest girl I know; Good-bye Piccadilly, farewell Leicester Square; It's a long, long way to Tipperary, but my heart's right there.

During the showing of this feature the spectator is shown Molly Malloy, who is the sweetest girl to Patrick Rooney and Michael Maloney standing at the window of her father's little cottage on the banks of the River Suir when snapper Kelley comes running into the cottage crying, "War! War! War!" and stating that Germany has declared war on England, France and Russia and recruits for the army of England is wanted at once. Patrick and Michael both join the army of Great Britain. See Hotel Hanson in London the hour when under the law the lights should be dimmed. See on the firing line where for days the allies had been pushing towards the banks of the River Aisne where a decisive conflict with the combined Teutons and Austrians was certain to occur. See the Tipperary Guards in action in the blackness of the night on the battlefield of the Aisne. The management has also secured A. Bloom, Harrisburg's boy soprano, to sing this popular song while the pictures are being shown.—Adv.

Old Folks' Concert

The east in Old Folks' Concert to be given in the Technical High school auditorium, under the auspices of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, includes many of leading singers in the city. The program is so clever that there will not be a dull minute from start to finish. The stage effects, costumes, music and everything necessary for a successful and artistic rendition have received the most careful attention. Those producing the concert are not depending on the cause to draw a big crowd but are determined that it shall excel from the standpoint of merit.—Adv.

"The Life of Our Saviour" at the Victoria To-day

A very timely offering is presented to-day at the Victoria in a religious drama entitled "The Life of Our Saviour," in seven reels. A special program of sacred music will be played on our wonderful $25,000 Hope-Jones Unit Pipe Organ Orchestra. Handel's masterpieces will be rendered and the final selection at each performance will be the famous "Hallelujah Chorus" from "The Messiah." Each scene is artistically arranged and the ensemble of colors skillfully blended, giving the effect of a masterpiece of old-world painting in which the characters are made to live. Every picture is hand colored. This alone is something which raises this film above the average. In addition the back grounds are absolutely true, the scenes have been taken for the greater part in the Holy Lands, amid surrounding which lend an authentic air to the settings. The back grounds were selected by a man who knew how to distinguish beauty from the ordinary scenery and every scene is in itself beautiful. The desert scenes are a rare treat for they carry true atmosphere of Egypt. The proper spirit of seriousness is shown by the actors throughout, thus producing a thoroughly pleasing presentation of the ever-sacred subject.—Adv.

A Short Memory

Uncle Jed was a trifle slack about quitting the bottom when the levee broke and had to take to a tree. Morning came and there was sixty feet of Mississippi flood water between him and shore. The preacher happened along on the high ground and saw Jed, but there wasn't any boat. Moreover, Jed's suspicion that there were alligators about was well founded. The preacher besought Jed to swim, but in vain. Finally he called out: "Jed, have faith. Remember how Jonah was cared for in the whale and saved after three days." Jed spoke earnestly.

Breaks Leg While Asleep

Sharon, Pa., April 2.—Yeggmans early yesterday blew the safe of the postoffice at Jamestown and stole $300 in cash and several hundred dollars' worth of stamps. The robbers also broke into the Sanford drug store and stole $50 in cash. The barber shop of John Moore, adjoining the postoffice, also was broken into and a small amount of money taken.

Art Criticism

"This artist," remarked the teacher at the conclusion of the drawing lesson, "painted many other beautiful pictures, which were hung in the galleries of Paris. Now I want you little boys and girls to write me a composition about this great painter."

Celebrated Dwarfs

Early in the eighteenth century a brother and sister attracted great attention for smallness of stature. They were of Polish birth and were people of great accomplishments and elegant manners. When the brother, Count Berowlaski, was one year old he measured fourteen inches in height. Five years after he had gained but three inches, but at the age of twenty the measurement was six inches more, and then the growth ceased. The sister, Anastash, seven years younger, could stand under her brother's arm. The count lived over ninety years.

Art Criticism

"This artist," remarked the teacher at the conclusion of the drawing lesson, "painted many other beautiful pictures, which were hung in the galleries of Paris. Now I want you little boys and girls to write me a composition about this great painter."

One of said little boys wrote, "The artist painted many beautiful pictures, for which he was hung on the gallows in Paris."—Chicago Herald.

COPS TO SING TO CROOKS

Pittsburgh's Lawless Will Have Nightly Religious Concerts

Pittsburgh, April 2.—After exhaustive experiments, Superintendent of Police W. Noble Matthews has declared that music will "convert the crook and calm jags." So imbued is he with the idea that the police quartet which sang in the tabernacle during the revival services conducted here by Billy Sunday will discourse music nightly in the central station in an effort to better the lives of the wayward ones who land there.

Whenever professional crooks are in the cells the singers are to give pathetic songs and hymns. For the drunkards, ragtime is the selection, as it never fails to bring them into good humor. Recently the quartet sang "Where Is My Wandering Boy To-night?" and at the end three professional pickpockets were found weeping in their cells.

Superintendent Matthews says nearly every prisoner that gets into the station is affected during the singing, and that he knows several who are now leading better lives as a result of their better natures being touched by the music.

STUDENTS HIKE TO NEW YORK

Band of 50 From Northeast High School on Walking Trip

Philadelphia, April 2.—An unusual way of spending the Easter holidays was adopted by a body of about fifty students from the Northeast High school, when they started out yesterday afternoon to hike it to New York. They reached Trenton late last evening, where they put up for the night, and continued the journey to-day and will bunk wherever nightfall finds them. They expect to reach their destination early to-morrow afternoon and will return in time for the opening of classes next week.

CHURCH'S SESQUICENTENNIAL

Maytown Lutherans Will Celebrate, Beginning Next Sunday

Marietta, April 2.—Beginning Sunday, April 4, the one hundredth and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Lutheran church at Maytown will be celebrated. This is one of the oldest congregations in the State. A new pipe organ has been installed by Mrs. Susan Braunt as a memorial.

The pastor, the Rev. Joseph D. Krout, will be assisted by a number of prominent clergymen from various sections and former pastors will be included in the number. The services will continue for one week, concluding with an organ recital and concert.

EASTER EGG 53 YEARS OLD

Marietta, April 2.—J. J. Carroll, the veteran mail carrier, has an Easter egg that is fifty-three years old to-day. April 2, 1862, the egg, a large one of the goose variety, was boiled by his mother, and the Rev. J. M. Wheeler, late of this place, who was at that time stationed in town as pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, inscribed it with the date, 1862, an American flag, eagle and cannon, symbolic of the war then raging.

The egg is in fairly good condition to-day. Mr. Carroll has the egg on exhibition in his cigar store window.
